"Connie" Hovers Off Coast

British Envoy Declares Ike Dispelled Warmonger Idea

Great Geneva Contribution, Governors Told

CHICAGO, Aug. 10 (AP)—Britain's ambassador told the nation's governors tonight that President Eisenhower laid to rest at the Geneva Big Four conference "the ghost of the ideas that Americans are a pack of warmongers."

This, Sir Roger Makins said, was "the great American contribution" at the recent summit meeting.

The ambassador was guest and speaker at a formal state dinner of the governors.

Shunting aside politics for official business at their annual conference today, the governors received from Eisenhower a renewed pledge of "wholehearted readiness to work with you" in solving massive highway and school problems.

Highways were the special concern of the governors today. And a Democrat and a Republican spoke out for a special session of Congress to act on highway legislation it failed to shove through the regular session just ended.

As the first official business of their 47th conference, the chief executives of the states went into a "square-table" discussion of the huge and growing highway problem.

Like Congress, they settled for the time being on no one method of financing. Some called for a compromise, some repeated the traditional demand of the states for the federal government to give up gasoline taxes and let them have this source of revenue for road construction.

In corridors and news conferences, outside the Edgewater Beach Hotel ballroom where governors sat around a hollow-square table and debated the highway issue, some political talk and maneuvering still rolled on.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams, Michigan Democrat, said the GOP probably will compel Eisenhower to run again in 1956 although, "He may die before the campaign starts."

Told that this sounded like a "cold-blooded statement," the 44-year-old Williams added that Adlai E. Stevenson, the 1952 Democratic candidate for president who is expected to try again next year, "or any of us may die before that time."

Williams' news conference contention that Eisenhower is "an old man" at 64 drew prompt counterblasts from two Republican colleagues.

Gov. Arthur B. Langlie of Washington said it sounded as if Williams was "slandering some of the finest workers and finest minds of the country."

Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin of Maryland added that:

"So far as the President is concerned, age is not a matter of years but a matter of spirit. The President's spirit is as young, inspiring and stimulating as it was years ago when he first began to serve his country."

Navy Base Strike Set

SINGAPORE, Aug. 10 (AP)— Ten thousand workers in Britain's big Singapore naval base notified the admiralty today they will strike on Aug. 25.

Top U.S. General, Rhee To Discuss Crisis In Korea

SEOUL, Thursday, Aug. 11 (AP)—Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer is expected to meet President Syngman Rhee today, presumably on the crisis rising from South Korean demands that Red truce teams leave by Saturday.

The Far East commander is expected to underscore the words of Secretary of State Dulles. Dulles appealed to South Korea at a Washington news conference to avoid violence. He said the United States will meet its obligation under the armistice to protect the teams.

Rhee himself urged his countrymen to use no violence. But 300 demonstrators at the nearby port of Inchon ignored him. They were turned back by U.S. soldiers with tear gas and fire hoses when they tried to storm the truce teams compound on Wolmi Island.

A series of such demonstrations since last Saturday has injured 22 U.S. soldiers, none seriously, and 80 Koreans.

The Neutral Nations Supervisory Commission, composed of Swiss, Swedish and Communist Czech and Pole members, met for six hours yesterday at the truce towns of Panmunjom.

A spokesman said the South Korean ultimatum may be answered Saturday.

The Military Armistice Commission scheduled a meeting at Panmunjom for tomorrow. It was called by the Communists, who are expected to insist that the truce inspection teams be protected.

The North Korean radio in a broadcast today said the Communist delegation sent the commission a letter Wednesday demanding that "appropriate measures" be taken to protect the truce inspectors.

Motorists Line Up To Pay Traffic Fines, Avoid Jail

DALLAS, Aug. 10 (AP) — Ninety delinquent traffic violators were jailed today. Others, anxious to stay out of jail, dug into piggy banks or waited in long lines to pay old traffic tickets.

It was the payoff of a crackdown aimed at clearing up a backlog of 4,000 delinquent traffic fines. The drive began Monday and already 1,650 delinquent fines have been collected.

Ten warrant officers prowled the city during the night. One man arrested, a 31-year-old contractor, owes $963 in delinquent traffic fines. He posted bond—and gave up his driver's license.

About 1 a.m. two officers knocked on one door and a man answered.

"I knew you was coming" said the sleepy citizen. He jimmied open a child's piggy bank and shelled out $35 he owed on old traffic tickets.

A local businessman called from California to ask for two more days in which to get back to Dallas and pay up. A Dallas woman visiting in St. Louis telephoned Sgt. C. O. Cauley, in charge of serving warrants, and arranged to send a check.

In addition to the fine, whatever it is, those paying up after the deadline are socked a $25 "late" fee.

Uranium Resources Reported Abundant

GENEVA, Aug. 10 (AP)—A leading United States authority told the 72-nation atoms-for-peace conference today "the nuclear power era will have abundant fuel resources."

Jesse C. Johnson, director of the division of raw materials for the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission, said the world's resources in nuclear fuels exceeded those of all other types.

"There are adequate resources of uranium and thorium for a long-range expanding world power program," he said.

On the basis of present geological evidence, Johnson added, producing nations of the West alone are estimated to have between one and two million tons of uranium that can be produced at a moderate cost. There are several million tons more available at a higher production cost, he said.

"Uranium can no longer be considered a rare metal," Johnson said. "There are extensive deposits throughout the world and there are processes for extracting the uranium economically.

"Uranium production already developed is sufficient for a major nuclear power program of world-wide extent. Additional production can be obtained when needed."

A British scientist predicted that by the year 2000 it may be possible to tap the equivalent of a million tons of coal from a single ton of uranium.

The scientist, Sir John Cockroft, said this may be achieved through full development of "breeding" of atomic fuel.

A "breeder" reaction is one in which at least as much fissionable material is created as is consumed in keeping the reactor going. Britain now is experimenting with such a reactor, known as the Zephyr.

A belief that the fusion type of energy used in the hydrogen bomb will be harnessed for peaceful uses within a generation was expressed by another British scientist, Sir George Thomson.

Two Of 4-Man Gang Arrested In Bank Holdup

NEW YORK, Aug. 10 (AP) — Two hoodlums were seized by the FBI today as members of a four-man gang that staged a $305,000 bank holdup here April 6—the largest cash bank robbery in history.

For the first time, Asst. U. S. Atty. Paul Windels Jr., confirmed police suspicion the smoothly executed stickup of a Chase Manhattan branch bank was in part an inside job.

Windels said a bank employe helped the bandits. He did not point the finger at anyone specifically, although the wife of one of the arrested men worked at the bank at the time.

Material Witness Held

The FBI issued warrants for two other men, including a murderer who was a suspect from the start. Both these fugitives were described as armed and dangerous.

Also taken into custody as the case apparently broke wide open was a man described as a material witness.

Those arrested and charged with violating the National Bank Robbery Act were James McCoo, 36, and Frank Cocchiaro, 34. They live in Astoria, Queens, not far from the Woodside, Queens, holdup scene. The area is across the East River and about five miles from midtown Manhattan.

U. S. Commissioner Edward E. Fay held McCoo without bond. The government said he took part in the holdup. He has a record of nine prior arrests.

Wife Worked As Teller

Cocchiaro was held in $50,000 bail, after Windels said he aided and abetted the holdup. He has a record as a thief.

The FBI said Cocchiaro's wife, Mildred, was a teller at work in the Chase Manhattan branch when it was robbed. She since has resigned.

The material witness is Vincent W. Kritil, 28, of Woodside. He was held in $40,000 bond after Windels said he was in danger of assassination by the bandits still at large.

18 Reported Dead In Blast At Ohio Town

ASHTABULA, Ohio, Aug. 10 (AP)—Grimy-faced firemen were hauling more bodies from the wreckage of six buildings torn by an explosion and fire tonight at nearby Andover, and there were reports the death toll might reach 18 persons.

At a state highway patrol station in Warren, Ohio, Patrolman Leroy Peach said he had a radio report from the scene that there were at least 12 dead and 15 injured.

An Associated Press photographer, Julian Wilson, said he saw six bodies taken from the debris and that a firemen told him 12 other bodies had been removed previously.

Aided by searchlights and emergency generators, firemen and volunteer rescuers were continuing to search the ruins.

One of the dead was a woman, as yet unidentified, whose body was taken to Brown Memorial Hospital in Coneaut. Other bodies were taken to a small funeral home in Andover, but communications in the village of 1,100 were knocked out, and the place could not be reached by phone.

Reports varied. A sheriff's deputy said he knew of only one dead. An earlier estimate had placed the toll at 30.

Wilson said a fireman told him the blast was caused by gas which had accumulated in one of the six buildings which were demolished, a two-story frame structure housing the Gateway restaurant and an Isaly's store, part of a national dairy chain.

Wilson described the scene as one of utter chaos. Parts of the buildings had been blown into the street and over automobiles, and the entire area was littered, he said.

Just before the explosion, the tiny village was swept by a fierce storm which cut off communications and electrical power.

Commerce Chief Denies Probers Access To Files

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP) — Secretary of Commerce Weeks today blocked a House committee from digging into records and files of his Business Advisory Council.

Weeks told Chairman Celler (D-NY) of the House Antimonopoly subcommittee that disclosure of files on individual business statistics and forecasts "is made a crime by law."

Also, Walter S. White, executive director of the BAC, told Celler that any action on his part to deliver files in custody of the department would violate the law and "subject me to punishment."

White made his reply to Celler personally. He delivered Weeks' in the form of a letter addressed to Celler.

Celler wants to study the records as part of the subcommittee's investigation into the activities of WOC men—businessmen who serve the government without compensation in an advisory capacity while drawing their regular pay from their own firms. WOC is short for without compensation.

Celler says one aim of his investigation is to determine whether members of the Business Advisory Council unduly influence government policy.

The council is made up of about 165 business executives, advising Weeks on economic and other business matters.

Celler said he would consult with other members of his committee for a decision on whether to proceed against Weeks and White on grounds they were showing contempt of Congress.

MOSCOW, Aug. 10 (AP)—The Communist party organ Pravda today announced discovery of "rich new oil deposits" on the left bank of the Volga near Kuibyshev.

1,323 Polio Cases In New England

BOSTON, Aug. 10 (AP)—New England's polio outbreak continued to spread today as the six-state total mounted to 1,323 cases. Only 249 were listed in the area on this date a year ago.

Massachusetts, where 112 new cases were reported today as against 88 yesterday, accounts for 1,038 of the New England cases, and hard-hit Boston has had 370, almost one-third of the state's 1955 total.

Thirty-one Salk vaccine-inoculated youngsters have been stricken in New England this year.

President Signs Atom Measure

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP)—Legislation designed to end what some Democrats called "one-man rule" of the Atomic Energy Commission was signed reluctantly today by President Eisenhower, who called it "unncessary."

He held that existing law already bars any one-man rule, but said he was signing because of another provision of the bill, which he considered necessary.

What he objected to as superfluous was a reqirement that all members of the AEC be given "equal access to information necessary in the performance of their duties."

The requirement was a blow aimed at AEC Chairman Lewis L. Strauss by Democratic critics who accused Strauss of trying to take too much power to himself and keeping at least one member of the commission in the dark on important developments.

Eisenhower, in a statement, said he was signing the bill to take advantage of a section permitting him to fill a commission vacancy, while Congress is in adjournment, with an interim appointee who would draw a salary.

Fliers Freed By Reds Arrive In Honolulu

HONOLULU, Aug. 10 (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur's famed old plane, the Bataan, arrived at Hickam Air Force Base today with five of 11 U.S. airmen homeward bound after 2½ years in Chinese Red prisons.

The plane touched down at 2:42 p.m.—7:42 p.m., EST — after a flight from Tokyo.

A second plane carrying the other six airmen was due about a half hour later.

The two big four-engined C54 had stopped earlier at Midway Island for refueling.

Ike Takes No Chances

GETTYSBURG, Pa., Aug. 10 (AP)—With hurricane Connie lurking menacingly off the coast, President Eisenhower today abandoned plans to fly back to Washington tomorrow. He decided to make the trip by automobile instead.

Dulles Counsels Embattled ROK To Avoid Force

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles told embattled South Korea today the way to national unification lies in patience—not violence inviting nuclear war which might leave only insects to inherit the country.

Dulles' comments, based on rioting in South Korea against the half-Communist truce inspection team, came during a half-hour news conference devoted almost entirely to Far East questions.

Newsmen took notes as Dulles—who only a few months ago talked of "massive retaliation" and of "weapons of precision"—sought to throw oil on a variety of troubled waters.

To the Republic of Korea he counseled patience and nonviolence. As an example, he held up United States restraint for the past year in eventually successful efforts to free 15 American airmen from Red China prisons.

To France, Dulles seemed to be suggesting a way out of bitter nationalist uprisings in North Africa when he applauded an agreement negotiated between France and Tunisia. As if recommending it as a solution to violence in Morocco, he said the French-Tunisian accord showed "determination, realism and good will."

Of South Viet Nam's reluctance to meet with Communists from the North to arrange elections unifying that Indochina country, Dulles said he was sure Premier Ngo Dinh Diem is agreeable to free elections. He indicated a way would be found to comply with the Indochina truce provision for unifying elections, although he defended Diem's right to object since his government did not sign the truce.

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Aug. 10 (AP)—The Yugopress news agency reported tonight Red Chinese trade unions have accepted with joy an invitation to send a delegation to Yugoslavia.

Big Hurricane Plods Toward Carolina Area

Howler Expected To Veer Northward And Pick Up Speed

HATTERAS, N. C., Aug. 10 (AP)—Hurricane Connie, 120-mile winds swirling at her center, drifted slowly toward the Carolina coast tonight.

A 8 p.m. the big tropical storm, which posed a threat to the whole eastern seaboard, was centered some 190 miles southeast of Myrtle Beach, S. C. She was moving about 6 miles an hour toward Myrtle Beach, where last year's big hurricane Hazel struck land.

But the Weather Bureau said Connie likely will veer to the northward during the night and pick up speed as a low pressure trough of air approaches from the Great Lakes region.

Meanwhile, for the next 6 to 12 hours the storm probably will continue the same plodding course toward the coast.

Little change in the Carolina coastal weather is expected during that time. But with the faster movement and the hurricane's approach, increasing gales and high tides are expected along the Middle Atlantic coast, beginning late tonight or tomorrow morning.

The Weather Bureau cautioned all coastal interests north of Jacksonville, Fla., to remain alert.

Most of the eastern seaboard, mindful of the three big hurricanes which killed more than 250 persons last year, watched Connie closely.

Vacationers and permanent residents by the hundreds fled the Carolina beaches. They had plenty of warning. Connie had been offshore and well pinpointed by radar and hurricane hunter planes since early Tuesday.

Waves up to 15 feet high pounded and battered the beaches. Tides were running two to four feet higher than normal.

Connie's hurricane-force winds extended outward 50 to 100 miles as she stood almost stationary off the coast. Gales whipped out 300 miles to the northeast and 150 miles to the southwest.

The first evacuation orders came from the Coast Guard station at Ft. Macon, N. C., near Morehead City and Beaufort. It was directed at the exposed communities at Salter Path, Emerald Isle and Atlantic Beach.

Storm Precautions Taken In Maryland

BALTIMORE, Aug. 10 (AP) — Maryland, which still remembers Hazel, eyed Connie suspiciously today and began to prepare against the arrival of the big hurricane—just in case.

Hurricane Hazel, which ripped up Maryland last October, smashed her way inland in the same general area where Connie now poses uncertainly.

Coastal Maryland and the Chesapeake Bay areas were under hurricane alert.

Though the storm was still 500 miles south of Baltimore late today, waves 10 to 12 feet high were pounding the beach at Ocean City and merchants began boarding up their windows.

The Weather Bureau in Baltimore said there is no way of telling yet just how Maryland might be affected by the storm.

Preparations were being made, however.

Hoover Returns To Former Home, Restored As Shrine

NEWBERG, Ore., Aug. 10 (AP)—Herbert Hoover, who came to this small western Oregon town as an orphan 70 years ago, came back today to see his former home dedicated as a national shrine.

Hoover, who has known many honors in many lands, obviously was pleased with the simple ceremonies.

So, too, was he pleased with the number of Newberg residents on hand to greet him on this occasion, his 81st birthday. Some of them knew him in his childhood.

The former President did not remember many of them—he was 15 when he left Newberg for nearby Salem—but he ignored a taxing sun to walk among the crowd, shaking hands with all who wanted to greet him.

He spoke, too, in the ceremonies, reminiscing about his early days and emphasizing the heritage left by the men who built Newberg and the small towns across the country.

In particular, he spoke of the virtues of his aunt and uncle, Dr. and Mrs. Henry John Minthorn, who took him into their home in a Quaker community here, and reared him after he was orphaned.

He spoke also of shortcomings of this country, but said the spirit of the Minthorns lives on in the nation.

"Here alone are the open windows through which pours the sunlight of the human spirit. Here alone, even with all its defects, is human dignity not a dream, but an accomplishment.

"These ideals of freedom and religious faith guarantee there will be no decline and fall of American civilzation," he said.

The Minthorn home fell into disrepair years after the family moved away, but friends and admirers of Hoover recently formed a Herbert Hoover Foundation to restore the home to its original condition. Nearby is a cemetery where Minthorn, a country doctor, is buried.

Man Killed As Auto Runs Wild In Chicago Traffic

CHICAGO, Aug. 10 (AP)—A nun who doesn't know how to drive a car accidentally stepped on the accelerator of a standing automobile today, then sat helpless and horrified as it spun crazily across a busy downtown street.

A man was injured fatally when the car piled into another auto, then into pedestrians on a sidewalk. Three women were hospitalized with injuries.

The freak accident occurred between LaSalle and Wells streets and was witnessed by scores of passersby and loop office workers.

Mrs. Mary Miller, 33, of Joliet, had driven five nuns of St. Joseph's parish in Joliet to Chicago to see a motion picture.

They stopped in front of the Palace theater on the south side of Randolph street, a one-way westbound thoroughfare. So that the nuns would not have to step from the car into traffic, Mrs. Miller got out and let Sister Veronona, an arthritis victim, slide behind the wheel and leave by the left door.

Mrs. Miller told police she left the motor running, the automatic transmission in drive but with the hand break set. As the nun slid across the front seat, her foot caught the accelerator and the car shot away from the curb.

The car plunged forward and sideswiped a taxicab near the entrance to the Bismarck hotel. The impact changed its course and sent it toward the restaurant entrance. It hit the rear of a parked car on the north side of the street and threw that car to the sidewalk.

The FBI issued warrants for two other men, including a murderer who was a suspect from the start. Both these fugitives were described as armed and dangerous.

Also taken into custody as the case apparently broke wide open was a man described as a material witness.

Those arrested and charged with violating the National Bank Robbery Act were James McCoo, 36, and Frank Cocchiaro, 34. They live in Astoria, Queens, not far from the Woodside, Queens, holdup scene. The area is across the East River and about five miles from midtown Manhattan.

U. S. Commissioner Edward E. Fay held McCoo without bond. The government said he took part in the holdup. He has a record of nine prior arrests.

Wife Worked As Teller

Cocchiaro was held in $50,000 bail, after Windels said he aided and abetted the holdup. He has a record as a thief.

The FBI said Cocchiaro's wife, Mildred, was a teller at work in the Chase Manhattan branch when it was robbed. She since has resigned.

The material witness is Vincent W. Kritil, 28, of Woodside. He was held in $40,000 bond after Windels said he was in danger of assassination by the bandits still at large.

Commerce Chief Denies Probers Access To Files

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP) — Secretary of Commerce Weeks today blocked a House committee from digging into records and files of his Business Advisory Council.

Weeks told Chairman Celler (D-NY) of the House Antimonopoly subcommittee that disclosure of files on individual business statistics and forecasts "is made a crime by law."

Also, Walter S. White, executive director of the BAC, told Celler that any action on his part to deliver files in custody of the department would violate the law and "subject me to punishment."

White made his reply to Celler personally. He delivered Weeks' in the form of a letter addressed to Celler.

Celler wants to study the records as part of the subcommittee's investigation into the activities of WOC men—businessmen who serve the government without compensation in an advisory capacity while drawing their regular pay from their own firms. WOC is short for without compensation.

Celler says one aim of his investigation is to determine whether members of the Business Advisory Council unduly influence government policy.

The council is made up of about 165 business executives, advising Weeks on economic and other business matters.

Celler said he would consult with other members of his committee for a decision on whether to proceed against Weeks and White on grounds they were showing contempt of Congress.

1,323 Polio Cases In New England

BOSTON, Aug. 10 (AP)—New England's polio outbreak continued to spread today as the six-state total mounted to 1,323 cases. Only 249 were listed in the area on this date a year ago.

Massachusetts, where 112 new cases were reported today as against 88 yesterday, accounts for 1,038 of the New England cases, and hard-hit Boston has had 370, almost one-third of the state's 1955 total.

Thirty-one Salk vaccine-inoculated youngsters have been stricken in New England this year.

President Signs Atom Measure

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP)—Legislation designed to end what some Democrats called "one-man rule" of the Atomic Energy Commission was signed reluctantly today by President Eisenhower, who called it "unncessary."

He held that existing law already bars any one-man rule, but said he was signing because of another provision of the bill, which he considered necessary.

What he objected to as superfluous was a reqirement that all members of the AEC be given "equal access to information necessary in the performance of their duties."

The requirement was a blow aimed at AEC Chairman Lewis L. Strauss by Democratic critics who accused Strauss of trying to take too much power to himself and keeping at least one member of the commission in the dark on important developments.

Eisenhower, in a statement, said he was signing the bill to take advantage of a section permitting him to fill a commission vacancy, while Congress is in adjournment, with an interim appointee who would draw a salary.

Dulles Counsels Embattled ROK To Avoid Force

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles told embattled South Korea today the way to national unification lies in patience—not violence inviting nuclear war which might leave only insects to inherit the country.

Dulles' comments, based on rioting in South Korea against the half-Communist truce inspection team, came during a half-hour news conference devoted almost entirely to Far East questions.

Newsmen took notes as Dulles—who only a few months ago talked of "massive retaliation" and of "weapons of precision"—sought to throw oil on a variety of troubled waters.

To the Republic of Korea he counseled patience and nonviolence. As an example, he held up United States restraint for the past year in eventually successful efforts to free 15 American airmen from Red China prisons.

To France, Dulles seemed to be suggesting a way out of bitter nationalist uprisings in North Africa when he applauded an agreement negotiated between France and Tunisia. As if recommending it as a solution to violence in Morocco, he said the French-Tunisian accord showed "determination, realism and good will."

Of South Viet Nam's reluctance to meet with Communists from the North to arrange elections unifying that Indochina country, Dulles said he was sure Premier Ngo Dinh Diem is agreeable to free elections. He indicated a way would be found to comply with the Indochina truce provision for unifying elections, although he defended Diem's right to object since his government did not sign the truce.

Hoover Returns To Former Home, Restored As Shrine

NEWBERG, Ore., Aug. 10 (AP)—Herbert Hoover, who came to this small western Oregon town as an orphan 70 years ago, came back today to see his former home dedicated as a national shrine.

Hoover, who has known many honors in many lands, obviously was pleased with the simple ceremonies.

So, too, was he pleased with the number of Newberg residents on hand to greet him on this occasion, his 81st birthday. Some of them knew him in his childhood.

The former President did not remember many of them—he was 15 when he left Newberg for nearby Salem—but he ignored a taxing sun to walk among the crowd, shaking hands with all who wanted to greet him.

He spoke, too, in the ceremonies, reminiscing about his early days and emphasizing the heritage left by the men who built Newberg and the small towns across the country.

In particular, he spoke of the virtues of his aunt and uncle, Dr. and Mrs. Henry John Minthorn, who took him into their home in a Quaker community here, and reared him after he was orphaned.

He spoke also of shortcomings of this country, but said the spirit of the Minthorns lives on in the nation.

"Here alone are the open windows through which pours the sunlight of the human spirit. Here alone, even with all its defects, is human dignity not a dream, but an accomplishment.

"These ideals of freedom and religious faith guarantee there will be no decline and fall of American civilization," he said.

The Minthorn home fell into disrepair years after the family moved away, but friends and admirers of Hoover recently formed a Herbert Hoover Foundation to restore the home to its original condition. Nearby is a cemetery where Minthorn, a country doctor, is buried.

Fliers Freed By Reds Arrive In Honolulu

HONOLULU, Aug. 10 (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur's famed old plane, the Bataan, arrived at Hickam Air Force Base today with five of 11 U.S. airmen homeward bound after 2½ years in Chinese Red prisons.

The plane touched down at 2:42 p.m.—7:42 p.m., EST — after a flight from Tokyo.

A second plane carrying the other six airmen was due about a half hour later.

The two big four-engined C54 had stopped earlier at Midway Island for refueling.

Ike Takes No Chances

GETTYSBURG, Pa., Aug. 10 (AP)—With hurricane Connie lurking menacingly off the coast, President Eisenhower today abandoned plans to fly back to Washington tomorrow. He decided to make the trip by automobile instead.

Big Hurricane Plods Toward Carolina Area

Howler Expected To Veer Northward And Pick Up Speed

HATTERAS, N. C., Aug. 10 (AP)—Hurricane Connie, 120-mile winds swirling at her center, drifted slowly toward the Carolina coast tonight.

A 8 p.m. the big tropical storm, which posed a threat to the whole eastern seaboard, was centered some 190 miles southeast of Myrtle Beach, S. C. She was moving about 6 miles an hour toward Myrtle Beach, where last year's big hurricane Hazel struck land.

But the Weather Bureau said Connie likely will veer to the northward during the night and pick up speed as a low pressure trough of air approaches from the Great Lakes region.

Meanwhile, for the next 6 to 12 hours the storm probably will continue the same plodding course toward the coast.

Little change in the Carolina coastal weather is expected during that time. But with the faster movement and the hurricane's approach, increasing gales and high tides are expected along the Middle Atlantic coast, beginning late tonight or tomorrow morning.

The Weather Bureau cautioned all coastal interests north of Jacksonville, Fla., to remain alert.

Most of the eastern seaboard, mindful of the three big hurricanes which killed more than 250 persons last year, watched Connie closely.

Vacationers and permanent residents by the hundreds fled the Carolina beaches. They had plenty of warning. Connie had been offshore and well pinpointed by radar and hurricane hunter planes since early Tuesday.

Waves up to 15 feet high pounded and battered the beaches. Tides were running two to four feet higher than normal.

Connie's hurricane-force winds extended outward 50 to 100 miles as she stood almost stationary off the coast. Gales whipped out 300 miles to the northeast and 150 miles to the southwest.

The first evacuation orders came from the Coast Guard station at Ft. Macon, N. C., near Morehead City and Beaufort. It was directed at the exposed communities at Salter Path, Emerald Isle and Atlantic Beach.

Storm Precautions Taken In Maryland

BALTIMORE, Aug. 10 (AP) — Maryland, which still remembers Hazel, eyed Connie suspiciously today and began to prepare against the arrival of the big hurricane—just in case.

Hurricane Hazel, which ripped up Maryland last October, smashed her way inland in the same general area where Connie now poses uncertainly.

Coastal Maryland and the Chesapeake Bay areas were under hurricane alert.

Though the storm was still 500 miles south of Baltimore late today, waves 10 to 12 feet high were pounding the beach at Ocean City and merchants began boarding up their windows.

The Weather Bureau in Baltimore said there is no way of telling yet just how Maryland might be affected by the storm.

Preparations were being made, however.

Man Killed As Auto Runs Wild In Chicago Traffic

CHICAGO, Aug. 10 (AP)—A nun who doesn't know how to drive a car accidentally stepped on the accelerator of a standing automobile today, then sat helpless and horrified as it spun crazily across a busy downtown street.

A man was injured fatally when the car piled into another auto, then into pedestrians on a sidewalk. Three women were hospitalized with injuries.

The freak accident occurred between LaSalle and Wells streets and was witnessed by scores of passersby and loop office workers.

Mrs. Mary Miller, 33, of Joliet, had driven five nuns of St. Joseph's parish in Joliet to Chicago to see a motion picture.

They stopped in front of the Palace theater on the south side of Randolph street, a one-way westbound thoroughfare. So that the nuns would not have to step from the car into traffic, Mrs. Miller got out and let Sister Veronona, an arthritis victim, slide behind the wheel and leave by the left door.

Mrs. Miller told police she left the motor running, the automatic transmission in drive but with the hand break set. As the nun slid across the front seat, her foot caught the accelerator and the car shot away from the curb.

The car plunged forward and sideswiped a taxicab near the entrance to the Bismarck hotel. The impact changed its course and sent it toward the restaurant entrance. It hit the rear of a parked car on the north side of the street and threw that car to the sidewalk.

AFL's Chiefs Reject Moscow Invitation

CHICAGO, Aug. 10 (AP)—The governing body of the American Federation of Labor rejected flatly today an invitation to American trade union delegations to visit the Soviet Union.

"Such a visit would only play into the hands of the totalitarian dictatorship which, regardless of its apologies at Belgrade and smiles at Geneva, denies its own people all fundamental human rights," the AFL Executive Council said.

George Meany, AFL president, expressed full agreement with the council's stand and said he feels it was a mistake for a delegation of American farmers to visit Russian farms.

"It is giving an air of respectability to people who are not respectable in the world setup," he said.

George Morris, labor editor of the Daily Worker, sent letters July 20 to Meany and Walter Reuther, CIO president, urging that American labor unions send representatives to visit Russia. The open invitation also was printed in the Daily Worker.

"The Executive Council of the AFL vigorously rejects all such invitations," the governing body said in a statement. "They stem from Moscow to serve the interests of the Soviet dictatorship at home and abroad.

"A visit by an authoritative American trade union delegation to the U.S.S.R. would not bring the peoples of Russia and America closer. . . .

"If the Soviet government were interested in promoting contact between the Russian and the American people, it would repeal its vigorous laws making it impossible for the average Russian to visit other lands and meet anyone he wants without his relatives being treated as hostages for his 'good behavior overseas.'"

The council said Moscow's "real reason" in seeking a visit by an American labor delegation is "to lend a cover of genuineness and international free trade union respectability to the Soviet state company unions."

60 Remain On 'Tower'

BOSTON, Aug. 10 (AP) — Sixty workmen elected today to remain aboard a "Texas Tower" radar station 100 miles at sea off Cape Cod despite a Navy warning that the approach of hurricane Connie might make it impossible to take them off later.

Forty three others were evacuated by a Coast Guard cutter.

Small Atomic Subs Planned By Government

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP)—The government took the first step today to put atomic power into small submarines.

Acting Chairman John von Neumann of the Atomic Energy Commission said a contract has been awarded to Combustion Engineering, Inc., for the design and development of a reactor suitable for a "small" submarine.

AEC's announcement said the project "is based on a Department of Defense requirement for the development of a nuclear powered small submarine."

How small wasn't indicated, but earlier this year the Navy revealed interest in building atomic-powered subs of somewhat lesser size than the Nautilus and Seawolf.

The Nautilus, displacing 2,900 tons, has been operating with the fleet for several months and the Seawolf, a 3,200-tonner, was launched three weeks ago.

The average fleet-type submarines displace around 1,700 tons.

Government Control Of India Press Looms

NEW DELHI, Aug. 10 (AP) — Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru's government is moving toward extensive control of this country's newspapers.

The regime's press commission has reported:

"A newspaper is essentially a public utility, and whatever may be the precise form of ownership, the exercise of ownership rights may have to be subject to some measures of restraint and regulation."

Proceeding on this basis, the commission went on to recommend sweeping government controls of treatment of news, employment policies, profits, management, handling of advertising.

A proposal now before Parliament would require newspapers to submit to the government registrar an annual statement containing a list of owners and executives, circulation figures, selling prices and "any other particulars which may be prescribed."

Belated Search Turns Up Crashed Plane; Two Killed

ROCK HALL, Md., Aug. 10 (AP)—A belated search today turned up the wreckage of a light plane in which two University of Maryland students were killed Sunday when it plunged into the mouth of the Chester River just south of Rock Hall.

The body of Miss Mary Ann Rodgers, 20, of Chevy Chase, was spotted on shore by aerial searchers.

The body of Charles Dickinson, 23, of Baltimore was taken from the wreckage of the plane when it was located in the water a short time later.

A sharp thundersquall hit that area of Chesapeake Bay soon after they took off from Russell Airport at Chestertown about 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

An eyewitness saw the plane go down, but by a strange set of coincidences it and its two occupants were not missed until Tuesday night.

Miss Rodgers, a student in the university's school of nursing, had been serving as counsellor at Echo Hill summer camp near Chestertown and was granted a two-day leave Sunday for a visit with her mother, Mrs. Robert D. Hagner, at Chevy Chase.

Dickinson, living on the university's College Park Campus and working part-time as a clerk at the campus police station, flew over here Sunday from Congressional Airport at Rockville to pick Miss Rodgers up for the surprise visit.

The plane is owned by the Maryland Flying Club, a university group to which Dickinson belonged.

News Holdback Charge Probed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10 (AP) — A House subcommittee started questioning government agencies today to see if they are being "arbitrary and capricious" in deciding what the public should be told of their activities.

The survey grew from charges inside Congress and out that federal officials are holding back legitimate news.

Chairman Dawson (D-Ill) of the House Government Operations Committee announced in June the study would be undertaken.

Rep. Moss (D-Calif) heads the Operations subcommittee which today sent out 5½-page questionaires to each executive and independent agency.

"Through a cooperative effort," Moss said, "we can determine the basic information policies of the federal agencies and find out, once and for all, whether there is arbitrary and capricious action because of a lack of definite, consistent policies."

Answers were requested by Sept. 15 to such questions as:

What officials are authorized to apply, review and remove restrictions on information? Which ones held news conferences last year, and how many were there? Which employes are instructed not to comment to newsmen or the public, either formally or informally?

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 10 (AP)—Even Tarzan can get hurt.

From Africa, where "Tarzan and the Lost Safari" is shooting, came a cable to the home studio today advising that star Gordon Scott had broken his foot and can't work for a while.

It happened during filming at Thompson Falls in Kenya, British East Africa, but the cable didn't say how.

66,000 West Va. Children To Get 2nd Polio Shots

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Aug. 10 (AP)—State Health Director N. H. Dyer said today that the second round of anti-polio inoculations for first and second graders has been completed and tabulated in all but four counties of West Virginia.

"We expect that there will be approximately 66,000 children receiving the second inoculation," he said, "roughly 65 per cent." Initial shots were given 104,689 youngsters in April.

Dr. Dyer said school vacations and other factors reduced the percentage receiving second injections but added:

"We feel that it is a great advantage in getting that many children to receive second inoculations in the face of the polio season."

Surplus vaccine from the second inoculations was returned to Charleston this week and the Health Department is checking it to see how much is available.

Dr. Dyer said just a slight amount of vaccine is beginning to be released through commercial channels. He said he did not think "the public generally knows we are entering into that phase of the program" where the vaccine may be obtained from private physicians.

An additional 12,795 doses of vaccine has been alloted to West Virginia for commercial distribution, Dr. Dyer said, over and above a previous allotment of 9,138 cubic centimeters.

Such vaccine to be sold is sent directly to physicians, druggists and public health agencies when they order it, and is not shipped to the state in bulk as the free vaccine was.

Pine Pee Wee Team Winner Of City Rec Title

By defeating Columbia Street two out of three games yesterday, the Pine Avenue playground Pee Wee softball team copped the city recreation program championship for this year. The games were played at East Side.

The Columbia Street team defeated the Pine Avenue players in the first game and this was the first defeat handed the team in the past two seasons.

Batteries for Pine Avenue were John Powell and William Colbert, with Henry Pettigrew as coach. Celanese Product Used By Over 250 Manufacturers

More than 250 garment manufacturers throughout the country are currently producing a broad range of apparel merchandise made from fabric constructions of Arnel, the new triacetate fiber of Celanese Corporation of America according to Harold Blancke, president of the company. Most of these garments will be available in retail stores from coast to coast beginning next month.

Blancke said that less than 10 months has elapsed between the announcement of the development of the fiber last October and the availability of finished garments to consumer.

Included are men's and women's sportswear, dresses, blouses, slips, robes and uniforms utilizing Arnel alone or in combination w'th other fibers in various fabric construction including flannel, faille, crepe, tricot, taffeta, satin, challis, linen and sharkskin.

"Celanese acetate, the beauty fiber, has long been one of the basic fibers on which the man-made textile industry has been built," Blancke declared. "It has earned this success because it looks lovely, feels good, has a luxurious hand and excellent draping qualities.

"With Arnel, Celanese has introduced a new triacetate fiber which not only has all the beauty qualities of acetate, but built-in 'ease-of-care' characteristics as well. 'Ease-of-care,' of course, means different things in different fabrics, and we will indicate exactly what we mean in each individual construction.

"When Celanese announced the development of Arnel, mills and converters were invited to join us in developing market constructions which would best utilize the many desirable features of Arnel in finished consumer goods and other items.

"Since last October many, many fabrics have been made and tested. Some haven't proved out. Others now on the looms, we think, are excellent. The Arnel fabrics which various mills and converters developed will be available to the consumer in apparel lines and over-the-counter yard goods this fall. The laboratory and wear tests on these fabrics and garments were established as part of our effort to see that Arnel does not make any false starts, nor get into end-uses where it does not belong. The controls which Celanese uses are to make sure that Arnel's unique characteristics are fully employed in the finished product."

Paul White of the Merchandising Department of the Textile Division, has presented the story on each of the Arnel fabric categories, assisted by Dr. W. E. Coughlin, director of consumer service of the division, who described the tests conducted on various fabrics and garments.

"One important filament yarn (produced at the Amcelle Plant) fabric is the 100 per cent Arnel sandcrepe produced by Cohama," White said. "This comfortable, luxurious blouse fabric, which has both body and opacity, and can be washed and worn with little touch up, has a large market potential. It will be launched this fall in blouses by Alice Stuart and Eclipse. Other manufacturers are ready for the delivery of fabric and a number of stores have purchased the fabric for yard goods sales."

For the men, the challis sportshirt by McGregor illustrates 100 per cent Arnel in a spun staple construction. This shirt is either hand or machine washable, dries quickly without stretching or shrinking and has excellent retention of color.

White displayed three nurses uniforms in a sharkskin of filament Arnel. Two of the garments were worn and sent to a commercial laundry more than 25 times to illustrate Arnel's ability to retain size and shape without loss of hand. The garments required very little touch up with an iron to maintain a fresh appearance.

White said women who wore the uniforms unanimously approved their comfort as well as the easy removal of stains and soil and its pure white appearance after repeated launderings. Tests show that weaves other than the sharkskin are performing as well. The uniforms will be available in stores across the country in the next few weeks.

"One of the most interesting end uses of filament Arnel form," White said, "is its appearance in the tricot field. On October 1, five leading manufacturers — Munsingwear, Luxite, Shadowline, Faerie and Sanssouci—will introduce Arnel tricot to consumers in the form of slips, gowns and panties. These garments wash easily by machine or hand, require little or no ironing (no ironing required when tumble-dried), are exceptionally fast drying (dry in as little as two hours), are positively non-run, will not shrink out of fit, are comfortable and pleasing next to the skin, and whites will stay pure white."

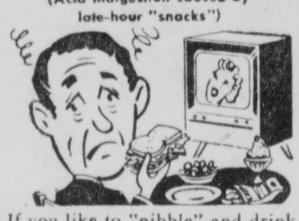

"These garments have been tested against claims which the manufacturer makes and care instructions. Only those garments passing these tests qualify for the official hang tag which carries the slogan 'You can relax, this is Arnel.'

"Each tag will state the particular characteristics of the fabric that bears it. These might be wrinkle resistance, machine washability, permanent pleating, or some other combination of features. Different fabrics of Arnel will offer different advantages, depending on weights, weaves, finishes, combinations with various fibers and other factors."

Celanese Product Used By Over 250 Manufacturers

More than 250 garment manufacturers throughout the country are currently producing a broad range of apparel merchandise made from fabric constructions of Arnel, the new triacetate fiber of Celanese Corporation of America according to Harold Blancke, president of the company. Most of these garments will be available in retail stores from coast to coast beginning next month.

Blancke said that less than 10 months has elapsed between the announcement of the development of the fiber last October and the availability of finished garments to consumer.

Included are men's and women's sportswear, dresses, blouses, slips, robes and uniforms utilizing Arnel alone or in combination with other fibers in various fabric construction including flannel, faille, crepe, tricot, taffeta, satin, challis, linen and sharkskin.

"Celanese acetate, the beauty fiber, has long been one of the basic fibers on which the man-made textile industry has been built," Blancke declared. "It has earned this success because it looks lovely, feels good, has a luxurious hand and excellent draping qualities.

"With Arnel, Celanese has introduced a new triacetate fiber which not only has all the beauty qualities of acetate, but built-in 'ease-of-care' characteristics as well. 'Ease-of-care,' of course, means different things in different fabrics, and we will indicate exactly what we mean in each individual construction.

"When Celanese announced the development of Arnel, mills and converters were invited to join us in developing market constructions which would best utilize the many desirable features of Arnel in finished consumer goods and other items.

"Since last October many, many fabrics have been made and tested. Some haven't proved out. Others now on the looms, we think, are excellent. The Arnel fabrics which various mills and converters developed will be available to the consumer in apparel lines and over-the-counter yard goods this fall. The laboratory and wear tests on these fabrics and garments were established as part of our effort to see that Arnel does not make any false starts, nor get into end-uses where it does not belong. The controls which Celanese uses are to make sure that Arnel's unique characteristics are fully employed in the finished product."

Paul White of the Merchandising Department of the Textile Division, has presented the story on each of the Arnel fabric categories, assisted by Dr. W. E. Coughlin, director of consumer service of the division, who described the tests conducted on various fabrics and garments.

"One important filament yarn (produced at the Amcelle Plant) fabric is the 100 per cent Arnel sandcrepe produced by Cohama," White said. "This comfortable, luxurious blouse fabric, which has both body and opacity, and can be washed and worn with little touch up, has a large market potential. It will be launched this fall in blouses by Alice Stuart and Eclipse. Other manufacturers are ready for the delivery of fabric and a number of stores have purchased the fabric for yard goods sales."

For the men, the challis sportshirt by McGregor illustrates 100 per cent Arnel in a spun staple construction. This shirt is either hand or machine washable, dries quickly without stretching or shrinking and has excellent retention of color.

White displayed three nurses uniforms in a sharkskin of filament Arnel. Two of the garments were worn and sent to a commercial laundry more than 25 times to illustrate Arnel's ability to retain size and shape without loss of hand. The garments required very little touch up with an iron to maintain a fresh appearance.

White said women who wore the uniforms unanimously approved their comfort as well as the easy removal of stains and soil and its pure white appearance after repeated launderings. Tests show that weaves other than the sharkskin are performing as well. The uniforms will be available in stores across the country in the next few weeks.

"One of the most interesting end uses of filament Arnel form," White said, "is its appearance in the tricot field. On October 1, five leading manufacturers — Munsingwear, Luxite, Shadowline, Faerie and Sanssouci—will introduce Arnel tricot to consumers in the form of slips, gowns and panties. These garments wash easily by machine or hand, require little or no ironing (no ironing required when tumble-dried), are exceptionally fast drying (dry in as little as two hours), are positively non-run, will not shrink out of fit, are comfortable and pleasing next to the skin, and whites will stay pure white."

"These garments have been tested against claims which the manufacturer makes and care instructions. Only those garments passing these tests qualify for the official hang tag which carries the slogan 'You can relax, this is Arnel.'

"Each tag will state the particular characteristics of the fabric that bears it. These might be wrinkle resistance, machine washability, permanent pleating, or some other combination of features. Different fabrics of Arnel will offer different advantages, depending on weights, weaves, finishes, combinations with various fibers and other factors."

Historical House To Open August 15-20

Visitors will be welcomed at an "Open House" being held by the Allegany County Historical Society, August 15 through August 20. It will be at the new headquarters, 218 Washington Street, from 11 a. m. until 8 p. m.

Members of the Historical Society will serve as hosts, assisted by other local clubs.

Decoration of the main room, which will be the assembly room, is incomplete. Miss Ruth Clauson, president of the society, says "Prospective donors are urged to contribute towards the completion of this room, on which considerable work has been done." Across the main hall, which contains the clerk's desk from the Kenneweg Company, a room has been entirely redecorated and is being furnished as a reception room. The next room is a small dining room, or committee room, with sideboard and table given by Mrs. Espy Anderson and her daughters. A small kitchen has been equipped for use for club service, as Miss Clauson says the Historical Society hopes many local clubs will meet at the house. Later the large dining room will be reconditioned as a formal dining room. Miss Kate Lippold gave an Italian Majolica vase. There also are Rockwood vases and a pelican.

On the second floor is the board room and library, in light green and cream. It contains a filing case given by the Kenneweg Company, through William E. White; two book cases by First Presbyterian Church; a mahogany table and 12 chairs, by Mrs. Margery Muncaster Hazelwood; the drawing desk used by the late Walter James Muncaster in designing special machines for straightening, turning and grinding steel bars for the Cumberland Steel Company; and an exhibit of old books and early maps.

A "nursery and family" bedroom with articles from 1850 to 1900, contains two beds, a tall one dating 1850, given by Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Wertheimer; and an earlier one by Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Piper; a pine storage chest by Mrs. Irene Valentine, reconditioned by Louis B. Young; a rocker by Mrs. William Thomas Clauson, two children's and two adult's chairs by Mrs. Hazelwood; a hand-woven rug given by Mrs. Aden Everstine; a marble top washstand by Mrs. Marguerite Findley and her mother, Mrs. William F. Twigg; two early cradles, one by Mr. and Mrs. William R. Crump from the estate of Mrs. Peter Keifer; a group of children's furniture and early prints and a blue and white hand-woven coverlet given by Clinton Snyder.

The "Veterans' Room," sponsored by the American Legion, contains the honor roll from the City Hall and American and Maryland flags presented by Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion. There is a small room with children's toys and a baby carriage from the Gillette estate.

In the "Colonial Room" is a Colonial four-poster bed with tester, given by Mrs. Hazelwood and inherited by her from her paternal grandmother, born Harriett Magruder, Rockville. In the same room, done in French gray, are three spinning wheels. One signed "I. Hook," is a wool spinning wheel. The Hooks were cabinet makers in Cumberland during the 1830s and '40s. It was donated by Carl Zimmerla. Near it is an 1833 Cumberland newspaper bearing an advertisement of Hook's spinning wheel makers. It is the property of Miss Clauson. There are two flax spinning wheels, one given by Mr. Zimmerla and the other loaned by Mrs. Hazelwood. There also is a sea chest with original lock and metal trimmings loaned by Mr. Zimmerla, and a case of testiles and other articles of that period.

There also is a "Canal Room," containing a scale model of a canal boat, made by George J. Dreyer and given by his daughter, Mrs. Nell Dreyer Smith, who also gave a canal boat lamp; a set of tools used in canal construction in the 1830s by Harry Sellers; a book of canal boat sailings by John Knieriem and numerous other articles. Cases in the room were given by the daughters of the late Mrs. Alfred Zihlman. The master bathroom contains a platform rocker, made by Young Furniture Company, about 1880 and given by Mrs. Veronica Coleman Schleifman.

One room on the third floor contains early business and household implements, including a tea mixer and wine press.

Miss Clauson reports that up to the present time the society has received cash donations amounting to $3,875, which was used as down payment for the purchase of the property and to make absolutely necessary basic repairs, as roof and spouting. There also have been many contributions of materials used in repair work, volunteer labor and furnishings, part of which were listed above. Cash contributions are urgently needed to complete the necessary repairs. The society also needs additional show cases and will be pleased with donations, Miss Clauson said.

The Newcomers Club will hold a wiener roast and supper at the Celanese pool today at 7 p. m. Members are to bring supper contributions and place settings.

Tau Phi Lambda sorority will hold an executive meeting tonight at the Crippled Children's League headquarters.

Historical House To Open August 15-20

Visitors will be welcomed at an "Open House" being held by the Allegany County Historical Society, August 15 through August 20. It will be at the new headquarters, 218 Washington Street, from 11 a. m. until 8 p. m.

Members of the Historical Society will serve as hosts, assisted by other local clubs.

Decoration of the main room, which will be the assembly room, is incomplete. Miss Ruth Clauson, president of the society, says "Prospective donors are urged to contribute towards the completion of this room, on which considerable work has been done." Across the main hall, which contains the clerk's desk from the Kenneweg Company, a room has been entirely redecorated and is being furnished as a reception room. The next room is a small dining room, or committee room, with sideboard and table given by Mrs. Espy Anderson and her daughters. A small kitchen has been equipped for use for club service, as Miss Clauson says the Historical Society hopes many local clubs will meet at the house. Later the large dining room will be reconditioned as a formal dining room. Miss Kate Lippold gave an Italian Majolica vase. There also are Rockwood vases and a pelican.

On the second floor is the board room and library, in light green and cream. It contains a filing case given by the Kenneweg Company, through William E. White; two book cases by First Presbyterian Church; a mahogany table and 12 chairs, by Mrs. Margery Muncaster Hazelwood; the drawing desk used by the late Walter James Muncaster in designing special machines for straightening, turning and grinding steel bars for the Cumberland Steel Company; and an exhibit of old books and early maps.

A "nursery and family" bedroom with articles from 1850 to 1900, contains two beds, a tall one dating 1850, given by Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Wertheimer; and an earlier one by Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Piper; a pine storage chest by Mrs. Irene Valentine, reconditioned by Louis B. Young; a rocker by Mrs. William Thomas Clauson, two children's and two adult's chairs by Mrs. Hazelwood; a hand-woven rug given by Mrs. Aden Everstine; a marble top washstand by Mrs. Marguerite Findley and her mother, Mrs. William F. Twigg; two early cradles, one by Mr. and Mrs. William R. Crump from the estate of Mrs. Peter Keifer; a group of children's furniture and early prints and a blue and white hand-woven coverlet given by Clinton Snyder.

The "Veterans' Room," sponsored by the American Legion, contains the honor roll from the City Hall and American and Maryland flags presented by Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion. There is a small room with children's toys and a baby carriage from the Gillette estate.

In the "Colonial Room" is a Colonial four-poster bed with tester, given by Mrs. Hazelwood and inherited by her from her paternal grandmother, born Harriett Magruder, Rockville. In the same room, done in French gray, are three spinning wheels. One signed "I. Hook," is a wool spinning wheel. The Hooks were cabinet makers in Cumberland during the 1830s and '40s. It was donated by Carl Zimmerla. Near it is an 1833 Cumberland newspaper bearing an advertisement of Hook's spinning wheel makers. It is the property of Miss Clauson. There are two flax spinning wheels, one given by Mr. Zimmerla and the other loaned by Mrs. Hazelwood. There also is a sea chest with original lock and metal trimmings loaned by Mr. Zimmerla, and a case of testiles and other articles of that period.

There also is a "Canal Room," containing a scale model of a canal boat, made by George J. Dreyer and given by his daughter, Mrs. Nell Dreyer Smith, who also gave a canal boat lamp; a set of tools used in canal construction in the 1830s by Harry Sellers; a book of canal boat sailings by John Knieriem and numerous other articles. Cases in the room were given by the daughters of the late Mrs. Alfred Zihlman. The master bathroom contains a platform rocker, made by Young Furniture Company, about 1880 and given by Mrs. Veronica Coleman Schleifman.

One room on the third floor contains early business and household implements, including a tea mixer and wine press.

Miss Clauson reports that up to the present time the society has received cash donations amounting to $3,875, which was used as down payment for the purchase of the property and to make absolutely necessary basic repairs, as roof and spouting. There also have been many contributions of materials used in repair work, volunteer labor and furnishings, part of which were listed above. Cash contributions are urgently needed to complete the necessary repairs. The society also needs additional show cases and will be pleased with donations, Miss Clauson said.

The Newcomers Club will hold a wiener roast and supper at the Celanese pool today at 7 p. m. Members are to bring supper contributions and place settings.

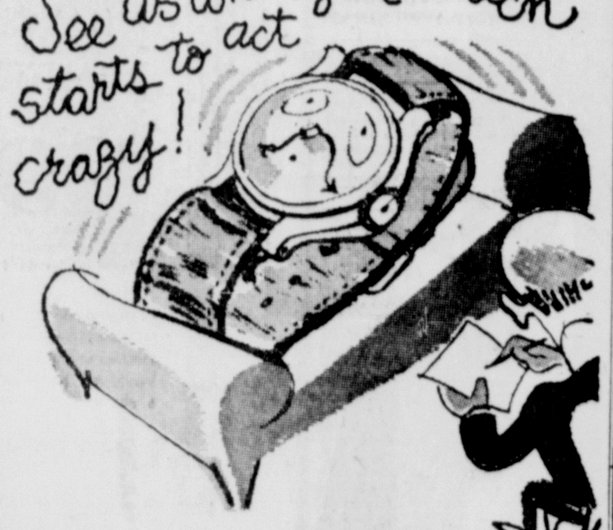

Tau Phi Lambda sorority will hold an executive meeting tonight at the Crippled Children's League headquarters.

Army Closes Enlistments In Two Units

This is the final month ni which enlistments can be accepted at the Army recruiting station for the Third Armored Division and the 11th Airborne Division, according to M.Sgt. DeNeal Phillips, local recruiter.

Under the Army's program, "Operation Gyroscope," these two divisions are preparing to move to Germany next year, and a deadline has been placed on enlistments into the two units.

Sgt. Phillips said the Army is now offering assurance that men who enlist under the "buddy system" are assured that they will remain together for the entire period of enlistment.

In addition, the Army has also announced that men and women enlisting into the Regular Army, now have a choice of 140 technical courses and schools, and enlistments are open in the Army's entire 14 branches.

The following men enlisted this month and have been assigned to Ft. Jackson, S. C. for their basic training:

Donald E. Auvil, 407 South Cedar Street, enlisted for Third Armored and after eight weeks basic will join the unit at Fort Knox.

Charles E. Whetstone, RFD 1, Frostburg, enlisted in the Ordnance Corp.

Playground Plans What-Not Contest

A what-not contest will be held today at 7:30 p. m. at Pine Avenue Playground.

Mrs. Jean Etta Beckward, director, last night said a game party will begin at 8:30 p. m. Tomorrow night the regular movie will be shown at dusk.

Hurricanes,

weather moving from another area might affect Connie, or vice versa.

Ships at sea usually have fled the path of a hurricane, and shipping is staying clear of her. Ships always provide the weather forecasters with such information as is available, but it is the "hurricane-hunter" planes that fill the gap.

No matter how precise in plotting hurricane conditions as they are found to exist, the planes can help little in the difficult task of forecasting the future course. In the case of Connie, when she starts to travel, the planes can furnish this as pertinent information. But it is the experts ashore who must tackle the problem of making a forecast.

They base their forecasts largely on wind directions aloft and air pressure or weight surrounding the storm. The interplay of winds and pressure, themselves subject to scores of variables, decide the future path of the hurricane. Connie won't exactly make up her own mind, but other weather and air pressure influences will help decide her ultimate course.

Scientists make the best predictions they can, recognizing they are still far from the precision they would like.

Past experience is a factor, too. But with a wealth of information, it is difficult to find two hurricanes exactly alike following the same general path with comparable damage.

In September 1900, 6,000 were killed in a hurricane at Galveston. In September 1915, a hurricane left only one house standing in a town of 100 homes in Louisiana. In September 1926, winds reached 132 miles an hour at Miami.

During a violent hurricane in September 1928, a total of 1,836 were killed at Puerto Rico, Nassau, Guadeloupe, and Lake Okeechobee in Florida.

At Puerto Rico in September 1932, 250,000 people in the path of a violent hurricane were left homeless.

In November 1932 a storm tide drowned 2,500 at Santa Cruz del Sur, Cuba. In October 1935, a hurricane took a completely different and unprecedented track through the Bahamas and Florida.

Winds of 123 miles per hour swept Miami in October 1941. In September 1944, winds of 100 miles per hour hit New York City and great destruction was recorded all through New England.

Hurricane Hazel swept through in October 1954 and took heavy toll of life and property in this entire general area of the Eastern Seaboard.

The Weather Bureau checks and watches. From the time there are definite indications that a hurricane is forming, even though it is a thousand miles from the mainland, the storm is given a name and the Weather Bureau starts issuing "advisories." These are issued frequently throughout the day and night, as rapidly as conclusive information can be compiled. These messages go to ships at sea, to small isolated islands in the path, and radio, television and newspapers are kept fully informed so the public everywhere can be alerted and precautions can be taken.

A Hurricane

lifted and blown against a building or through a window.

One or more windows should be kept open on the lee side—the side opposite from which the wind is coming—to provide some ventilation and, under some conditions, to prevent wind damage and to equalize pressure.

Keep an electric flashlight with fresh batteries and an extra bulb handy.

Be alert to prevent fire. Remember water pressure might fail.

People in areas likely to be flooded should move to higher ground.

Don't mistake a lull in the storm as its end. It may be the "eye" or center passing overhead, and a second blow is sure to follow.

In cases where evacuation is necessary, be sure you have gas in your car and emergency food rations available.

Keep informed. Keep calm. Stay indoors.

After a storm has passed, remember the Civil Defense, the Red Cross, Auxiliary Police, military reserves, and the regular civil authorities and departments are ready to move to cope with any disaster. You can help by helping yourself and your own if possible, but if you can't, get word to the nearest emergency unit. If you have to go out, drive and walk cautiously. Report any broken power lines, sewer mains or water lines you might see. If you are qualified, lend a hand. If not, stay at home.

Given Jail Sentence

Willard Larue was given a 60-day sentence in Allegany County Jail yesterday by Frostburg Trial Magistrate James Carter after he was found guilty of an assault and battery charge filed by his wife.

Elsie Smith was handed a 30-day sentence for disorderly conduct in connection with the same case.

A Happy Birthday To Kelly-Springfield

So often we take for granted the things we have, not realizing how much we depend upon them until something happens to deprive us of their use or to point up their value.

That perhaps applies to the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company which today begins a celebration of 35 years in Cumberland. Cumberlanders appreciate the Kelly plant. It is so well established that, like drinking water or your daily newspaper, it is taken for granted as an integral part of our daily living.

In the past several months Cumberland has rejoiced justifiably over the decision of Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company to build a new plant here, and now, with construction underway, this new industry is coming close to reality. It is a great event for a city to have a big, new industrial plant as a part of its community.

But we should not forget the other established industries that have contributed so much to Cumberland's economy over the years.

The Kelly-Springfield Tire Company has meant a lot to Cumberland since its establishment here 35 years ago and its subsequent growth to a solid industry which has been a stabilizing influence on this area's economy.

Cumberland, of course, has contributed to the success of the Kelly plant, particularly through its skilled labor force, and Kelly, through its export department, in turn has spread the name of Cumberland throughout the world. That Kelly is proud of Cumberland is demonstrated in its expensive color advertising in the nation's big magazines; in every one of them the reader can note "Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, Cumberland, Maryland."

While Kelly is proud of Cumberland, so Cumberland is proud of Kelly. There can be no better evidence than the fact that like drinking water Kelly is taken for granted as an integral part of our daily living.

We join with thousands of other folk in wishing Kelly-Springfield a Happy Birthday and continued success and prosperity in Cumberland.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

On Bullfights

Everybody these days is a censor and wants to keep things out of the papers. Recently I wrote about some entrepreneurs who hoped to make a dollar or so promoting bullfights as a novel form of gambling. I thought that I wrote disapprovingly but some humane society professionals thought otherwise. They want me censored for cruelty to bulls.

Now along comes Mrs. Betty B. Eilers of Scottsdale, Ariz., and she writes me affably and learnedly. She does not want me to be censored; so I love her. Mrs. Eilers says:

"The bull is a bull. He knows he is a bull. He does not have to prove to God or himself that he is a bull and superior to all beings who would vie for the position of a bull. His job is to sire his species. He is beloved of God for he is the result of God's wish to have him on earth. The Bible says that he who slays an ox is as if he had slain a man; he is the symbol of one of the evangelists."

The bull then is wise in his ways. He knows what he is, which is more than can be said of many humans, some of whom think they are wolves, while others try to establish by conduct that they are swine. The bull, however, is certain of his lineage, his character, his nobility. I have never seen a bullfight, having no penchant for sitting in the sun. Up here in the Berkshires, until this year, the sun was always gentle and peaceful and of the non-scorching variety.

I did not know until Mrs. Eilers told me, that if the bull wins the fight, he gets killed for winning. Well, that must make the United States a bull, because whenever we win a war, somebody else gets the benefits and we pay out of the taxpayers' earnings in apology for having been victorious. In fact, the story goes that two statesmen were discussing the serious problem of getting aid for Israel, instead of it all going to the Arabs.

One Israeli statesman said that the only thing to do is to declare war on the United States. The other statesman was horrified. "How can you say such a thing? If we declare war on the United States, we will not only look ridiculous but we'll be defeated."

"So how else do you expect to get aid?" asked statesman number one.

Also, I understand that if the bull gets defeated, his ears are clipped off and the matador, or however it be, wears those ears in his belt, which must be a smelly affair. Presumably the cards are stacked against the bull to assert the superiority of man: If the matador loses, his victor is to be destroyed lest men regard the bull as superior to man and worship him as a Baal. Bull and cow worship is the curse of India and perhaps explains the twisted thinking of Nehru and his private devil, Krishna Menon.

Let us be serious for a moment about bullfights, dog races, prize fights, basketball games, slot machines and whatever else may be available for men who want to bet. They will bet. Centuries of criticism, of censure, of laws and penalties have no more succeeded in outlawing gambling than in outlawing war.

Why men want to bet—and women, too—is perhaps for the behaviorist psychologist to analyze, and I can tell you beforehand that whatever he says is a guess, because nobody knows. I once watched a gang of women at that exceedingly dull game, bingo. It is pure gambling, involving no skill. It is therefore a stupid operation.

Gambling is apparently a human trait and if the bull insists upon taking advantage of our weaknesses, he naturally must suffer the consequences. If the bull is such a wonder, why does he not clip off the ears of the matador and wear them on the tip of his tail?

The person who can answer that one can explain the great theological riddle of why man is different from all else in nature—so different that he can, on a hot day, when the temperature outside is 102 and up in the thousands in this room, write this silly article which no bull could do no matter how sired.

Ike Has Sensible Attitude About Second Term

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower is adopting a sensible attitude toward the question of whether or not he should accept renomination next year—and he is putting veteran politicians to shame by his approach.

For, as the President sees it—and he has hinted at it again and again in remarks to various groups—there is no indispensable man in America. He is right. If a major political party depends for success solely on the candidacy of one man, it may wind up with the discovery that the party's record is so weak that even a "popular" candidate can't win on it.

It is a strange myth which has wide currency that elections for the Presidency are won on the basis of the popularity of a man. If this were so, William Jennings Bryan should have won at least once out of the three times he ran. A half century ago he pulled the biggest crowds ever known, and there wasn't any radio or television in those days. He was beaten not because of his lack of personality or popular appeal but because his radical views were unacceptable to the majority of the voters.

Cox Was Popular

Few more popular figures have run for President than James Cox, three times Governor of Ohio, Democrat, and a great campaigner who drew large crowds from coast to coast. He was defeated in a landslide by Senator Harding, who spoke a few times from the front porch of his Ohio home in the summer and autumn of 1920 and never made a speech anywhere else in the whole campaign. It wasn't any lack of personality in Cox or Harding's "popularity" that swung the election, as the Ohio Senator who scarcely known throughout the country. It was the unpopularity of the record of the Democratic administration of President Wilson which turned the voters toward the Republican Party in such great numbers.

Mr. Eisenhower won in 1952 not because of his own popularity but because of the unpopularity of the Truman Administration on the issues known as "Communism, Korea and Corruption." This correspondent in preconvention days wrote that Eisenhower should be chosen as against Taft for the nomination on the theory that Taft couldn't win. But an examination of the election returns in November brought convincing evidence to the contrary—that Taft could have won in 1952, because it was primarily a negative verdict against the Truman Administration which the voters recorded. The peace and integrity issues were strong enough to overcome even the "prosperity" issue, as times were good in 1952.

Do 50,000,000 voters really come to know any Presidential candidate well enough to "like" him in a personal sense? They really like or dislike his views or the record he has made, and mostly they are swayed by three major issues — peace or the lack of it, prosperity or recession, integrity in public office or corruption.

President Eisenhower could win hands down, and so could any other Republican nominee if the election were held tomorrow. That's because, in the political sense, there's peace and there's prosperity and integrity in public office.

A year hence, if there's an economic recession and unemployment—as there was during the congressional campaign in 1954, when the Democrats won the House and tied the Senate—even President Eisenhower would have a hard time winning. Likewise, if the peace situation is messed up and the "breaks" go against the President, he could be in political trouble in 1956.

Show Inferiority Conflex

Mr. Eisenhower is right in being dubious about runing again. He might ask himself why, if he has made a good record, a successor Republican could not benefit by it? He might ask why, if there's peace and prosperity and integrity in office, any Republican shouldn't win. The Republican Party organization leaders think their task will be easier if Ike runs, but actually they are revealing an inferiority complex and a bit of defeatism in emphasizing so much their concern over whether Eisenhower is or isn't the candidate.

It has been said that Ike ought to have a good man in the Vice Presidency to succeed him if anything happens to him during a second term. Richard Nixon is probably better equipped to be President and better informed about the job than any Vice President who has succeeded a President in office in 100 years. He has, of course, earned the undying enmity of the Communists, as well as various left wingers, New Dealers and Fair Dealers, but they will be found in the minority no matter who the Republican candidates are—provided there's peace and prosperity and integrity in office for the present administration to crow about in 1956.

The Republican Party in its four years either will have established itself as strong enough to win both houses of Congress and the Presidency on the basis of the condition of the country internally and externally, or else the presence of seriously adverse conditions will defeat any Republican candidate, including Eisenhower, in 1956. That's why the Democrats are trying to exaggerate the Dixon-Yates controversy and why they would have made capital out of the Talbott case if it hadn't been disposed of promptly.

The biggest single fact about elections which is borne out by the record is that the electorate votes "against things" and, if they have nothing serious about which to protest, they either vote for the party in power or stay away from the polls and don't vote for their own party. That's what happened in England this year, when the "indispensable" Churchill didn't run and Eden, relatively untrained in domestic affairs, was victorious on a peace and prosperity platform, as millions of Socialist Labor Party voters stayed at home on election day.

Emotional Stress Aggravates Flush, Flash Ordeal

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Deilen

Gynecologists estimate that approximately 25 per cent of women undergoing the change of life have unpleasant symptoms. Of this group, one-half seek medical aid for a variety of symptoms.

When cessation of ovarian function is gradual, the system is able to adjust and discomfort is minimal. But if the ovaries stop functioning abruptly, the woman tends to experience hot flushes of the face, neck, and upper chest; in some, the entire body is involved.

Excessive perspiration often accompanies or follows these flashes. Some women also complain of tingling sensations, fatigue, nervousness, irritability, headache, or joint pains. All these manifestations are aggravated by emotional stress.

After all, the menopause comes at an age in which many changes are encountered, any one of which may lead to nervous manifestations. The mountain peak has been reached and the individual must start to descend. Financial problems and failure to fulfill a goal increase tension. Pregnancy at this age is unwanted yet there is an inherent drive to retain the reproductive function.

But care must be taken not to blame every disorder on the menopause. Obesity, hypertension, cancer, and arthritis are not caused by this process. These conditions are coincidental because they are more common in older than in the younger groups.

Flashes and flushes usually respond to hormones, whereas the other symptoms require sedatives and mental hygiene. Most hormones can be taken by mouth; injections rarely are necessary. These agents suppress the pituitary gland, which has a secondary effect upon ovarian tissue. They accumulate in the fatty tissues of the body from which they are liberated gradually.

Many authorities do not give these products while the menses continue. Furthermore in some women their use leads to bleeding. This is one objection to the treatment as the physician cannot know for certain, without investigation, whether bleeding is due to the therapy or to a lesion in the uterus.

Another argument against hormones is that continuous treatment prolongs the symptoms. Do these "shots" cause cancer? They do in laboratory animals but to my knowledge, not in humans. Nevertheless, many physicians administer the products with caution, particularly if there is a history of cancer in the family.

REPLY

Circulation through the liver. The portal system of veins includes all the veins that drain blood from stomach, intestines, spleen, pancreas, and gall bladder. The veins converge into one large vein (portal) that goes to the liver.

GOP Wants To Nominate Ike Again But He Is Determined Not To Run

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — What's happening inside the Republican high command today is almost identical with what happened inside the Democratic high command in 1944—with one important exception.

Like the Democratic bosses of a decade ago with FDR, Republican leaders today are determined to nominate Eisenhower again, regardless of age, health, or anything else.

In 1944, Franklin Roosevelt was engrossed with world affairs. The war was almost won. He was already concentrating on the problems of peace. Domestic affairs had been largely delegated to others. Some of them were not in good shape. Democratic leaders knew if they picked any other candidate, that if the election campaign were run on domestic issues, they would lose.

So a careful publicity campaign began not only to make Roosevelt the indispensable man but to conceal from the public the true facts about his health.

And in July 1944, as the Democrats gathered in Chicago to pick their candidate, Roosevelt started on a cruise up the West Coast to Alaska—obviously for his health. Simultaneously, Bob Hannegan, Ed Flynn of the Bronx, Mayor Ed Kelley of Chicago, and other party bosses, knowing that Roosevelt could not possibly last a full term, concentrated on the choice of their own man for vice president.

It was one of the most deceitful strategies ever put across on the voting public.

GOP Leaders Repeat

Today, Republican leaders are equally determined to nominate Dwight Eisenhower, in part for the same reasons. They know that any other Republican candidate would have a hard time winning. They know that on domestic issues—Dixon-Yates, farm prices, big business monopoly—the Republicans face a rough campaign. But on international issues they feel Eisenhower has struck a winning streak and can be promoted as the "indispensable man."

However, there is one big difference. Eisenhower so far hasn't bought the GOP line.

Unlike Roosevelt, who was willing to go along with party leaders, Eisenhower has been telling them for months that they had to pick new young leaders, that he was not going to run again.

On January 4, this column reported in detail on one of the private dinners at the White House at which Ike told his closest friends that they must begin building up new, "dynamic" men to replace him.

This writer has consistently reported—with one exception—that Ike did not want to run again. The exception was a column written from Geneva, where it seemed to this observer that Ike had hit his stride, was doing the things he liked best to do, and probably could be persuaded to run again on a "peace-in-our-time" platform.

However, the recent meeting he had with Senator George Bender and other Ohio Republicans indicates to the contrary and is more significant than the public realizes. For Senator Bender and friends did not want to tell newsmen what Ike had told them. They had to be prodded by the White House into making a statement.

George Bender is quite a friendly, loquacious fellow. He talks to the press at the drop of a hat. But he did not want to give newsmen the discouraging news that Ike considered age a detriment to running again.

And it was only when Ike's press officer intervened and asked the Ohioans to report what Ike had told them that they spilled the news that GOP leaders had heard privately, but hated to hear publicly. In brief, the President deliberately wanted published the fact that he would be the oldest president in history if re-elected and his feeling that the burden of the presidency erodes a man's health.

Health Exams For Candidates

Eisenhower deserves a lot of credit for being so frank with the American public. FDR was not so frank.

Ike's frankness coincides with sentiment in Congress to set up a medical board to examine all presidential candidates of both parties before the nominating conventions. The fact that Senator Taft, Republican, died shortly after an election which might have made him president; that Wendell Willkie, Republican, died shortly after a nominating convention which might have picked him for a second time; and the fact that Franklin Roosevelt, Democrat, died just four months after taking the oath of office has spurred the idea of health examinations no matter who the candidate.

For the fact is, as Eisenhower indicated, that the presidency of the United States is the most physically crushing office in the world. And while the life span of the average American has increased, the life span of presidents has decreased under that crushing burden.

Over one-fifth of our presidents have died or been killed in office—seven in all—incidentally all being Republicans except Roosevelt. And the significant fact that they have been dying younger as this country has grown bigger and the strain of the most difficult job in the world has increased.

Only three presidents were as old as Eisenhower, when elected, two of them being generals. One, William Henry Harrison, lived one month after being elected. The other, General Zachary Taylor, lived little more than a year as president.

Taking the ages of the 33 past presidents, 60 per cent of them lived to the age of 66—which will be Eisenhower's age at the end of his first term.

In more recent years our presidents have died younger. Of the last 22 presidents, only 50 per cent have lived to the age of 66, while of the last 15 presidents, only 46 per cent have lived to the age Eisenhower will reach at the end of his first term.

These are the sobering facts Eisenhower has been considering, and one reason why he talked to Ohio Republicans so frankly about the erosion of age in the life of any man who occupies the White House.

Khrushchev's Position

By Stewart Alsop

MOSCOW

There is no question about it. The Soviet regime really is a dictatorship without a dictator, an authoritarian regime run on a committee system. This seems incredible when you first think about it. But it seems perfectly logical when you think about it a little more.

Joseph Stalin was a suspicious man by nature, paranoiac in his suspicions towards the end of his life. He had, moreover, every reason for knowing that a potential dictator is a dangerous man to have around. How logical, therefore, it is to suppose that Stalin would be careful to have around him men who were not potential dictators, men who were, indeed, congenital No. 2 men.

Remember, furthermore, that these congenital No. 2 men lived out their lives, while the old dictator still breathed, in perpetual fear of destruction at the hands of the secret police who were the instrument of the dictator's will. How further logical, therefore, to suppose the No. 2 men would share one mutual object — to smash the instrument of terror, to make sure that the secret police would never again place them in fear of their lives.

Facts Bear Out Theory

All the known facts fit this theory — the fact that Beria was shot, the fact that Malenkov was not shot, the fact that the secret police chief is now a career cop, responsible to the presidium as a whole rather than any single member.

The theory seems all the more convincing when you rub shoulders with the presidium members, which any Westerner in Moscow can do to his heart's content these days. For the present Soviet bosses look very much like the sort of men a suspicious old dictator, who wanted able men to serve him but who wanted no truck with potential rivals, might gather around him.

Saburov and Pervukhin look like brilliant technicians, which is what they undoubtedly are. Molotov may be the ablest of the lot, but he is essentially a technician too. Voroshilov is a handsome nonentity. Mikoyan and Kaganovich are tough, wily professional political operators, but they do not have the smell of supreme power about them. Nor does Bulganin, although Bulganin does have a certain air of authority, rather in the manner of a Southern colonel of the mint julep tradition.

Aside from the new men, that leaves Khruschev and Malenkov, the two most interesting figures in Russia today. At a recent Western reception, this reporter had a conversation lasting about 10 minutes with Khruschev. Khruschev grabbed my hand in both of his, and hung on like a vice for the whole 10 minutes. He went on at some length about how he had read what I had written about the Soviet Union; did not like it; but hoped that some day I would be able to find out the truth about the Soviet Union and tell the American people.

Could Sense His Quality

Alas, when I did my level best to get a real interview out of him, he immediately caught on, and smilingly blocked every effort. But at least this rather uncomfortably close contact made it possible to sense something of the quality of the man.

He is really a very ugly man indeed. He has tiny little eyes, and a big loose mouth, teeth copiously decorated with steel fillings, and a barrel-shaped figure. But he has enormous vitality, and the odd charm which great vitality imparts.

Because he looks so much like a peasant out of Tolstoy (crossed, perhaps with a mid-Western isolationist politician) and because he has been known to get publicly cock-eyed, there has been, in this reporter's view, a tendency to underestimate Khruschev. If he is a peasant, he is a remarkably shrewd peasant with an extraordinary talent for survival and a great taste for power.

Malenkov is an entirely different manner of man. All the Soviet rulers now smile constantly and with ferocious determination in the presence of Westerners. But whereas a grin comes easily to Khrushchev's lips, smiling is obviously a frightful effort to the saturnine Malenkov.

Perhaps recent experiences have made it difficult for Malenkov to smile easily. He is the living embodiment of what one Westerner here called "the first Soviet experiment in demotion instead of annihilation," and it is still not entirely certain that the experiment will succeed. Even so, some shrewd Western observers would bet on Malenkov rather than Khrushchev, because of his youth and unquestioned intelligence. But this reporter's instinctive feeling, for what it is worth, is that Malenkov is also essentially a technician and a No. 2 man.

I once watched a gang of women at that exceedingly dull game, bingo. It is pure gambling, involving no skill. It is therefore a stupid operation.

Gambling is apparently a human trait and if the bull insists upon taking advantage of our weaknesses, he naturally must suffer the consequences. If the bull is such a wonder, why does he not clip off the ears of the matador and wear them on the tip of his tail?

The person who can answer that one can explain the great theological riddle of why man is different from all else in nature—so different that he can, on a hot day, when the temperature outside is 102 and up in the thousands in this room, write this silly article which no bull could do no matter how sired.

Ike Has Sensible Attitude About Second Term

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower is adopting a sensible attitude toward the question of whether or not he should accept renomination next year—and he is putting veteran politicians to shame by his approach.

For, as the President sees it—and he has hinted at it again and again in remarks to various groups—there is no indispensable man in America. He is right. If a major political party depends for success solely on the candidacy of one man, it may wind up with the discovery that the party's record is so weak that even a "popular" candidate can't win on it.

It is a strange myth which has wide currency that elections for the Presidency are won on the basis of the popularity of a man. If this were so, William Jennings Bryan should have won at least once out of the three times he ran. A half century ago he pulled the biggest crowds ever known, and there wasn't any radio or television in those days. He was beaten not because of his lack of personality or popular appeal but because his radical views were unacceptable to the majority of the voters.

Cox Was Popular

Few more popular figures have run for President than James Cox, three times Governor of Ohio, Democrat, and a great campaigner who drew large crowds from coast to coast. He was defeated in a landslide by Senator Harding, who spoke a few times from the front porch of his Ohio home in the summer and autumn of 1920 and never made a speech anywhere else in the whole campaign. It wasn't any lack of personality in Cox or Harding's "popularity" that swung the election, as the Ohio Senator who scarcely known throughout the country. It was the unpopularity of the, record of the Democratic administration of President Wilson which turned the voters toward the Republican Party in such great numbers.

Mr. Eisenhower won in 1952 not because of his own popularity but because of the unpopularity of the Truman Administration on the issues known as "Communism, Korea and Corruption." This correspondent in preconvention days wrote that Eisenhower should be chosen as against Taft for the nomination on the theory that Taft couldn't win. But an examination of the election returns in November brought convincing evidence to the contrary—that Taft could have won in 1952, because it was primarily a negative verdict against the Truman Administration which the voters recorded. The peace and integrity issues were strong enough to overcome even the "prosperity" issue, as times were good in 1952.

Do 50,000,000 voters really come to know any Presidential candidate well enough to "like" him in a personal sense? They really like or dislike his views or the record he has made, and mostly they are swayed by three major issues — peace or the lack of it, prosperity or recession, integrity in public office or corruption.

President Eisenhower could win hands down, and so could any other Republican nominee if the election were held tomorrow. That's because, in the political sense, there's peace and there's prosperity and integrity in public office.

A year hence, if there's an economic recession and unemployment—as there was during the congressional campaign in 1954, when the Democrats won the House and tied the Senate—even President Eisenhower would have a hard time winning. Likewise, if the peace situation is messed up and the "breaks" go against the President, he could be in political trouble in 1956.

Show Inferiority Conflex

Mr. Eisenhower is right in being dubious about runing again. He might ask himself why, if he has made a good record, a successor Republican could not benefit by it? He might ask why, if there's peace and prosperity and integrity in office, any Republican shouldn't win. The Republican Party organization leaders think their task will be easier if Ike runs, but actually they are revealing an inferiority complex and a bit of defeatism in emphasizing so much their concern over whether Eisenhower is or isn't the candidate.

It has been said that Ike ought to have a good man in the Vice Presidency to succeed him if anything happens to him during a second term. Richard Nixon is probably better equipped to be President and better informed about the job than any Vice President who has succeeded a President in office in 100 years. He has, of course, earned the undying enmity of the Communists, as well as various left wingers, New Dealers and Fair Dealers, but they will be found in the minority no matter who the Republican candidates are—provided there's peace and prosperity and integrity in office for the present administration to crow about in 1956.

The Republican Party in its four years either will have established itself as strong enough to win both houses of Congress and the Presidency on the basis of the condition of the country internally and externally, or else the presence of seriously adverse conditions will defeat any Republican candidate, including Eisenhower, in 1956. That's why the Democrats are trying to exaggerate the Dixon-Yates controversy and why they would have made capital out of the Talbott case if it hadn't been disposed of promptly.

The biggest single fact about elections which is borne out by the record is that the electorate votes "against things" and, if they have nothing serious about which to protest, they either vote for the party in power or stay away from the polls and don't vote for their own party. That's what happened in England this year, when the "indispensable" Churchill didn't run and Eden, relatively untrained in domestic affairs, was victorious on a peace and prosperity platform, as millions of Socialist Labor Party voters stayed at home on election day.

Emotional Stress Aggravates Flush, Flash Ordeal

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Deilen

Gynecologists estimate that approximately 25 per cent of women undergoing the change of life have unpleasant symptoms. Of this group, one-half seek medical aid for a variety of symptoms.

When cessation of ovarian function is gradual, the system is able to adjust and discomfort is minimal. But if the ovaries stop functioning abruptly, the woman tends to experience hot flushes of the face, neck, and upper chest; in some, the entire body is involved.

Excessive perspiration often accompanies or follows these flashes. Some women also complain of tingling sensations, fatigue, nervousness, irritability, headache, or joint pains. All these manifestations are aggravated by emotional stress.

After all, the menopause comes at an age in which many changes are encountered, any one of which may lead to nervous manifestations. The mountain peak has been reached and the individual must start to descend. Financial problems and failure to fulfill a goal increase tension. Pregnancy at this age is unwanted yet there is an inherent drive to retain the reproductive function.

But care must be taken not to blame every disorder on the menopause. Obesity, hypertension, cancer, and arthritis are not caused by this process. These conditions are coincidental because they are more common in older than in the younger groups.

Flashes and flushes usually respond to hormones, whereas the other symptoms require sedatives and mental hygiene. Most hormones can be taken by mouth; injections rarely are necessary. These agents suppress the pituitary gland, which has a secondary effect upon ovarian tissue. They accumulate in the fatty tissues of the body from which they are liberated gradually.

Many authorities do not give these products while the menses continue. Furthermore in some women their use leads to bleeding. This is one objection to the treatment as the physician cannot know for certain, without investigation, whether bleeding is due to the therapy or to a lesion in the uterus.

Another argument against hormones is that continuous treatment prolongs the symptoms. Do these "shots" cause cancer? They do in laboratory animals but to my knowledge, not in humans. Nevertheless, many physicians administer the products with caution, particularly if there is a history of cancer in the family.

Circulation through the liver. The portal system of veins includes all the veins that drain blood from stomach, intestines, spleen, pancreas, and gall bladder. The veins converge into one large vein (portal) that goes to the liver.

An old Greek legend has it that the sun once heard some mere humans exclaiming about some very dark place they had discovered. The sun hastened to the exact spot they had described, and searched high and low, but could not even find the suspicion of a shadow.

The moral, of course, is that if you carry your own sunshine with you, there will be fewer dark places in your life.

GOP Wants To Nominate Ike Again But He Is Determined Not To Run

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — What's happening inside the Republican high command today is almost identical with what happened inside the Democratic high command in 1944—with one important exception.

Like the Democratic bosses of a decade ago with FDR, Republican leaders today are determined to nominate Eisenhower again, regardless of age, health, or anything else.

In 1944, Franklin Roosevelt was engrossed with world affairs. The war was almost won. He was already concentrating on the problems of peace. Domestic affairs had been largely delegated to others. Some of them were not in good shape. Democratic leaders knew if they picked any other candidate, that if the election campaign were run on domestic issues, they would lose.

So a careful publicity campaign began not only to make Roosevelt the indispensable man but to conceal from the public the true facts about his health.

And in July 1944, as the Democrats gathered in Chicago to pick their candidate, Roosevelt started on a cruise up the West Coast to Alaska—obviously for his health. Simultaneously, Bob Hannegan, Ed Flynn of the Bronx, Mayor Ed Kelley of Chicago, and other party bosses, knowing that Roosevelt could not possibly last a full term, concentrated on the choice of their own man for vice president.

It was one of the most deceitful strategies ever put across on the voting public.

GOP Leaders Repeat

Today, Republican leaders are equally determined to nominate Dwight Eisenhower, in part for the same reasons. They know that any other Republican candidate would have a hard time winning. They know that on domestic issues—Dixon-Yates, farm prices, big business monopoly—the Republicans face a rough campaign. But on international issues they feel Eisenhower has struck a winning streak and can be promoted as the "indispensable man."

However, there is one big difference. Eisenhower so far hasn't bought the GOP line.

Unlike Roosevelt, who was willing to go along with party leaders, Eisenhower has been telling them for months that they had to pick new young leaders, that he was not going to run again.

On January 4, this column reported in detail on one of the private dinners at the White House at which Ike told his closest friends that they must begin building up new, "dynamic" men to replace him.

This writer has consistently reported—with one exception—that Ike did not want to run again. The exception was a column written from Geneva, where it seemed to this observer that Ike had hit his stride, was doing the things he liked best to do, and probably could be persuaded to run again on a "peace-in-our-time" platform.

However, the recent meeting he had with Senator George Bender and other Ohio Republicans indicates to the contrary and is more significant than the public realizes. For Senator Bender and friends did not want to tell newsmen what Ike had told them. They had to be prodded by the White House into making a statement.

George Bender is quite a friendly, loquacious fellow. He talks to the press at the drop of a hat. But he did not want to give newsmen the discouraging news that Ike considered age a detriment to running again.

And it was only when Ike's press officer intervened and asked the Ohioans to report what Ike had told them that they spilled the news that GOP leaders had heard privately, but hated to hear publicly. In brief, the President deliberately wanted published the fact that he would be the oldest president in history if re-elected and his feeling that the burden of the presidency erodes a man's health.

Health Exams For Candidates

Eisenhower deserves a lot of credit for being so frank with the American public. FDR was not so frank.

Ike's frankness coincides with sentiment in Congress to set up a medical board to examine all presidential candidates of both parties before the nominating conventions. The fact that Senator Taft, Republican, died shortly after an election which might have made him president; that Wendell Willkie, Republican, died shortly after a nominating convention which might have picked him for a second time; and the fact that Franklin Roosevelt, Democrat, died just four months after taking the oath of office has spurred the idea of health examinations no matter who the candidate.

For the fact is, as Eisenhower indicated, that the presidency of the United States is the most physically crushing office in the world. And while the life span of the average American has increased, the life span of presidents has decreased under that crushing burden.

Over one-fifth of our presidents have died or been killed in office—seven in all—incidentally all being Republicans except Roosevelt. And the significant fact that they have been dying younger as this country has grown bigger and the strain of the most difficult job in the world has increased.

Only three presidents were as old as Eisenhower, when elected, two of them being generals. One, William Henry Harrison, lived one month after being elected. The other, General Zachary Taylor, lived little more than a year as president.

Taking the ages of the 33 past presidents, 60 per cent of them lived to the age of 66—which will be Eisenhower's age at the end of his first term.

In more recent years our presidents have died younger. Of the last 22 presidents, only 50 per cent have lived to the age of 66, while of the last 15 presidents, only 46 per cent have lived to the age Eisenhower will reach at the end of his first term.

These are the sobering facts Eisenhower has been considering, and one reason why he talked to Ohio Republicans so frankly about the erosion of age in the life of any man who occupies the White House.

Khrushchev's Position

By Stewart Alsop

MOSCOW

There is no question about it. The Soviet regime really is a dictatorship without a dictator, an authoritarian regime run on a committee system. This seems incredible when you first think about it. But it seems perfectly logical when you think about it a little more.

Joseph Stalin was a suspicious man by nature, paranoiac in his suspicions towards the end of his life. He had, moreover, every reason for knowing that a potential dictator is a dangerous man to have around. How logical, therefore, it is to suppose that Stalin would be careful to have around him men who were not potential dictators, men who were, indeed, congenital No. 2 men.

Remember, furthermore, that these congenital No. 2 men lived out their lives, while the old dictator still breathed, in perpetual fear of destruction at the hands of the secret police who were the instrument of the dictator's will. How further logical, therefore, to suppose the No. 2 men would share one mutual object — to smash the instrument of terror, to make sure that the secret police would never again place them in fear of their lives.

Facts Bear Out Theory

All the known facts fit this theory — the fact that Beria was shot, the fact that Malenkov was not shot, the fact that the secret police chief is now a career cop, responsible to the presidium as a whole rather than any single member.

The theory seems all the more convincing when you rub shoulders with the presidium members, which any Westerner in Moscow can do to his heart's content these days. For the present Soviet bosses look very much like the sort of men a suspicious old dictator, who wanted able men to serve him but who wanted no truck with potential rivals, might gather around him.

Saburov and Pervukhin look like brilliant technicians, which is what they undoubtedly are. Molotov may be the ablest of the lot, but he is essentially a technician too. Voroshilov is a handsome nonentity. Mikoyan and Kaganovich are tough, wily professional political operators, but they do not have the smell of supreme power about them. Nor does Bulganin, although Bulganin does have a certain air of authority, rather in the manner of a Southern colonel of the mint julep tradition.

Aside from the new men, that leaves Khruschev and Malenkov, the two most interesting figures in Russia today. At a recent Western reception, this reporter had a conversation lasting about 10 minutes with Khruschev. Khruschev grabbed my hand in both of his, and hung on like a vice for the whole 10 minutes. He went on at some length about how he had read what I had written about the Soviet Union; did not like it; but hoped that some day I would be able to find out the truth about the Soviet Union and tell the American people.

Could Sense His Quality

Alas, when I did my level best to get a real interview out of him, he immediately caught on, and smilingly blocked every effort. But at least this rather uncomfortably close contact made it possible to sense something of the quality of the man.

He is really a very ugly man indeed. He has tiny little eyes, and a big loose mouth, teeth copiously decorated with steel fillings, and a barrel-shaped figure. But he has enormous vitality, and the odd charm which great vitality imparts.

Because he looks so much like a peasant out of Tolstoy (crossed, perhaps with a mid-Western isolationist politician) and because he has been known to get publicly cock-eyed, there has been, in this reporter's view, a tendency to underestimate Khruschev. If he is a peasant, he is a remarkably shrewd peasant with an extraordinary talent for survival and a great taste for power.

Malenkov is an entirely different manner of man. All the Soviet rulers now smile constantly and with ferocious determination in the presence of Westerners. But whereas a grin comes easily to Khrushchev's lips, smiling is obviously a frightful effort to the saturnine Malenkov.

Perhaps recent experiences have made it difficult for Malenkov to smile easily. He is the living embodiment of what one Westerner here called "the first Soviet experiment in demotion instead of annihilation," and it is still not entirely certain that the experiment will succeed. Even so, some shrewd Western observers would bet on Malenkov rather than Khrushchev, because of his youth and unquestioned intelligence. But this reporter's instinctive feeling, for what it is worth, is that Malenkov is also essentially a technician and a No. 2 man.

Maryland 4-H Groups Meeting At College Park

1,500 Members Are Participating

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Aug. 10 (AP)—The almost 1,500 Maryland 4-H youngsters spending the week on the University of Maryland campus got reports today on projects which have taken some of their fellow club members on trips.

A panel headed by Roy Cassell, assistant extension agent for Frederick County, related the experiences of the Maryland delegation to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago last fall.

The four trip winners who reported on their Chicago doings were Howard Meredith of Wye Mills, Jeannette Holzapfel of Baltimore County, Clyde Bohn Jr. of Union Bridge and Johanna Magaha of Mt. Airy.

Joyce Riggs of Gaithersburg then related her experiences as international exchange visitor last summer in Belgium. She lived on a farm there for several weeks. Saying the project helped international understanding, cooperation and friendship, she urged fellow club members to "keep the spirit of peace always in your heart."

Tomorrow, after their morning classes in farm and home arts and a general assembly period, they will have the afternoon free for sight-seeing trips in Washington.

The annual dress revue, talent show, and tapping of new members for the 4-H All-Stars, an honor organization, will be on the Visitors' Day program Friday.

Norman was critically injured when a truck loaded with mine props wrecked at the intersection of Route 27 and Section 16, six miles north of Parsons.

Authorities said that Norman was taking a truck load of mine props to Philippi from his farm when the accident occurred. Trooper James Rightmire, of the Thomas State Police Detachment, said brakes on the vehicle apparently failed as it was driven down a grade about one mile from the Clover Run Bridge.

Trooper Rightmire said the truck crossed the bridge and ran head-on into an embankment along the highway and upward for some six feet. The impact pushed some of the logs over the cab of the truck which was crushed. Some of the props were hurled 80 feet.

Norman leaves his widow and two children.

Injuries Fatal To Tucker Co. Truck Driver

Jacob F. Norman Dies In Hospital

PARSONS—Jacob Francis Norman, 42, a trucker who resided near here, died yesterday at Tucker County Hospital of injuries sustained Monday in a highway accident. It was Tucker County's first fatality of 1955.

Norman was critically injured when a truck loaded with mine props wrecked at the intersection of Route 27 and Section 16, six miles north of Parsons.

Authorities said that Norman was taking a truck load of mine props to Philippi from his farm when the accident occurred. Trooper James Rightmire, of the Thomas State Police Detachment, said brakes on the vehicle apparently failed as it was driven down a grade about one mile from the Clover Run Bridge.

Trooper Rightmire said the truck crossed the bridge and ran head-on into an embankment along the highway and upward for some six feet. The impact pushed some of the logs over the cab of the truck which was crushed. Some of the props were hurled 80 feet.

Norman leaves his widow and two children.

The glamor of makeup need not end at the water's edge.

Secrets Of Charm
by John Robert Powers

Think of the times that moisture makes mayhem of your careful artistry in makeup — say when you're swimming or caught in the rain . . . or, even after a sad movie when lots of tears have been shed. Or, when a fast game of tennis causes perspiration to smudge your makeup.

When any of these things happen . . . whether you're a vacation girl or not, you may wish no one was there!

Long a secret of Hollywood makeup artists is this "magic" formula for waterproofing your makeup: First, smooth your favorite liquid foundation all over your face and throat with up and out strokes. Then apply a tiny bit of your liquid or cream rouge. Now, here is the point where you start waterproofing. Moister, one of those handy little quilted cotton squares that you buy in any drug store. Use cold water or your favorite skin lotion. Press lightly but firmly all over your face—moisture-setting your makeup.

Next press — don't rub — face powder on your face and throat with a dry cotton pad. Repeat lightly three times, then brush away excess with a fresh pad.

If you need a little eye makeup, etch your eyebrows with very light, feathery strokes with eye pencil. On the eyelashes use only a waterproof mascara. It won't smudge nor smear and will make the lashes look much thicker and longer — mascara the upper lashes only.

Now, once again, moisten a cotton pad and press it all over the face and eye area. Apply your most flattering lipstick with lipstick brush. Then blot with a damp pad.

Simple? And you will have a natural looking makeup and be able to face summer's dampest moments.

The glamor of makeup need not end at the water's edge.

Secrets Of Charm
by John Robert Powers

Think of the times that moisture makes mayhem of your careful artistry in makeup — say when you're swimming or caught in the rain . . . or, even after a sad movie when lots of tears have been shed. Or, when a fast game of tennis causes perspiration to smudge your makeup.

When any of these things happen . . . whether you're a vacation girl or not, you may wish no one was there!

Long a secret of Hollywood makeup artists is this "magic" formula for waterproofing your makeup: First, smooth your favorite liquid foundation all over your face and throat with up and out strokes. Then apply a tiny bit of your liquid or cream rouge. Now, here is the point where you start waterproofing. Moister, one of those handy little quilted cotton squares that you buy in any drug store. Use cold water or your favorite skin lotion. Press lightly but firmly all over your face—moisture-setting your makeup.

Next press — don't rub — face powder on your face and throat with a dry cotton pad. Repeat lightly three times, then brush away excess with a fresh pad.

If you need a little eye makeup, etch your eyebrows with very light, feathery strokes with eye pencil. On the eyelashes use only a waterproof mascara. It won't smudge nor smear and will make the lashes look much thicker and longer — mascara the upper lashes only.

Now, once again, moisten a cotton pad and press it all over the face and eye area. Apply your most flattering lipstick with lipstick brush. Then blot with a damp pad.

Simple? And you will have a natural looking makeup and be able to face summer's dampest moments.

Yankees Edge Boston Red Sox In 13th Inning, 3 To 2

Larsen Bests Sullivan On Klaus' Error

Andy Carey Singles Home Winning Tally In 4th Extra Frame

NEW YORK, Aug. 10 (AP)—Big Don Larsen pitched the New York Yankees to a 13-inning victory over Boston's Frank Sullivan today, winning 3-2 on Andy Carey's single over Ted Williams' head with two out.

The tense struggle between two of the leading contenders for the American League pennant found Larsen retiring 18 consecutive batters from the time Jim Piersall singled to start the seventh until he walked Sullivan to open the 13th.

Billy Klaus, Boston's fine shortstop, fumbled Yogi Berra's roller to give the Yanks their opening in the 13th. After Joe Collins sacrificed, moving Berra to second, Manager Pinky Higgins ordered Sullivan to walk Irv Noren, with two righthanded batters coming up.

Hank Bauer broke his bat on a weak pop fly to Sullivan for the second out but Carey crossed up the strategy. With a count of one ball and no strikes, the Yankee third baseman drove a long liner over Williams' head for a game-winning single as Berra rode home free with an unearned run. Williams and the other Boston outfielders were playing in close for a possible play at the plate.

Sullivan and Larsen were complete masters of the occasion. In fact, Sullivan had a one-hitter for 7 1-3 innings until the Yanks put on a threat with Gil McDougald's single and a walk to Mickey Mantle in the eighth. Again in the 10th, the Yanks had two men on when McDougald and Berra singled but Sullivan shut the door.

Boston got to Larsen for two in the second on Grady Hatton's single with the bases loaded. Jackie Jensen had singled, Norm Zauchin walked and Sam White was hit by a pitched ball to fill 'em up.

Finks Is Back In Steeler Uniform After $100 Fine

FOREST GROVE, Ore., Aug. 10 (AP)—Quarterback Jimmy Finks was back in uniform and everything seemed harmonious today at the Pittsburgh Steelers training camp although Finks had been fined $100 by Coach Walt Kiesling.

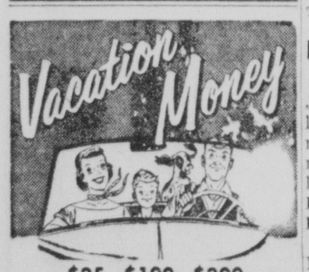

The "misconduct" fine was slapped on Finks yesterday. Kiesling said merely that Finks had missed a noon meeting of the squad. When the veteran quarterback showed up on the practice field Kiesling ordered him to leave and Finks promptly showered, packed his bags and made plans to fly to Pittsburgh.

A little later Finks unpacked and said he would stay with the squad. He had no further comment and Kiesling said today he expected Finks to start against San Francisco 49'ers in a National Football League exhibition in Sacramento, Calif., Saturday night.

Finks reportedly is one of the top paid players on the Steeler squad, drawing about $1,000 a game.

"World" Golf Tourney Begins Today In Chicago

105 Pros To Vie For $50,000 Prize

CHICAGO, Aug. 10 (AP) — Golf's money-hungry pros had stars in their eyes today as they brought their games up to a peak for the start of their biggest treasure hunt—the "World" tourney at Tam O'Shanter.

A field of 105, after warming up in the All-American meet last week and sharpening up in practices the last two days, will start the first leg of a 72-hole stampede tomorrow for this winning bonanza:

Fifty thousand dollars in cash, a contract for 55 exhibition dates at $1,000 each and all expenses, and an option of 50 more.

Second money is $10,000, third $5,000, fourth $3,000—and the payoff scales down to $100 through 72nd place.

Several of the better-known pros who had complained of various ailments were getting well quick.

Henry Ransom, who won the 1951 "World" in a playoff with Chick Harbert, said that his back trouble had worn off.

Tommy Bolt, eighth on the PGA money-winning list, also is back in business after licking a virus attack.

Bud Holscher of Apple Valley, Calif., 17th leading money-winner, is ready after withdrawing in the All-American with a badly blistered hand.

The only questionable pro starter was Jack Burke, who shared second place behind champion Bob Toski last year with Earl Stewart. Burke has been nursing a swollen right hand and shots of some miracle drugs have left his arm painfully sore.

Rains have freshened up the exacting 6,900-yard course, and with good weather forecast, par 72 appeared in for a beating. However, the rough has been allowed to grow and there is the usual relocating of pins on the tricky greens.

All-American and National PGA champion Doug Ford, as well as most other leading pros, believe a 72-hole total of 274—which would match Toski's take-all score last year—will be needed to win. This would be 14 under par but far short of the record 269 set by Byron Nelson in 1945.

The Pan-American race has been marked by tragedy in the past five years, with a total of 8 spectators killed and many injured.

Kiner's Grand Slam Homerun Sinks Detroit

Cleveland Defeats Tigers In 9th, 6-4

CLEVELAND, Aug. 10 (AP)—Ralph Kiner's home run with the bases loaded and none out in the last of the ninth inning tonight gave the Cleveland Indians a 6-4 victory over the Detroit Tigers. Kiner connected after Hoot Evers and Hank Foiles delivered pinch singles and Al Smith beat out a bunt.

Swinging at the first pitch offered by reliefer Al Aber, Kiner lofted a home run over the left-field fence, just beyond the reach of left fielder Bubba Phillips.

It was Kiner's 14th home run of the season, the 365th of his career and the four runs batted in gave him a major league total of 1,001.

The Tigers went ahead in the seventh on Earl Torgeson's home run off Mike Garcia with a man on base. The score at the time was 2-2.

The Tigers scored a run off Garcia in the fourth on a double by Torgeson and a single by Ray Boone. Al Rosen's homer in the last half of the inning tied the score.

Yankees Edge Boston Red Sox In 13th Inning, 3 To 2

Larsen Bests Sullivan On Klaus' Error

Andy Carey Singles Home Winning Tally In 4th Extra Frame

NEW YORK, Aug. 10 (AP)—Big Don Larsen pitched the New York Yankees to a 13-inning victory over Boston's Frank Sullivan today, winning 3-2 on Andy Carey's single over Ted Williams' head with two out.

The tense struggle between two of the leading contenders for the American League pennant found Larsen retiring 18 consecutive batters from the time Jim Piersall singled to start the seventh until he walked Sullivan to open the 13th.

Billy Klaus, Boston's fine shortstop, fumbled Yogi Berra's roller to give the Yanks their opening in the 13th. After Joe Collins sacrificed, moving Berra to second, Manager Pinky Higgins ordered Sullivan to walk Irv Noren, with two righthanded batters coming up.

Hank Bauer broke his bat on a weak pop fly to Sullivan for the second out but Carey crossed up the strategy. With a count of one ball and no strikes, the Yankee third baseman drove a long liner over Williams' head for a game-winning single as Berra rode home free with an unearned run. Williams and the other Boston outfielders were playing in close for a possible play at the plate.

Sullivan and Larsen were complete masters of the occasion. In fact, Sullivan had a one-hitter for 7 1-3 innings until the Yanks put on a threat with Gil McDougald's single and a walk to Mickey Mantle in the eighth. Again in the 10th, the Yanks had two men on when McDougald and Berra singled but Sullivan shut the door.

Boston got to Larsen for two in the second on Grady Hatton's single with the bases loaded. Jackie Jensen had singled, Norm Zauchin walked and Sam White was hit by a pitched ball to fill 'em up.

Finks Is Back In Steeler Uniform After $100 Fine

FOREST GROVE, Ore., Aug. 10 (AP)—Quarterback Jimmy Finks was back in uniform and everything seemed harmonious today at the Pittsburgh Steelers training camp although Finks had been fined $100 by Coach Walt Kiesling.

The "misconduct" fine was slapped on Finks yesterday. Kiesling said merely that Finks had missed a noon meeting of the squad. When the veteran quarterback showed up on the practice field Kiesling ordered him to leave and Finks promptly showered, packed his bags and made plans to fly to Pittsburgh.

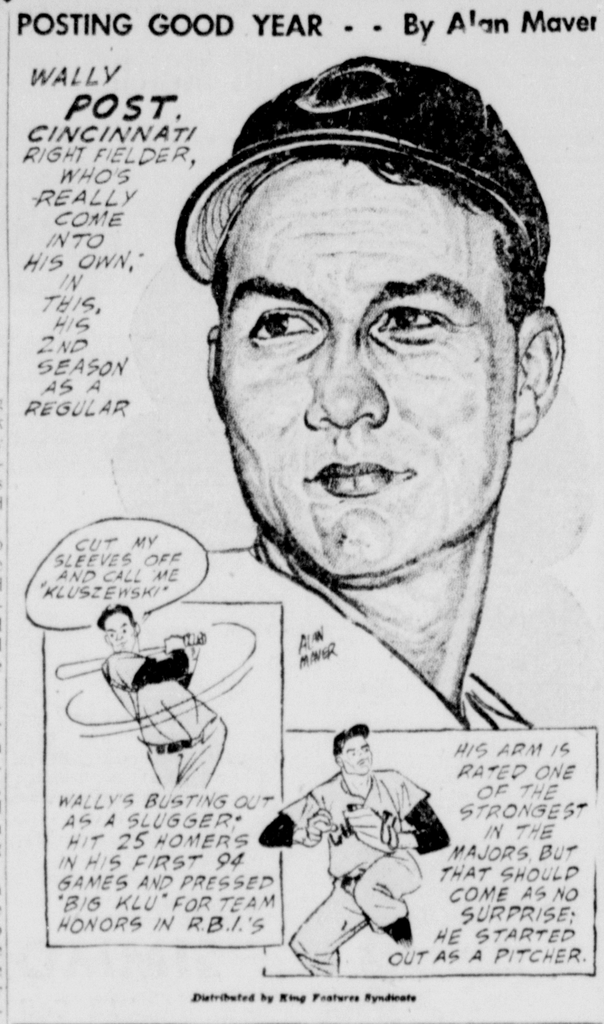

A little later Finks unpacked and said he would stay with the squad. He had no further comment and Kiesling said today he expected Finks to start against San Francisco 49'ers in a National Football League exhibition in Sacramento, Calif., Saturday night.

Finks reportedly is one of the top paid players on the Steeler squad, drawing about $1,000 a game.

Schute's, M'Gee's Battle To 3-3 Tie In City Contest

Schute's Roofers and McGee's Restaurant battled to a 10-inning 3-3 deadlock called at Campobello because of darkness yesterday, in the City Softball League.

In another loop contest Hygienic Sanitation utilized the three-hit pitching of Joe Niland to down Kelly Retail Store, 7-1, at Stitcher Field.

McGee's twice came from behind to knot the score against Schute's in their overtime thriller. Hansrote's single scored Warnick with the tying tally in the bottom of the seventh to make it 2-2 and send the game into extra frames. In the ninth after Schute's had taken a 3-2 lead on Tom McLuckie's single with the sacks loaded, George Harris doubled home the tying run in the bottom of the frame for McGee's.

At Stitcher Field, Hygienic hopped off to a big first inning lead with five runs on four walks, a sacrifice, hit batsman and a single by Don Madden. Norman Sell smacked a double for the victors. The scores:

Redlegs Sweep Twin Bill From Chicago Cubs

Banks Hits 38th In 7-2 And 6-3 Losses

CHICAGO, Aug. 10 (AP)—The Cincinnati Redlegs snapped a Chicago Cub six-game winning streak today, defeating the Bruins twice, 7-2 and 6-3, under a barrage of 26 hits.

The victories pulled the Redlegs up to two games of the fifth place Cubs.

Don Gross, recent 24-year-old graduate from Nashville, was credited with his first major league win in the first game although Buster Freeman pitched the final three and two-third innings in relief. Between them they held the Cubs to six hits.

Art Fowler pitched the distance for his eighth win in the second game, yielding seven hits. Warren Hacker, first of three Chicago pitchers, was the loser of his 10th game against as many victories.

The Redlegs hammered 14 hits in the opener and 12 in the second match. Ted Kluszewski smacked his 37th homer in the second game and Ernie Banks, Chicago shortstop, accounted for the first Cub run by blasting his 38th.

Cincinnati led, 3-2, in the opener before the Redlegs exploded for four runs in the seventh off Hal Jeffcoat, Paul Minner's successor.

Williams Won't Play This Season

NEW YORK, Aug. 10 (AP)—Davey Williams, New York Giants' second baseman, learned today he would play no more baseball this season because of a painful back condition and that his future as a player would depend on further treatment and observation.

The club received the report on Williams following several days of treatments at a medical center here. The 24-year-old Texan is to undergo another series of tests and treatments over the next week or 10 days, then probably will return to his home in Dallas.

"World" Golf Tourney Begins Today In Chicago

105 Pros To Vie For $50,000 Prize

CHICAGO, Aug. 10 (AP) — Golf's money-hungry pros had stars in their eyes today as they brought their games up to a peak for the start of their biggest treasure hunt—the "World" tourney at Tam O'Shanter.

A field of 105, after warming up in the All-American meet last week and sharpening up in practices the last two days, will start the first leg of a 72-hole stampede tomorrow for this winning bonanza:

Fifty thousand dollars in cash, a contract for 55 exhibition dates at $1,000 each and all expenses, and an option of 50 more.

Second money is $10,000, third $5,000, fourth $3,000—and the payoff scales down to $100 through 72nd place.

Several of the better-known pros who had complained of various ailments were getting well quick.

Henry Ransom, who won the 1951 "World" in a playoff with Chick Harbert, said that his back trouble had worn off.

Tommy Bolt, eighth on the PGA money-winning list, also is back in business after licking a virus attack.

Bud Holscher of Apple Valley, Calif., 17th leading money-winner, is ready after withdrawing in the All-American with a badly blistered hand.

The only questionable pro starter was Jack Burke, who shared second place behind champion Bob Toski last year with Earl Stewart. Burke has been nursing a swollen right hand and shots of some miracle drugs have left his arm painfully sore.

Rains have freshened up the exacting 6,900-yard course, and with good weather forecast, par 72 appeared in for a beating. However, the rough has been allowed to grow and there is the usual relocating of pins on the tricky greens.

All-American and National PGA champion Doug Ford, as well as most other leading pros, believe a 72-hole total of 274—which would match Toski's take-all score last year—will be needed to win. This would be 14 under par but far short of the record 269 set by Byron Nelson in 1945.

Mexican Government Suspends Road Race

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 10 (INS)—The Mexican government has suspended the sixth annual Pan-American road race slated for Dec. 2-5 "until regulations give ample assurance of safety for spectators."

The government announcement said all auto races would be suspended on federal highways until such precautions are worked out.

The Pan-American race has been marked by tragedy in the past five years, with a total of 8 spectators killed and many injured.

New Net Threat

UNSEEDED at the start of the tourney, Sam Giammalva, 21-year-old netter from Houston, Tex., drew national attention when he ousted Vic Seixas and Kurt Nielsen on his way to the Eastern Grass courts title. Giammalva trimmed Gil Shea of Los Angeles in the final. (International)

Junie Perry Hurls One-Hit Contest

GRANTSVILLE, Aug. 10 — Grantsville backed the one-hit pitching of Junie Perry and John Franks with a 14-hit assault against three Barrelville hurlers to increase its Pen Mar Baseball League lead to a full game here today, winning 12-1.

Perry, who allowed the only Barrelville hit in the fifth when Meyers singled, struck out seven and contributed a homerun, triple and double to his winning cause, batting in three runs.

Frank took over in the seventh and hurled hitless ball the final three frames to preserve Perry's triumph. The win was the 19th in 24 starts for Grantsville. The score:

Kiner's Grand Slam Homerun Sinks Detroit

Cleveland Defeats Tigers In 9th, 6-4

CLEVELAND, Aug. 10 (AP)—Ralph Kiner's home run with the bases loaded and none out in the last of the ninth inning tonight gave the Cleveland Indians a 6-4 victory over the Detroit Tigers. Kiner connected after Hoot Evers and Hank Foiles delivered pinch singles and Al Smith beat out a bunt.

Swinging at the first pitch offered by reliefer Al Aber, Kiner lofted a home run over the left-field fence, just beyond the reach of left fielder Bubba Phillips.

It was Kiner's 14th home run of the season, the 365th of his career and the four runs batted in gave him a major league total of 1,001.

The Tigers went ahead in the seventh on Earl Torgeson's home run off Mike Garcia with a man on base. The score at the time was 2-2.

The Tigers scored a run off Garcia in the fourth on a double by Torgeson and a single by Ray Boone. Al Rosen's homer in the last half of the inning tied the score.

Leonard Ritchie Named Head Coach At Bruce High School

Mentor Quits Southern To Take Position

Penn State Graduate To Coach Basketball, Baseball And Soccer

Appointment of Leonard Emory Ritchie, 28, to the post of physical education instructor and coach of soccer, basketball and baseball at Bruce High School, Westernport, was announced yesterday by Richard T. Rizer, assistant superintendent of Allegany County public schools.

Ritchie comes to Bruce High School from Southern High School of Oakland where he taught physical education, served as baseball, basketball and soccer coach since 1953 and also assisted in coaching football. He resigned as a member of the Southern High faculty to accept the position at the Westernport school following the resignation of August (Augie) Eichhorn who left Bruce to work for the General Motors Corporation at Pontiac, Mich.

Eichhorn resigned at Bruce after coaching soccer, basketball and baseball teams there for four years. Augie made his coaching debut at Flintstone High School in 1950 and transferred to Bruce for the 1951-52 school term.

Graduated From Beall

A native of the Wright's Crossing near Frostburg, Ritchie was graduated from Beall High School in 1944. He earned his BS degree in physical education at Penn State College, now Penn State University, graduating at State College in 1949. He also took graduate work at the University of Scranton (Pa.) in 1952. He played baseball and soccer at Beall and at Penn State he played on the lacrosse team for three years.

Ritchie taught at Northern Wayne High School, Lakewood, Pa., four years and while there was director of athletics and coach of all sports. He transferred to Southern High School in 1953.

Ritchie's baseball team at Southern High in 1954 was undefeated, winning seven games. This season the Highlanders won five and lost four.

In two years as head baseball coach at Southern the Highlanders racked up a 12-4 record and had the only undefeated team in the area in 1954.

He was assistant basketball coach in 1952-53 to Dick Travis and assistant to Kyle Wilson who mentored the cagers in 1953-54. Ritchie took over the head reins in 1954 and established a 15-9 mark for his Highlander five last season. One of his most notable triumphs was a 56-48 triumph in the opening game over Coach Walter L. Bowers' Allegany High School Campers.

Bruce High School's new mentor is married and has one child. The Ritchies now reside in Oakland.

To Name Allegany Aide

Appointment of an assistant football coach at Allegany High School to succeed James A. Hosack, who resigned to join the faculty of Frostburg State Teachers College, will be announced today, according to Rizer.

All-Stars Set For Pro Game

Browns Are Favored In Friday Contest

CHICAGO, Aug. 10 (AP)—The College All-Stars today were as ready as three weeks' practice could make them for the National Football League champion Browns at Soldier Field Friday night.

Some 49 huskies who were the nation's best collegiate seniors last fall have responded well to the coaching of a professional staff and are in top shape.

The Browns are two-touchdown favorites to score a fifth straight pro triumph in the rivalry which has produced 13 victories for the play-for-pay forces against 6 collegiate verdicts and 2 ties.

Despite the 2 to 1 edge in the series. The NFL representatives never have won more than four in a row. The last All-Star conquest was a 17-7 decision in 1950 over the Philadelphia Eagles.

"Time has been short," said Head Coach Curly Lambeau of the All Stars, "but we'll be ready for the Browns. I think our scrimmage with the Chicago Cardinals gave the college boys a pretty good idea of what to expect from the pros—and what they have to do against the pros."

The All-Star melee with the Cards, resulting in a 9-6 collegiate advantage, was the first practice test against pro competition ever tried in the long series.

Senators, Red Sox Capture Playoffs In Dapper Dan Loop

The Senators and the Red Sox captured their second straight victories yesterday to enter the finals of the Dapper Dan Little League playoffs by downing the Pirates and Athletics respectively.

The Senators, pennant winners in the Dan Division swept their best of three series with the Pirates in two straight, winning yesterday at Penn Avenue field by an 8-6 score. The victors captured the first contest Monday, 4-1.

Younger had two hits and Dick Peck blasted a homerun to pace the Senators attack. The victors pushed over seven runs in the second inning to ice the contest. Big guns in the batting department for the Pirates were Whiteman with a double and single and Puffenberger with a homerun and triple and four RBIs.

Bob Reed, Jim Cox and Allan Stevenson each collected two hits to top the Red Sox barrage as they downed the Athletics for the second straight time, 12-5. The Sox also copped the opener Monday in the playoffs, 9-3. The Red Sox won the Dapper Division.

Reed had a single and double and three RBIs, Cox a single and triple and Stevenson and homerun and single. Davis' double, Barnes' triple, and Donahue's homerun were the big blows for the Athletics. The scores:

PIRATES	203 001—6	5	2
SENATORS	070 10x—8	6	1

Goss and Kean. Colbert and Mulligan.

ATHLETICS	011 102— 5	7	1
RED SOX	425 01x—12	8	4

Davis, Cross (3) and Cross, Clark (3). Rice and Reed.

Contest Rescheduled

The 7-7 tie contest between Stringtown and Mt. Savage in the County Softball League Tuesday has been rescheduled for today at 6:15 p. m. at Stringtown.

Colts Find Good Punter

Don Joyce Surprise To Coach Ewbank

WESTMINSTER, Md., Aug. 10 (AP)—It appeared today that the Baltimore Colts' long search for a punter may have ended on the person of defensive end Don Joyce who for the second straight day booted the ball consistently better than 40 yards.

One of his punts today traveled 70 yards. Joyce, who has been a tackle and end in the National Football League for four years, has never been used as a punter. But Coach Weeb Ewbank exclaimed after today's display:

"He sure can kick better than anybody we have around here and I'm going to have him do some on Saturday night when we play the Philadelphia Eagles at Hershey, Pa."

If Joyce doesn't fill the bill as a punter, then L. G. Dupre, formerly of Baylor, figures to get the assignment. Dupre, is now with the College All Stars and will do the kicking for the collegians in Friday night's meeting with the pro-champion Cleveland Browns.

U. S. Takes Golf Match

Win International Tourney 8½ To 3½

CHICAGO, Aug. 10 (AP) — United States golf pros swept 6 of 8 matches from their foreign colleagues today to win the two-day international team matches 8½ total points to 3½.

The home-bred shooters scored 2½ points to 1½ in yesterday's first round of alternate shot team competition. In today's windup of match-play singles, they piled up 6 points to 2.

Most lopsided victory was registered by 45-year-old Jimmy Demaret, the veteran whose game is rounding out to a peak for tomorrow's start of the "World" golf championship at Tam O'Shanter Country Club.

Demaret disposed of Stan Leonard, Vancouver, B. C., 5 and 4, he was three-under-par for the 14 holes required.

The most sensational finish was fashioned by Doug Ford, All-American and National PGA champion. He downed Roberto de Vicenzo of Mexico City 1-up with a 40-foot birdie 3 putt on the last green. Ford posted a 36-33—69, three under the standard.

LaVale To Forfeit

Manager Bob Horn of the LaVale entry in the Bi State Pony League announced last night after his team lost to Barton, 28-3, to be eliminated from playoff contention that LaVale would forfeit its remaining games in the circuit to Cresaptown.

Moose Is Victor In Pony Contest

OAKLAND, August 10—Stout relief pitching by Wine who allowed only one run in three innings enabled the Moose team to edge Rotary, 7-6, in an Oakland Pony League contest here today.

Wine also collected two hits for the victors. Brinegar and Butler had two bingles apiece for Rotary. The score:

ROTARY	122 000 1—6	9	2
MOOSE	300 301 x—7	5	4

Malevic, Brinegar (4) and Stemple. Martin, Wine (5) and Kelly.

McMillan Misses 2nd Game For Redlegs

CHICAGO, Aug. 10 (AP)—Roy McMillan, Cincinnati's iron man shortstop who played 584 consecutive games without a miss, missed his second in the Redlegs' past three matches today when he did not play against the Chicago Cubs in the first game of a doubleheader.

McMillan is sidelined with a jammed thumb on his right hand. During his absence Rocky Bridges has been operating as the Cincinnati shortstop.

Leonard Ritchie Named Head Coach At Bruce High School

Mentor Quits Southern To Take Position

Penn State Graduate To Coach Basketball, Baseball And Soccer

Appointment of Leonard Emory Ritchie, 28, to the post of physical education instructor and coach of soccer, basketball and baseball at Bruce High School, Westernport, was announced yesterday by Richard T. Rizer, assistant superintendent of Allegany County public schools.

Ritchie comes to Bruce High School from Southern High School of Oakland where he taught physical education, served as baseball, basketball and soccer coach since 1953 and also assisted in coaching football. He resigned as a member of the Southern High faculty to accept the position at the Westernport school following the resignation of August (Augie) Eichhorn who left Bruce to work for the General Motors Corporation at Pontiac, Mich.

Eichhorn resigned at Bruce after coaching soccer, basketball and baseball teams there for four years. Augie made his coaching debut at Flintstone High School in 1950 and transferred to Bruce for the 1951-52 school term.

Graduated From Beall

A native of the Wright's Crossing near Frostburg, Ritchie was graduated from Beall High School in 1944. He earned his BS degree in physical education at Penn State College, now Penn State University, graduating at State College in 1949. He also took graduate work at the University of Scranton (Pa.) in 1952. He played baseball and soccer at Beall and at Penn State he played on the lacrosse team for three years.

Ritchie taught at Northern Wayne High School, Lakewood, Pa., four years and while there was director of athletics and coach of all sports. He transferred to Southern High School in 1953.

Ritchie's baseball team at Southern High in 1954 was undefeated, winning seven games. This season the Highlanders won five and lost four.

In two years as head baseball coach at Southern the Highlanders racked up a 12-4 record and had the only undefeated team in the area in 1954.

He was assistant basketball coach in 1952-53 to Dick Travis and assistant to Kyle Wilson who mentored the cagers in 1953-54. Ritchie took over the head reins in 1954 and established a 15-9 mark for his Highlander five last season. One of his most notable triumphs was a 56-48 triumph in the opening game over Coach Walter L. Bowers' Allegany High School Campers.

Bruce High School's new mentor is married and has one child. The Ritchies now reside in Oakland.

To Name Allegany Aide

Appointment of an assistant football coach at Allegany High School to succeed James A. Hosack, who resigned to join the faculty of Frostburg State Teachers College, will be announced today, according to Rizer.

All-Stars Set For Pro Game

Browns Are Favored In Friday Contest

CHICAGO, Aug. 10 (AP)—The College All-Stars today were as ready as three weeks' practice could make them for the National Football League champion Browns at Soldier Field Friday night.

Some 49 huskies who were the nation's best collegiate seniors last fall have responded well to the coaching of a professional staff and are in top shape.

The Browns are two-touchdown favorites to score a fifth straight pro triumph in the rivalry which has produced 13 victories for the play-for-pay forces against 6 collegiate verdicts and 2 ties.

Despite the 2 to 1 edge in the series, the NFL representatives never have won more than four in a row. The last All-Star conquest was a 17-7 decision in 1950 over the Philadelphia Eagles.

"Time has been short," said Head Coach Curly Lambeau of the All Stars, "but we'll be ready for the Browns. I think our scrimmage with the Chicago Cardinals gave the college boys a pretty good idea of what to expect from the pros—and what they have to do against the pros."

The All-Star melee with the Cards, resulting in a 9-6 collegiate advantage, was the first practice test against pro competition ever tried in the long series.

Senators, Red Sox Capture Playoffs In Dapper Dan Loop

The Senators and the Red Sox captured their second straight victories yesterday to enter the finals of the Dapper Dan Little League playoffs by downing the Pirates and Athletics respectively.

The Senators, pennant winners in the Dan Division swept their best of three series with the Pirates in two straight, winning yesterday at Penn Avenue field by an 8-6 score. The victors captured the first contest Monday, 4-1.

Younger had two hits and Dick Peck blasted a homerun to pace the Senators attack. The victors pushed over seven runs in the second inning to ice the contest. Big guns in the batting department for the Pirates were Whiteman with a double and single and Puffenberger with a homerun and triple and four RBIs.

Bob Reed, Jim Cox and Allan Stevenson each collected two hits to top the Red Sox barrage as they downed the Athletics for the second straight time, 12-5. The Sox also copped the opener Monday in the playoffs, 9-3. The Red Sox won the Dapper Division.

Reed had a single and double and three RBIs, Cox a single and triple and Stevenson and homerun and single. Davis' double, Barnes' triple, and Donahue's homerun were the big blows for the Athletics. The scores:

PIRATES	203 001—6	5	2

Goss and Kean. Colbert and Mulligan.

ATHLETICS	011 102— 5	7	1
RED SOX	425 01x—12	8	4

Davis, Cross (3) and Cross, Clark (3). Rice and Reed.

Contest Rescheduled

The 7-7 tie contest between Stringtown and Mt. Savage in the County Softball League Tuesday has been rescheduled for today at 6:15 p. m. at Stringtown.

Colts Find Good Punter

Don Joyce Surprise To Coach Ewbank

WESTMINSTER, Md., Aug. 10 (AP)—It appeared today that the Baltimore Colts' long search for a punter may have ended on the person of defensive end Don Joyce who for the second straight day booted the ball consistently better than 40 yards.

One of his punts today traveled 70 yards. Joyce, who has been a tackle and end in the National Football League for four years, has never been used as a punter. But Coach Weeb Ewbank exclaimed after today's display:

"He sure can kick better than anybody we have around here and I'm going to have him do some on Saturday night when we play the Philadelphia Eagles at Hershey, Pa."

If Joyce doesn't fill the bill as a punter, then L. G. Dupre, formerly of Baylor, figures to get the assignment. Dupre, is now with the College All Stars and will do the kicking for the collegians in Friday night's meeting with the pro-champion Cleveland Browns.

U. S. Takes Golf Match

Win International Tourney 8½ To 3½

CHICAGO, Aug. 10 (AP) — United States golf pros swept 6 of 8 matches from their foreign colleagues today to win the two-day international team matches 8½ total points to 3½.

The home-bred shooters scored 2½ points to 1½ in yesterday's first round of alternate shot team competition. In today's windup of match-play singles, they piled up 6 points to 2.

Most lopsided victory was registered by 45-year-old Jimmy Demaret, the veteran whose game is rounding out to a peak for tomorrow's start of the "World" golf championship at Tam O'Shanter Country Club.

Demaret disposed of Stan Leonard, Vancouver, B. C., 5 and 4, he was three-under-par for the 14 holes required.

The most sensational finish was fashioned by Doug Ford, All-American and National PGA champion. He downed Roberto de Vicenzo of Mexico City 1-up with a 40-foot birdie 3 putt on the last green. Ford posted a 36-33—69, three under the standard.

LaVale To Forfeit

Manager Bob Horn of the LaVale entry in the Bi State Pony League announced last night after his team lost to Barton, 28-3, to be eliminated from playoff contention that LaVale would forfeit its remaining games in the circuit to Cresaptown.

Moose Is Victor In Pony Contest

OAKLAND, August 10—Stout relief pitching by Wine who allowed only one run in three innings enabled the Moose team to edge Rotary, 7-6, in an Oakland Pony League contest here today.

Wine also collected two hits for the victors. Brinegar and Butler had two bingles apiece for Rotary. The score:

ROTARY	122 000 1—6	9	2

McMillan Misses 2nd Game For Redlegs

CHICAGO, Aug. 10 (AP)—Roy McMillan, Cincinnati's iron man shortstop who played 584 consecutive games without a miss, missed his second in the Redlegs' past three matches today when he did not play against the Chicago Cubs in the first game of a doubleheader.

McMillan is sidelined with a jammed thumb on his right hand. During his absence Rocky Bridges has been operating as the Cincinnati shortstop.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Dorothy Manners

(Substituting for vacationing Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 10 (INS) — Dorothy Malone literally bounces out of the arms of Liberace and into the embrace of Jeff Chandler, cinematically speaking, of course. The pretty gal from Texas reports on the Universal-International lot to join Jeff in "Pillars of the Sky" before her love scenes with Liberace in "Sincerely Yours" all out of the Warner lab.

Missy Malone is delighted that her role with Jeff is on the meanie side. She plays the sweetheart who jilts him and then leaves the husband to track her former love to the northwest.

Director George Marshall will have his cast and crew in Le Grande, Oregon, Monday morning to start the location shots.

Our boy, Bob Hope, breezes home over the weekend rarin' to go on "That Certain Feeling" (used to be called "King of Hearts") at Paramount. Bob has been enjoying a prolonged (for him) vacation in Portofino with Dolores and the children and now it's time to forget those lazy hours and get back to work.

Although Bob has never had any objections to his own singing, he's delighted that Panama and Frank have signed the one and only Pearl Bailey to sing the title song and also act in the movie.

In this very funny story, Bob plays a "ghost" cartoonist who actually draws the comic strip which brings fame and fortune to smoothie George Sanders.

Hollywood in shorts:

Van Johnson called on the Vikings to donate blood to his good friend, beloved musical comedy star, Elsie Janis, who underwent major surgery at a Beverly Hills clinic today. Van had his blood tested but it was not the right type.

When Ray Anthony's band plays Sioux Falls, S.D., he has a date to meet Mamie Van Doren's family.

Traffic Shelters Get Bicentennial Paint

Traffic signal shelters used by police on Baltimore Street have received a face-lifting in connection with the Fort Cumberland Bicentennial observance next week.

Chief R. Emmett Flynn said the stations were painted white to brighten up the thoroughfare for the celebration.

Throughout the city, water hydrants have been given another coat of orange and black paint.

Our boy, Bob Hope, breezes home over the weekend rarin' to go on "That Certain Feeling" (used to be called "King of Hearts") at Paramount. Bob has been enjoying a prolonged (for him) vacation in Portofino with Dolores and the children and now it's time to forget those lazy hours and get back to work.

Although Bob has never had any objections to his own singing, he's delighted that Panama and Frank have signed the one and only Pearl Bailey to sing the title song and also act in the movie.

In this very funny story, Bob plays a "ghost" cartoonist who actually draws the comic strip which brings fame and fortune to smoothie George Sanders.

Hollywood in shorts:

Van Johnson called on the Vikings to donate blood to his good friend, beloved musical comedy star, Elsie Janis, who underwent major surgery at a Beverly Hills clinic today. Van had his blood tested but it was not the right type.

When Ray Anthony's band plays Sioux Falls, S.D., he has a date to meet Mamie Van Doren's family.

Traffic Shelters Get Bicentennial Paint

Traffic signal shelters used by police on Baltimore Street have received a face-lifting in connection with the Fort Cumberland Bicentennial observance next week.

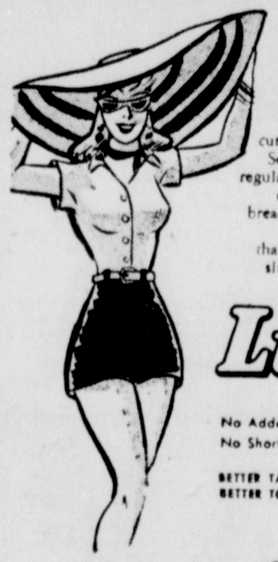

Chief R. Emmett Flynn said the stations were painted white to brighten up the thoroughfare for the celebration.

State To Seek Area Road Bids

BALTIMORE (AP) — The State Roads Commission has asked for bids on preliminary engineering work for relocating and improving U.S. 40 on the east slope of Martin's Mountain in Allegany County.

The initial project includes only sub-surface exploration of the rock formations at 14 locations. The information will be used by engineers drawing up detailed plans and specification for the construction work.

Maryland's long-range highway program calls for overhauling U.S. 40 from Cumberland east to the Washington County line. The plan calls for a third lane for slow vehicles on ascending grades.

Bids will be opened Aug. 30.

Contract Bridge

by Josephine Culbertson

HE BID TOO MUCH, BUT . . .

SOUTH was a little too vigorous in the bidding of the hand below, especially since he was vulnerable and the opponents were not. However, with a little help from an opponent, South made his doubled contract and took the rubber.

South dealer.

North-South vulnerable.

	♠ A J 5 ♥ J ♦ J 10 8 4 3 2 ♣ 9 6 2
♠ 10 ♥ A 9 7 5 ♦ K Q 6 ♣ A 10 7 4 3	N W E S	♠ Q 6 4 2 ♥ Q 10 8 3 2 ♦ 9 7 ♣ J 5
	♠ K 9 8 7 3 ♥ K 6 4 ♦ A 5 ♣ K Q 8

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Dble.	2 ♠	3 ♥
3 ♠	4 ♥	Pass	Pass
4 ♠	Dble. (final bid)

Later, discussing the hand South said that he had not really hoped to make four spades but had bid it as an offensive-defensive action against the four-heart contract which he felt might be cold.

West, defending against four spades, laid down the heart ace. When dummy appeared, he felt that it might be vital to prevent too much heart-ruffing on the board, so he shifted to the singleton ten of trumps. This was not a shrewd tactic, but at least East did what he could to protect himself by refusing to cover dummy's spade jack.

South could now be pretty sure about the distribution of trumps, but that knowledge alone would not put him over the top. He decided to try to scare West about the diamond suit and in that way perhaps get him to lay down the club ace. To that end, South cashed the ace of diamonds and led his diamond five.

West's reaction was exactly in line with South's hope. It is hard to imagine what it was that West feared, but at any rate he laid down the ace and another club, looking hopefully at his partner.

Now South had a real chance and he did not waste it. He ruffed his low heart with dummy's spade five, ruffed a diamond to establish the suit, and returned a trump to dummy's ace. This put East into a trump coup. All South had to do was to keep leading good diamonds until East ruffed, then ruff over him and draw his last trump.

State To Seek Area Road Bids

BALTIMORE (AP) — The State Roads Commission has asked for bids on preliminary engineering work for relocating and improving U.S. 40 on the east slope of Martin's Mountain in Allegany County.

The initial project includes only sub-surface exploration of the rock formations at 14 locations. The information will be used by engineers drawing up detailed plans and specification for the construction work.

Maryland's long-range highway program calls for overhauling U.S. 40 from Cumberland east to the Washington County line. The plan calls for a third lane for slow vehicles on ascending grades.

Bids will be opened Aug. 30.

Contract Bridge

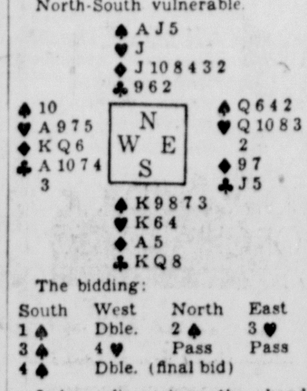

by Josephine Culbertson

HE BID TOO MUCH, BUT . . .

SOUTH was a little too vigorous in the bidding of the hand below, especially since he was vulnerable and the opponents were not. However, with a little help from an opponent, South made his doubled contract and took the rubber.

South dealer.

North-South vulnerable.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Dble.	2 ♠	3 ♥
3 ♠	4 ♥	Pass	Pass
4 ♠	Dble. (final bid)

Later, discussing the hand South said that he had not really hoped to make four spades but had bid it as an offensive-defensive action against the four-heart contract which he felt might be cold.

West, defending against four spades, laid down the heart ace. When dummy appeared, he felt that it might be vital to prevent too much heart-ruffing on the board, so he shifted to the singleton ten of trumps. This was not a shrewd tactic, but at least East did what he could to protect himself by refusing to cover dummy's spade jack.

South could now be pretty sure about the distribution of trumps, but that knowledge alone would not put him over the top. He decided to try to scare West about the diamond suit and in that way perhaps get him to lay down the club ace. To that end, South cashed the ace of diamonds and led his diamond five.

West's reaction was exactly in line with South's hope. It is hard to imagine what it was that West feared, but at any rate he laid down the ace and another club, looking hopefully at his partner.

Now South had a real chance and he did not waste it. He ruffed his low heart with dummy's spade five, ruffed a diamond to establish the suit, and returned a trump to dummy's ace. This put East into a trump coup. All South had to do was to keep leading good diamonds until East ruffed, then ruff over him and draw his last trump.

In Memoriam

In sacred and sincere tribute of love to the memory of my dear husband, Harry T. Parker, who departed this life three years ago today, August 11, 1952.

I seem to see in soft dim light,
A face I loved the best.
And think of him when the sun's last ray
Goes down in the far off West.
I miss you no less as the time passes on
Than I did on the day of your going,
For absence can never close the door of my heart,
And the lamp of my love is still glowing.
Your heart was the truest in all the wide world.
Your love the best to recall.
For no one on earth could take your place,
You are still the dearest of all.

Sadly missed by
his loving wife, ADA

In loving memory of our mother and daughter, Mrs. Leona F. Jackson, who passed away 6 years ago, August 10, 1949.

Somewhere back of the sunset,
Where loveliness never dies,
She lives in a land of glory,
With the blue and gold of the skies.

And we who have known and loved her,
Whose passing has brought us sad tears,
Will carry her memory always,
To brighten the drifting years.

Sadly missed by
Her Daughters & Mother

In Memoriam

In sacred and sincere tribute of love to the memory of my dear husband, Harry T. Parker, who departed this life three years ago today, August 11, 1952.

I seem to see in soft dim light,
A face I loved the best.
And think of him when the sun's last ray
Goes down in the far off West.
I miss you no less as the time passes on
Than I did on the day of your going,
For absence can never close the door of my heart,
And the lamp of my love is still glowing.
Your heart was the truest in all the wide world.
Your love the best to recall.
For no one on earth could take your place,
You are still the dearest of all.

Sadly missed by
his loving wife, ADA

In loving memory of our mother and daughter, Mrs. Leona F. Jackson, who passed away 6 years ago, August 10, 1949.

Somewhere back of the sunset,
Where loveliness never dies,
She lives in a land of glory,
With the blue and gold of the skies.

And we who have known and loved her,
Whose passing has brought us sad tears,
Will carry her memory always,
To brighten the drifting years.

Sadly missed by
Her Daughters & Mother

Clyde S. Slider and Catherine E. Slider, his wife, 811 Louisiana Avenue, Cumberland, Maryland, vs. Margaret E. McSorley, Springfield State Hospital, Sykesville, Maryland, and Roderick McSorley, address unknown.

No. 24183 Equity. In the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of the Bill of Complaint in the above cause is to obtain a decree for the partition and sale of the following described real estate:

ALL that certain lot, piece, or parcel of ground situate on the easterly side of Dorn Avenue, in the City of Cumberland, Allegany County, Maryland, and more particularly described as follows:

BEGINNING for said parcel at the end of the 38th line of a tract of land conveyed by Shriver and Stewart to Joseph Bretting; and running thence North 25 degrees East 400 feet; thence North 65 degrees West 100 feet to a stake in a drain; thence South 25 degrees West 428 feet to a stake in said 38th line of the original tract; thence with said line, South 84 degrees 80 minutes East 100 feet to the beginning.

EXCEPTING THEREFROM, all that certain parcel of ground that was conveyed to George Kriglein, Jr., by George Kriglein, Sr., by deed dated the 1st day of March, 1906, and recorded among the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland, in Liber No. 100, folio 39.

BEING a part of the same property that was conveyed to Anna Grichlein by Joseph Bretting and Catherine Bretting, his wife, by deed dated the 7th day of April, 1874, and recorded among said Land Records in Liber No. 43, folio 497. The said Anna Grichlein died intestate in the year, 1888, leaving as her present heirs-at-law the grantors named in this deed, together with Margaret E. McSorley, a daughter.

The Bill states that Clyde S. Slider and Catherine E. Slider, his wife, own an undivided, seven-eighth interest in said real estate and that Margaret E. McSorley owns a one-eighth undivided interest in said property and that Roderick McSorley is the husband of said Margaret E. McSorley; that the value of the said property is Thirty-Five Hundred ($3500.00) Dollars; that the said real estate is not susceptible to partition without material loss of injury to the parties hereto, and that to make division of said property it is necessary that it be sold and the proceeds divided among the parties according to their several interests.

It is, thereupon, this 20th day of July, 1955, ordered by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, sitting in Equity, that the Complainants, by causing a copy of this Order to be inserted in some newspaper published in said Allegany County, Maryland, once in each of four successive weeks before the 20th day of August, 1955, giving notice to the said absent Respondent of the substance of this Bill, warning him to appear in this Court in person or by solicitor, on or before the 6th day of September, 1955, to show cause, if any he have, why a decree ought not to be passed herein as prayed.

Clyde S. Slider and Catherine E. Slider, his wife, 811 Louisiana Avenue, Cumberland, Maryland, vs. Margaret E. McSorley, Springfield State Hospital, Sykesville, Maryland, and Roderick McSorley, address unknown.

No. 24183 Equity. In the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of the Bill of Complaint in the above cause is to obtain a decree for the partition and sale of the following described real estate:

ALL that certain lot, piece, or parcel of ground situate on the easterly side of Dorn Avenue, in the City of Cumberland, Allegany County, Maryland, and more particularly described as follows:

BEGINNING for said parcel at the end of the 38th line of a tract of land conveyed by Shriver and Stewart to Joseph Bretting; and running thence North 25 degrees East 400 feet; thence North 65 degrees West 100 feet to a stake in a drain; thence South 25 degrees West 424 feet to a stake in said 38th line of the original tract; thence with said line, South 84 degrees 80 minutes East 100 feet to the beginning.

EXCEPTING THEREFROM, all that certain parcel of ground that was conveyed to George Kriglein, Jr., by George Kriglein, Sr., by deed dated the 1st day of March, 1906, and recorded among the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland, in Liber No. 100, folio 39.

BEING a part of the same property that was conveyed to Anna Grichlein by Joseph Bretting and Catherine Bretting, his wife, by deed dated the 7th day of April, 1874, and recorded among said Land Records in Liber No. 43, folio 497. The said Anna Grichlein died intestate in the year, 1888, leaving as her present heirs-at-law the grantors named in this deed, together with Margaret E. McSorley, a daughter.

The Bill states that Clyde S. Slider and Catherine E. Slider, his wife, own an undivided, seven-eighth interest in said real estate and that Margaret E. McSorley owns a one-eighth undivided interest in said property and that Roderick McSorley is the husband of said Margaret E. McSorley; that the value of the said property is Thirty-Five Hundred ($3500.00) Dollars; that the said real estate is not susceptible to partition without material loss of injury to the parties hereto, and that to make division of said property it is necessary that it be sold and the proceeds divided among the parties according to their several interests.

It is, thereupon, this 20th day of July, 1955, ordered by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, sitting in Equity, that the Complainants, by causing a copy of this Order to be inserted in some newspaper published in said Allegany County, Maryland, once in each of four successive weeks before the 20th day of August, 1955, giving notice to the said absent Respondent of the substance of this Bill, warning him to appear in this Court in person or by solicitor, on or before the 6th day of September, 1955, to show cause, if any he have, why a decree ought not to be passed herein as prayed.

Legislative Council Approves Probe Of Roads Commission

Del. Robinson's Resolution Gets Favorable Vote

Could Spend $50,000 For Investigation

The Legislative Council, meeting immediately after arriving in Cumberland last night, by an 11-5 vote adopted a resolution calling for a thorough investigation of the State Roads Commission and its current 12-year roads program.

Action was taken on a resolution introduced by Delegate Jerome Robinson, Baltimore Democrat, calling upon the State Roads Commission to make a budgetary amendment to provide $25,000 of its funds as a start for the study or investigation. His resolution limited the total expense of the probe to $50,000.

After Robinson's resolution was adopted, Senator John Grason Turnbull (D - Baltimore County) moved that if the SRC fails to provide the necessary funds for the investigation the members of the Legislative Council waive their right to the $20 per diem pay to which they are entitled and that that money be spent for the start of the investigation. Senator Turnbull hurriedly estimated that this action might provide as much as $5,500.

Republicans Dissent

The senator's motion was carried by a party-line 13-3 vote with all three dissenting votes coming from the Republicans present.

Delegate Robinson contended that the Green Commission study of the SRC, which has been authorized by Governor Theodore R. McKeldin under a $19,000 budget, would be limited to "organizations and procedures." Robinson is a member of the commission.

Earlier, Attorney General C. Ferdinand Sybert had ruled that the Legislative Council has no way to get the money for such an inquiry unless Governor McKeldin approves. The budgetary amendment would need his approval.

No Accusations

Senator Turnbull said he was accusing no one connected with the SRC of moral turpitude but believed the investigation is called for because of the "unrest among the taxpayers" concerning the 12-year roads program. The study and/or investigation should either ferret out the wrongdoing and punish the guilty parties or find that there was no wrongdoing so that the SRC could get a clean bill of health and its employes would no longer be subject to suspicion, he said.

Voting in favor of Delegate Robinson's resolution were Senators Louis L. Goldstein, Joseph A. Bertorelli, Frederick C. Malkus Jr., Ralph L. Mason, Louis N. Phipps and Turnbull, and Delegates A. Gordon Boone, Robinson, Lloyd L. Simpkins and Perry O. Wilkinson. All are Democrats.

Opposing the resolution were the three Republicans present, Senator James B. Monroe and Delegates Fred C. Driscoll, of this city, and C. Ray Barnes, and two Baltimore City Democrats, Senator Anthony F. DiDomenico and Delegate J. Raymond Buffington Jr.

"Politics" Charged

The Republicans contended that the Green Commission already is empowered to do the proper investigation and that the investigation is being promoted for political motives. Senator DiDomenico argued against the resolution on the grounds that the State Senate had turned down the SRC investigation at the time it was in session and consequently it was improper for the Legislative Council to reverse that position. Delegate Buffington concurred with him.

Senator DiDomenico and Delegate Buffington did vote in favor of the Turnbull motion.

Four members of the Legislative Council were absent at last night's meeting at the Fort Cumberland Hotel. They were Senators Harry T. Phoebus and Jacob R. Ramsburg, both Republicans, and Delegate Melvin M. Derr, Republican, and Henry H. Hanna Jr., Democrat.

Legislators Confer Here

Kelly-Springfield Marks 35th Anniversary Today

The Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, one of Cumberland's major industries, today observes its 35th birthday.

Big feature of the day will be a birthday party at the Ali Ghan Country Club at noon. One of the main speakers will be P. W. Litchfield of Akron, Ohio, chairman of the board of Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company.

Another principal speaker will be D. Lindley Sloan, former chief judge of the Maryland Court of Appeals and former chief judge of the Fourth Judicial Circuit.

Other officials of the Goodyear Company among the 200 guests will be E. J. Thomas, president; R. S. Wilson, Russel DeYoung, R. P. Sinsmore, F. W. Climer, J. E. Mayl, and W. A. Hazlett, vice presidents.

A. E. Firestone, secretary; Z. C. Oseland, treasurer; H. W. Hillman, comptroller; W. S. Wolfe, factory manager; L. E. Judd, director of public relations; K. C. Zonsius, director of advertising.

F. J. Carter, director of personnel; L. E. Spencer, assistant to the president; L. A. Hurley, manager of interplant relations; R. T. Bete, development manager; F. W. Lohmann, sales manager's office, and Frank Baldwin and J. Dannemiller, assistants to the board.

The Cumberland Chamber of Commerce yesterday presented Kelly-Springfield with a scroll of appreciation for the contributions which the company has made to the program and welfare of the Cumberland area since its establishment.

C. William Gilchrist, president of the Chamber, presented the scroll to Edmund S. Burke, president of Kelly-Springfield. Gilchrist told Burke that the company has come to be known here as "a good employer, good negighbor, and good corporate citizen."

The scroll reads as follows:

"Industry is the life blood of the Cumberland area. It creates jobs, makes new opportunities possible, provides taxes, supports essential municipal services. Every resident, directly or indirectly, is dependent on the area's industries.

"The Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, one of the leading industries of the Cumberland area, has for 35 years contributed materially to its economic stability and has spread its good name throughout the globe.

"Over the years, the Cumberland area has felt justly proud of the

Sen. See Named To Committee

Senator Charles M. See was informed yesterday that he had been appointed to a subcommitee of the Legislative Council by Senator Louis Goldstein, council chairman.

The subcommittee is one to consider the regulation of oil and gas wells in Maryland, a matter that has been before the last several sessions of the General Assembly.

In a letter from Dr. Carl Everstine, secretary of the Legislative Council, informing Sen. See of his appointment, it was pointed out that the subcommittee of the Judiciary Committee was named originally on May 31 to study the problem further. Goldstein named See as an additional member.

A number of gas wells are in operation in Garrett County and some leases for gas rights have been obtained in Allegany County, See recalled.

Other members of the subcommittee are Sen. Anthony DiDomenico, Baltimore, chairman; Delegate Fred B. Driscoll, Allegany County; Sen. Clifford Friend, Garrett County, and Delegate Perry O. Wilkinson, Prince Georges County. Only See and Friend are not members of the Legislative Council.

Apple Tree Gets Seasons Mixed

An apple tree in the backyard of a local resident is either getting an early start for next year or apparently is a little confused with such warm weather which Cumberland has felt in the past several weeks.

J. Frederick Goss, 124 Utah Avenue, reports that a tree in his yard has blossomed out with two blooms. He said he noticed them the other night when arrangements were being made for a wiener roast. He and a neighbor, Charles Fisher, happened to glance up in the tree and saw the blossoms.

Baron Waives Jurisdiction In Assault Case

Following a hearing yesterday in Juvenile Court, Magistrate Morris Baron waived jurisdiction and turned over the case of a 15-year-old Pittsburgh youth accused of attacking an elderly Cumberland widow to State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher for prosecution in Circuit Court.

The boy is being held in Allegany County Infirmary detention quarters pending a check with Pennsylvania authorities and the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

If his past reveals a criminal record, the youth may be held for grand jury action, according to Baron. Fingerprints were sent to the FBI in Washington.

Police said the defendant admitted grabbing a 74-year-old woman in the Mt. View Drive section Monday night because the "devil was in my head."

The youth had been visiting his grandmother, who resides in the East Side.

Youth For Christ To Hear Minister

Rev. Ted J. Wehling Jr., pastor of First Baptist Church in Turtle Creek, will address the Youth For Christ Rally Saturday at 8 p. m. in the Salvation Army Citadel, 115 North Mechanic Street.

Rev. Wehling, a graduate of Wheaton College, Wheaton, Ill., and Northern Baptist Seminary, Chicago, has had experience as pastor, youth director, athletic coach, and recreational director, according to Dwight I. Evans, director.

Over 20 Dairymen Will Take Tour

Over 20 Allegany County dairymen have informed County Agent Joseph M. Steger that they will participate in the tour of C O. Miller's farm on the Vale Summit Road near Midland starting at 7:30 p. m. Friday.

The tour will be led by John P. Dietrich, dairy specialist at the University of Maryland. One of the features will be a cow who has 10 daughters and granddaughters

Legislators In For Whirlwind Tour Today

Will Hear Requests Of Several Groups

Members of the Legislative Council probably will feel as though they have been swept along by Hurricane Connie when they conclude a whirlwind schedule that has been outlined for them here today.

The 10 state senators and 10 delegates who comprise the council — the interim advisory group for the General Assembly—arrived about 8:30 last night at Queen City Station from Baltimore and spent their first evening here renewing old friendships and making some new ones.

Today's busy round of activities starts with breakfast at the Fort Cumberland Hotel, where the legislative leaders will be guests of the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce.

Oscar H. Lashley Jr., Jaycee president, is expected to outline the views of his organization at the breakfast meeting. The Jaycees are strongly in favor of compulsory automobile inspection and believe that this can best be accomplished through use of properly-licensed private garages.

The Jaycees also favor the creation of a state-wide industrial development agency but believe in withholding specific recommendations until after a special committee appointed by the Legislative Council can submit its report. Former Judge William C. Walsh of this city is a member of that three-man committee.

Another legislative field of interest to the local Jaycees concerns laws and regulations for drilling natural gas and oil wells. More than 17,000 acres of Allegany County land has been leased for oil and natural gas and if a quantity should be found in the eastern end of the county the Jaycees think it would be imperative to have that development done in an orderly manner and not by the "splatter-dash" method which they say has been apparent in Garrett County in recent years.

From the hotel, the Legislative Council will go to Cresaptown, and then to the bridge at Pinto to inspect the interstate span. Then they will view the Wiley Ford bridge, then inspect U.S. Route 40 from the tops of Martin's Polish, Green Ridge and Town Hill mountains.

The group will have lunch at Town Hill Hotel at 1:15 p. m. as guests of the Route 40 Association. They will return to Cumberland after lunch to inspect the County Infirmary, then go to City Hall for a public meeting at 3:30 p. m. with officials of the city and county governments.

The Mayor and Council of Cumberland will ask the legislators to support a $100,000 appropriation by the state for a new National Guard armory here.

The Board of Allegany County Commissioners will ask them to provide for the state's taking over the Luke and Pinto bridges over the Potomac.

Cumberland, in turn, will bring up the matter of the bridge over the Potomac linking Cumberland to Wiley Ford, which the city considers inadequate.

The legislators will have dinner at 6:30 p. m. at Ali Ghan Country Club as guests of the Chamber of Commerce and the South Cumberland Business Men's Association.

Rawlings Youth Sentenced After Wild Driving Spree

A Rawlings youth was sentenced to 60 days in Allegany County Jail yesterday by Trial Magistrate Donald W. Mason in default of $151.50 in fines levied for violation of two state motor vehicle laws, including reckless driving.

Mason also recommended that the driver's license of Richad E. Darr, 20, be revoked.

Darr, who has been employed in a Detroit, Mich., automobile manufacturing plant, was involved in a series of wild misadventures Tuesday evening which were climaxed with his arrest by Maryland State Troper Lindbergh Cook at 1:45 a. m. yesterday at his father's home.

According to Cumberland Police Officer Kenneth W. Morrissey, Darr was driving toward Cumberland on Route 220 in Cresaptown Tuesday afternoon when he was passed by an ambulance.

He followed the ambulance "just for a thrill," at a high rate of speed from Cresaptown through the city until he reached the corner of Hill Top Drive and Louisiana Avenue.

He continued west on Hill Top Drive, where a pedestrian criticized his speeding. Darr stopped his car, and returned to the corner of Hill Top Drive and Montgomery Avenue, where he accosted his critic.

The men began to tussle and Darr reportedly threatened his adversary with a pocket knife. When the fight ended, Darr returned to his car, drove to Oldtown Road, turned west to Virginia Avenue, and continued on through South Cumberland.

Meanwhile, somebody had called the police and said that one of the men in the tussle was brandishing a knife.

Officers Morrissey and Paul Dennison, patrolling the South End district, were called to check the disturbance. As they drove north on Virginia Avenue, they saw the Darr vehicle force another automobile off the road and approach them at a high rate of speed.

The policemen turned around and chased Darr through South Cumberland, across the West Virginia state line into Wiley Ford, where he forced another car from the road, and onto Route 28. They radioed West Virginia State Police barracks in Romney to set up a roadblock.

Darr, however, had raced through Short Gap, turned there on the road to Pinto, had driven to Cresaptown and had gone to Keyser with a friend.

New Fire Truck Displayed Here

A factory representaive of the Howe Fire Apparatus Company, Anderson, Ind. stopped over at Central Fire Station yesterday and showed the local firemen what the 1955 Howe Defender looks like.

William Shannon, of the Pittsburgh area, driver of the truck, said he came to Cumberland from Staunton, Va., where the new fire fighting apparatus was demonstrated at the state fire chiefs' convention. The 750-gallon dual pumper, with all its equipment, was expected to be driven to Beaver Falls, Pa., late yesterday evening.

Shannon pointed out that the truck probably will be demonstrated at the International Association of Fire Chiefs at Omaha, Neb., during October. Unlike most trucks which are painted red or white, the Howe Defender is painted a light blue.

Md. Employment Hit New Peak During June

Total Best Since December 1953

BALTIMORE, Aug. 10 (AP)—About 814,200 were at work on non-farm jobs in Maryland at the middle of June, the highest level of employment ever recorded in the state in that month, the Department of Employment Security reported today.

It also was the highest level reached since December of 1953. The all-time high was set at 820,100 in September of 1953.

None of the figures includes the self-employed, domestic servants, or the thousands of members of the armed forces stationed in Maryland.

The increase to 814,200 jobs at mid-June represented a gain of 10,900 over May and 23,000 over June of 1954.

Comparing June of 1955 with June of 1954, the only job categories showing fewer employes were fabricated metal products, machinery, chemicals and allied products, non-railroad transportation, and communications and utilities.

Only in the case of the manufacture of machinery and chemicals and allied products was the job shrinkage more than 5 per cent.

On the same comparison, a 28.4 per cent increase in jobs reflected the recent revival in the ailing ship and boat building industry in and around Baltimore.

The next largest gain, percentage-wise, was in textile mill employment.

Numerically, the biggest gain in any single category was the 5,500 increase in the number of jobs provided by State and local governments.

Federal employment in Maryland went up 300 jobs in the same period.

The other big gains included 5,200 in the primary metal industries, 3,900 in transportation equipment, and 5,000 in wholesale and retail trade.

Unemployment Pay Takes Sharp Drop

BALTIMORE, Aug. 10 (AP) — The State Department of Employment Security issued jobless benefits to only 12,724 Marylanders last week —the smallest number since one week in December of 1953.

The comparison doesn't take into consideration the last week of April, always low because it reflects the end of a benefit year when eligibility ends for many on the jobless rolls.

The 12,724 recipients collected a total of $297,036 in unemployment compensation last week.

In the first week of August of 1954, a total of $763,639 was paid out to 30,426 eligibles.

Dial Conversion Ceremonies Set For August 21

Mayor Eves Slated To Make First Call

Dial conversion ceremonies marking the completion of the $1,729,000 Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company project started here in March 1954, will be held at 12:05 a. m. Sunday, August 21, at the central office at 24 South Centre Street.

C. Walter Haschert Jr., local manager, last night said a number of local guests have been invited to attend, including Mayor Roy W. Eves, who will make the first call; Rev. Kenneth W. Grove, pastor of Emmanuel Methodist Church and president of the Cumberland Ministerial Association, and presidents of local service clubs.

Company officials from Baltimore who plan to be on hand for the ceremonies will include W. G. Morrel, vice president of the company and L. M. Smith, assistant vice president.

Will Tour Plant

Haschert said the guests will assemble at the telephone company office at 11 p. m. and a brief tour of the plant will be made beginning at 11:15 p. m. Hostesses will show the various groups the latest in dial telephone equipment prior to the conversion ceremonies.

Later the guests will assemble on the third floor of the building. Ten minutes before the switchover, Haschert added, certain checks will be made and all calls on the old manual board will be cleared to make way for the new system.

After the board has been cleared, William N. Keller Jr., dial conversion wire chief, and "cut-over captain," will give the signal. He will be on the third floor also and will have communication with everyone involved in the changeover.

Mayor To Make First Call

All blocking tools will be removed from the new equipment when Keller gives the signal, thus putting the dial system into service.

Mayor Eves has been asked to make the initial call during the ceremonies, Haschert pointed out. With the switchover, dial service will be in operation in Cumberland, Ridgeley and State Line, Pa.

Concurrent with the dial conversion at central office here, Flintstone, Mt. Savage, Wellersburg, and Lonaconing will be changing to the 2-5 numbering plan in order that many Cumberland customers can dial direct to those points.

The new exchange names for these areas can be obtained from the new directory which is scheduled to be delivered to customers next week.

Only Three Vote In Referendum

Only three of the 14 Allegany County wool growers who were mailed ballots late in July have cast their votes on the marketing agreement under which one cent per pound would be deducted from each grower's 1955 clip incentive payment.

Ballots must be returned to the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee office at 37 Washington Street on or before Friday, August 19.

If the agreement is favored by owners of at least two-thirds of the sheep and lambs owned by those voting, the fund so collected will be used for advertising and sales promotion programs to be conducted by the American Sheep Producers Council, Inc.

Deductions for the same purpose in an amount still to be determined but not exceeding one cent per pound also will be made from wool and mohair payments for the 1956, 1957 and 1958 clips. Deductions also will be made at the rate of five cents per hundredweights for the 1955 crop on lambs and yearlings moved to slaughter with the wool on.

Woman Overcome By Gas Is Jailed

Bessie Powell, 400 Decatur Street, who was overcome by gas last night in the bedroom of her second floor apartment, was arrested by City Police and will be taken to the State's Attorney's office for questioning.

Police received a call that a woman was overcome by gas at the address and Officers John G. Powell and Harry Iser investigated. When they arrived at the apartment, H. Lee Silcox who was also summoned for aid, was giving the woman artificial respiration.

The woman was reported to have closed the windows and doors of the apartment and turned on the gas in the kitchen. After being revived she was taken to Sacred Heart Hospital and then to City Jail.

Judge Says Couple Should Use Alley

After hearing testimony from about six witnesses, Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris said in Allegany County Circuit Court that Gilbert Schlereth and Sarah N. Schlereth, his wife, of Allegany Street, Lonaconing, ought to be able to use an alley leading from their lot to Allegany Street.

The Schlereths had brought the equity suit against William G. Schaidt and John Anderson, Dudley Street, Lonaconing. As a result of Judge Harris' oral opinion Anderson is expected to grade and widen the alley so the the Schlereths can use it.

Attorneys Edward J. Ryan and James S. Getty represented the complainants while Attorney Gorman E. Getty represented the defendants.

A written opinion is expected later.

Connie And Relatives

Hurricanes, Despite Study, Defy Accurate Prediction

Playing the role of a "Reluctant Dragon," there's one thing about Hurricane Connie . . . she surely is the big topic of conversation almost everywhere.

Weather forecasters and hurricane-hunters all along the Eastern Seaboard have been watching her closely for several days, and every means known to weather science is being utilized to determine what she will do and which way she might choose to go.

Yesterday in the Cumberland area, where temperatures remained low for the third day, compared to the long three-week heat wave, weather observers played their part in the game of "watching the weather."

Robert R. Golden, official weather observer here, noted that the barometer last evening was falling slowly, humidity was rising slowly, and winds had increased from about eight miles per hour to from eight to twelve miles per hour. This change could not be directly attributed to Connie, but a storm so big, brewing off the East Coast, was considered something of a factor.

There seems to be general agreement that a hurricane is "quite a blow" and something to be concerned about, but accurate and complete knowledge is more or less vague.

According to Weather Bureau, Air Force, Navy and Army data, hurricanes are large revolving storms accompanied by violent destructive winds, heavy rains, and high waves and tides.

Hurricanes originate in tropical areas and usually move from low to higher latitudes with increasing speed, size and intensity.

The winds whirl counterclockwise in the Northern Hemisphere within the storm. The highest speeds generated are in a circular band beginning at the edge of the "eye" and extending out an average of 20 to 30 miles or more. In this area velocities may reach 150 miles per hour with sudden gusts of much greater speeds.

At the center of all hurricanes there is a small cloudless core from five to 20 miles across. This core is called the "eye," since the sky over it is sometimes clear or only partly cloudy and the winds are usually very light.

The area of destructive winds along the path of a hurricane may be from 20 to 500 miles wide.

At 5 p. m. yesterday, the Miami Weather Bureau advised that Connie has drifted to the west northwest during the previous six hours and was located 200 miles southeast of Myrtle Beach, S. C. Maximum winds were estimated at 125 miles per hour over a small area near the center with hurricane winds outward to 100 miles to the north and east and 50 miles to the southwest.

Gales extended out 300 miles in the northeastern semicircle and 15 miles in the southwestern semicircle. Thus the greater part of the storm was on the side next the East Coast of the United States.

However, a slow movement was noted toward the northwest, and the Bureau ventured a prediction that for the next six to 12 hours (after 5 p. m.) there would be no marked change in weather conditions along the coast.

It was further noted that with the approach of a trough from the Middle Great Lakes region, a gradual but probably slowly accelerating movement towards the north northwest or the north could be expected early this morning.

Increasing high tides along the Middle Atlantic Coast north of Charleston, S. C., and eventually hurricane winds from Myrtle Beach, S. C., northward to the Virginia Capes, seemed the most accurate possibility.

Hurricane warnings are now displayed from Myrtle Beach to the Virginia capes and northeast storm warnings elsewhere from Savannah, Ga., to Block Island, with a hurricane alert northward to Cape Ann, Mass.

In the meantime, rough and tumble flights by hurricane tracking planes provide a close watch on Miss Connie. A single Air Force or Navy "hurricane hunter" plane may spend five hours or more exploring swirling gales spreading over 450 miles over the ocean and extending more than 50,000 feet high.

As soon as one plane emerges from the hurricane, another plunges into the storm. The pilots persist through blinding rain and jolting turbulence until they fly into the calm "eye" in the center.

Within the "eye" they determine their position. The center of the whirling mass usually can be pinpointed within a range of one to four miles.

Each plane thus radios this location to shore stations and the information is transmitted to Weather Bureau forecasters and other authorities all along the coast.

The planes plow up and down, in and out of the storm, in and out of the eye, charting wind speeds, barometric pressure, wave conditions, the size of the storm and other information.

Thus, Hurricane Connie has constant visitors. Thus she is watched. Her temperature, her temperament and her eccentricities are carefully charted and recorded.

In the meantime, weather from all other areas is being checked ashore, and an effort is being made to determine how one phase of

A Hurricane Is A Disaster; Here's What You Can Do

When a hurricane strikes, whether her name is Connie or something else, the toll of life, limb and property damage that nature wreaks, can be lessened by the exercise of a few precautions.

Here are some rules to follow:

Stay off the street. Serious injury—often fatalities—result from falling glass, signs and building cornices.

Don't touch wires, Downed power lines are a grave menace. Instruct children to stay away from all kinds of wires.

Movable awnings should be raised and secured, or if possible, removed entirely.

Shutters should be secured as quickly as possible. Delay may make impossible any chance to get them in proper position, thus resulting in damage.

Garage doors and other large doors should be closed and securely braced.

Loose material and movable objects, such as boards, garbage cans, porch furniture, wood piles and the like, should be placed where there is no danger of being

Weather

Cool was the word once again and brisk breezes with occasionally sunny skies hovered about the Cumberland area. The high thermometer reading was 82, the low was 64 degrees. At 7:30 the mercury measured 75. At 6 p. m., however, the humidity was a relatively high 69 per cent, indicating possible rain. Forecast for today is cloudy skies with showers, possibly continuing all day.

Legislative Council Approves Probe Of Roads Commission

Del. Robinson's Resolution Gets Favorable Vote

Could Spend $50,000 For Investigation

The Legislative Council, meeting immediately after arriving in Cumberland last night, by an 11-5 vote adopted a resolution calling for a thorough investigation of the State Roads Commission and its current 12-year roads program.

Action was taken on a resolution introduced by Delegate Jerome Robinson, Baltimore Democrat, calling upon the State Roads Commission to make a budgetary amendment to provide $25,000 of its funds as a start for the study or investigation. His resolution limited the total expense of the probe to $50,000.

After Robinson's resolution was adopted, Senator John Grason Turnbull (D-Baltimore County) moved that if the SRC fails to provide the necessary funds for the investigation the members of the Legislative Council waive their right to the $20 per diem pay to which they are entitled and that that money be spent for the start of the investigation. Senator Turnbull hurriedly estimated that this action might provide as much as $5,500.

Republicans Dissent

The senator's motion was carried by a party-line 13-3 vote with all three dissenting votes coming from the Republicans present.

Delegate Robinson contended that the Green Commission study of the SRC, which has been authorized by Governor Theodore R. McKeldin under a $19,000 budget, would be limited to "organizations and procedures." Robinson is a member of the commission.

Earlier, Attorney General C. Ferdinand Sybert had ruled that the Legislative Council has no way to get the money for such an inquiry unless Governor McKeldin approves. The budgetary amendment would need his approval.

No Accusations

Senator Turnbull said he was accusing no one connected with the SRC of moral turpitude but believed the investigation is called for because of the "unrest among the taxpayers" concerning the 12-year roads program. The study and/or investigation should either ferret out the wrongdoing and punish the guilty parties or find that there was no wrongdoing so that the SRC could get a clean bill of health and its employes would no longer be subject to suspicion, he said.

Voting in favor of Delegate Robinson's resolution were Senators Louis L. Goldstein, Joseph A. Bertorelli, Frederick C. Malkus Jr., Ralph L. Mason, Louis N. Phipps and Turnbull, and Delegates A. Gordon Boone, Robinson, Lloyd L. Simpkins and Perry O. Wilkinson. All are Democrats.

Opposing the resolution were the three Republicans present, Senator James B. Monroe and Delegates Fred C. Driscoll, of this city, and C. Ray Barnes, and two Baltimore City Democrats, Senator Anthony F. DiDomenico and Delegate J. Raymond Buffington Jr.

"Politics" Charged

The Republicans contended that the Green Commission already is empowered to do the proper investigation and that the investigation is being promoted for political motives. Senator DiDomenico argued against the resolution on the grounds that the State Senate had turned down the SRC investigation at the time it was in session and consequently it was improper for the Legislative Council to reverse that position. Delegate Buffington concurred with him.

Senator DiDomenico and Delegate Buffington did vote in favor of the Turnbull motion.

Four members of the Legislative Council were absent at last night's meeting at the Fort Cumberland Hotel. They were Senators Harry T. Phoebus and Jacob R. Ramsburg, both Republicans, and Delegate Melvin M. Derr, Republican, and Henry H. Hanna Jr., Democrat.

Kelly-Springfield Marks 35th Anniversary Today

The Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, one of Cumberland's major industries, today observes its 35th birthday.

Big feature of the day will be a birthday party at the Ali Ghan Country Club at noon. One of the main speakers will be P. W. Litchfield of Akron, Ohio, chairman of the board of Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company.

Another principal speaker will be D. Lindley Sloan, former chief judge of the Maryland Court of Appeals and former chief judge of the Fourth Judicial Circuit.

Other officials of the Goodyear Company among the 200 guests will be E. J. Thomas, president; R. S. Wilson, Russel DeYoung, R. P. Sinsmore, F. W. Climer, J. E. Mayl, and W. A. Hazlett, vice presidents.

A. E. Firestone, secretary; Z. C. Oseland, treasurer; H. W. Hillman, comptroller; W. S. Wolfe, factory manager; L. E. Judd, director of public relations; K. C. Zonsius, director of advertising.

F. J. Carter, director of personnel; L. E. Spencer, assistant to the president; L. A. Hurley, manager of interplant relations; R. T. Bete, development manager; F. W. Lohmann, sales manager's office, and Frank Baldwin and J. Dannemiller, assistants to the board.

The Cumberland Chamber of Commerce yesterday presented Kelly-Springfield with a scroll of appreciation for the contributions which the company has made to the program and welfare of the Cumberland area since its establishment.

C. William Gilchrist, president of the Chamber, presented the scroll to Edmund S. Burke, president of Kelly-Springfield. Gilchrist told Burke that the company has come to be known here as "a good employer, good negighbor, and good corporate citizen."

The scroll reads as follows:

"Industry is the life blood of the Cumberland area. It creates jobs, makes new opportunities possible, provides taxes, supports essential municipal services. Every resident, directly or indirectly, is dependent on the area's industries.

"The Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, one of the leading industries of the Cumberland area, has for 35 years contributed materially to its economic stability and has spread its good name throughout the globe.

"Over the years, the Cumberland area has felt justly proud of the

Sen. See Named To Committee

Senator Charles M. See was informed yesterday that he had been appointed to a subcommitee of the Legislative Council by Senator Louis Goldstein, council chairman.

The subcommittee is one to consider the regulation of oil and gas wells in Maryland, a matter that has been before the last several sessions of the General Assembly.

In a letter from Dr. Carl Everstine, secretary of the Legislative Council, informing Sen. See of his appointment, it was pointed out that the subcommittee of the Judiciary Committee was named originally on May 31 to study the problem further. Goldstein named See as an additional member.

A number of gas wells are in operation in Garrett County and some leases for gas rights have been obtained in Allegany County, See recalled.

Other members of the subcommittee are Sen. Anthony DiDominico, Baltimore, chairman; Delegate Fred B. Driscoll, Allegany County; Sen. Clifford Friend, Garrett County, and Delegate Perry O. Wilkinson, Prince Georges County. Only See and Friend are not members of the Legislative Council.

Apple Tree Gets Seasons Mixed

An apple tree in the backyard of a local resident is either getting an early start for next year or apparently is a little confused with such warm weather which Cumberland has felt in the past several weeks.

J. Frederick Goss, 124 Utah Avenue, reports that a tree in his yard has blossomed out with two blooms. He said he noticed them the other night when arrangements were being made for a wiener roast. He and a neighbor, Charles Fisher, happened to glance up in the tree and saw the blossoms.

Baron Waives Jurisdiction In Assault Case

Following a hearing yesterday in Juvenile Court, Magistrate Morris Baron waived jurisdiction and turned over the case of a 15-year-old Pittsburgh youth accused of attacking an elderly Cumberland widow to State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher for prosecution in Circuit Court.

The boy is being held in Allegany County Infirmary detention quarters pending a check with Pennsylvania authorities and the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

If his past reveals a criminal record, the youth may be held for grand jury action, according to Baron. Fingerprints were sent to the FBI in Washington.

Police said the defendant admitted grabbing a 74-year-old woman in the Mt. View Drive section Monday night because the "devil was in my head."

The youth had been visiting his grandmother, who resides in the East Side.

Youth For Christ To Hear Minister

Rev. Ted J. Wehling Jr., pastor of First Baptist Church in Turtle Creek, will address the Youth For Christ Rally Saturday at 8 p. m. in the Salvation Army Citadel, 115 North Mechanic Street.

Rev. Wehling, a graduate of Wheaton College, Wheaton, Ill., and Northern Baptist Seminary, Chicago, has had experience as pastor, youth director, athletic coach, and recreational director, according to Dwight I. Evans, director.

Over 20 Dairymen Will Take Tour

Over 20 Allegany County dairymen have informed County Agent Joseph M. Steger that they will participate in the tour of C. O. Miller's farm on the Vale Summit Road near Midland starting at 7:30 p. m. Friday.

The tour will be led by John P. Dietrich, dairy specialist at the University of Maryland. One of the features will be a cow who has 10 daughters and granddaughters

Legislators In For Whirlwind Tour Today

Will Hear Requests Of Several Groups

Members of the Legislative Council probably will feel as though they have been swept along by Hurricane Connie when they conclude a whirlwind schedule that has been outlined for them here today.

The 10 state senators and 10 delegates who comprise the council — the interim advisory group for the General Assembly—arrived about 8:30 last night at Queen City Station from Baltimore and spent their first evening here renewing old friendships and making some new ones.

Today's busy round of activities starts with breakfast at the Fort Cumberland Hotel, where the legislative leaders will be guests of the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce.

Oscar H. Lashley Jr., Jaycee president, is expected to outline the views of his organization at the breakfast meeting. The Jaycees are strongly in favor of compulsory automobile inspection and believe that this can best be accomplished through use of properly-licensed private garages.

The Jaycees also favor the creation of a state-wide industrial development agency but believe in withholding specific recommendations until after a special committee appointed by the Legislative Council can submit its report. Former Judge William C. Walsh of this city is a member of that three-man committee.

Another legislative field of interest to the local Jaycees concerns laws and regulations for drilling natural gas and oil wells. More than 17,000 acres of Allegany County land has been leased for oil and natural gas and if a quantity should be found in the eastern end of the county the Jaycees think it would be imperative to have that development done in an orderly manner and not by the "splatter-dash" method which they say has been apparent in Garrett County in recent years.

From the hotel, the Legislative Council will go to Cresaptown, and then to the bridge at Pinto to inspect the interstate span. Then they will view the Wiley Ford bridge, then inspect U.S. Route 40 from the tops of Martin's Polish, Green Ridge and Town Hill mountains.

The group will have lunch at Town Hill Hotel at 1:15 p. m. as guests of the Route 40 Association. They will return to Cumberland after lunch to inspect the County Infirmary, then go to City Hall for a public meeting at 3:30 p. m. with officials of the city and county governments.

The Mayor and Council of Cumberland will ask the legislators to support a $100,000 appropriation by the state for a new National Guard armory here.

The Board of Allegany County Commissioners will ask them to provide for the state's taking over the Luke and Pinto bridges over the Potomac.

Cumberland, in turn, will bring up the matter of the bridge over the Potomac linking Cumberland to Wiley Ford, which the city considers inadequate.

The legislators will have dinner at 6:30 p. m. at Ali Ghan Country Club as guests of the Chamber of Commerce and the South Cumberland Business Men's Association.

Rawlings Youth Sentenced After Wild Driving Spree

A Rawlings youth was sentenced to 60 days in Allegany County Jail yesterday by Trial Magistrate Donald W. Mason in default of $151.50 in fines levied for violation of two state motor vehicle laws, including reckless driving.

Mason also recommended that the driver's license of Richad E. Darr, 20, be revoked.

Darr, who has been employed in a Detroit, Mich., automobile manufacturing plant, was involved in a series of wild misadventures Tuesday evening which were climaxed with his arrest by Maryland State Troper Lindbergh Cook at 1:45 a. m. yesterday at his father's home.

According to Cumberland Police Officer Kenneth W. Morrissey, Darr was driving toward Cumberland on Route 220 in Cresaptown Tuesday afternoon when he was passed by an ambulance.

He followed the ambulance "just for a thrill," at a high rate of speed from Cresaptown through the city until he reached the corner of Hill Top Drive and Louisiana Avenue.

He continued west on Hill Top Drive, where a pedestrian criticized his speeding. Darr stopped his car, and returned to the corner of Hill Top Drive and Montgomery Avenue, where he accosted his critic.

The men began to tussle and Darr reportedly threatened his adversary with a pocket knife. When the fight ended, Darr returned to his car, drove to Oldtown Road, turned west to Virginia Avenue, and continued on through South Cumberland.

Meanwhile, somebody had called the police and said that one of the men in the tussle was brandishing a knife.

Officers Morrissey and Paul Dennison, patrolling the South End district, were called to check the disturbance. As they drove north on Virginia Avenue, they saw the Darr vehicle force another automobile off the road and approach them at a high rate of speed.

The policemen turned around and chased Darr through South Cumberland, across the West Virginia state line into Wiley Ford, where he forced another car from the road, and onto Route 28. They radioed West Virginia State Police barracks in Romney to set up a roadblock.

Darr, however, had raced through Short Gap, turned there on the road to Pinto, had driven to Cresaptown and had gone to Keyser with a friend.

Morrisey and Dennison continued south on Route 28 until they met the West Virginia police between Fort Ashby and Springfield. After checking various side roads in West Virginia, they notified Maryland State Police, who nabbed Darr at his father's residence yesterday.

The 750-gallon dual pumper, with all its equipment, was expected to be driven to Beaver Falls, Pa., late yesterday evening.

Shannon pointed out that the truck probably will be demonstrated at the International Association of Fire Chiefs at Omaha, Neb., during October. Unlike most trucks which are painted red or white, the Howe Defender is painted a light blue.

Unemployment Pay Takes Sharp Drop

BALTIMORE, Aug. 10 (AP) — The State Department of Employment Security issued jobless benefits to only 12,724 Marylanders last week —the smallest number since one week in December of 1953.

The comparison doesn't take into consideration the last week of April, always low because it reflects the end of a benefit year when eligibility ends for many on the jobless rolls.

The 12,724 recipients collected a total of $297,036 in unemployment compensation last week.

In the first week of August of 1954, a total of $763,639 was paid out to 30,426 eligibles.

Dial Conversion Ceremonies Set For August 21

Mayor Eves Slated To Make First Call

Dial conversion ceremonies marking the completion of the $1,729,000 Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company project started here in March 1954, will be held at 12:05 a. m. Sunday, August 21, at the central office at 24 South Centre Street.

C. Walter Haschert Jr., local manager, last night said a number of local guests have been invited to attend, including Mayor Roy W. Eves, who will make the first call; Rev. Kenneth W. Grove, pastor of Emmanuel Methodist Church and president of the Cumberland Ministerial Association, and presidents of local service clubs.

Company officials from Baltimore who plan to be on hand for the ceremonies will include W. G. Morrel, vice president of the company and L. M. Smith, assistant vice president.

Will Tour Plant

Haschert said the guests will assemble at the telephone company office at 11 p. m. and a brief tour of the plant will be made beginning at 11:15 p. m. Hostesses will show the various groups the latest in dial telephone equipment prior to the conversion ceremonies.

Later the guests will assemble on the third floor of the building. Ten minutes before the switchover, Haschert added, certain checks will be made and all calls on the old manual board will be cleared to make way for the new system.

After the board has been cleared, William N. Keller Jr., dial conversion wire chief, and "cut-over captain," will give the signal. He will be on the third floor also and will have communication with everyone involved in the change-over.

Mayor To Make First Call

All blocking tools will be removed from the new equipment when Keller gives the signal, thus putting the dial system into service.

Mayor Eves has been asked to make the initial call during the ceremonies, Haschert pointed out. With the switchover, dial service will be in operation in Cumberland, Ridgeley and State Line, Pa.

Concurrent with the dial conversion at central office here, Flintstone, Mt. Savage, Wellersburg, and Lonaconing will be changing to the 2-5 numbering plan in order that many Cumberland customers can dial direct to those points.

The new exchange names for these areas can be obtained from the new directory which is scheduled to be delivered to customers next week.

Only Three Vote In Referendum

Only three of the 14 Allegany County wool growers who were mailed ballots late in July have cast their votes on the marketing agreement under which one cent per pound would be deducted from each grower's 1955 clip incentive payment.

Ballots must be returned to the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee office at 37 Washington Street on or before Friday, August 19.

If the agreement is favored by owners of at least two-thirds of the sheep and lambs owned by those voting, the fund so collected will be used for advertising and sales promotion programs to be conducted by the American Sheep Producers Council, Inc.

Deductions for the same purpose in an amount still to be determined but not exceeding one cent per pound also will be made from wool and mohair payments for the 1956, 1957 and 1958 clips. Deductions also will be made at the rate of five cents per hundredweights for the 1955 crop on lambs and yearlings moved to slaughter with the wool on.

Woman Overcome By Gas Is Jailed

Bessie Powell, 400 Decatur Street, who was overcome by gas last night in the bedroom of her second floor apartment, was arrested by City Police and will be taken to the State's Attorney's office for questioning.

Police received a call that a woman was overcome by gas at the address and Officers John G. Powell and Harry Iser investigated. When they arrived at the apartment, H. Lee Silcox who was also summoned for aid, was giving the woman artificial respiration.

The woman was reported to have closed the windows and doors of the apartment and turned on the gas in the kitchen. After being revived she was taken to Sacred Heart Hospital and then to City Jail.

Judge Says Couple Should Use Alley

After hearing testimony from about six witnesses, Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris said in Allegany County Circuit Court that Gilbert Schlereth and Sarah N. Schlereth, his wife, of Allegany Street, Lonaconing, ought to be able to use an alley leading from their lot to Allegany Street.

The Schlereths had brought the equity suit against William G. Schaidt and John Anderson, Dudley Street, Lonaconing. As a result of Judge Harris' oral opinion Anderson is expected to grade and widen the alley so the the Schlereths can use it.

Attorneys Edward J. Ryan and James S. Getty represented the complainants while Attorney Gorman E. Getty represented the defendants.

A written opinion is expected later.

Connie And Relatives

Hurricanes, Despite Study, Defy Accurate Prediction

Playing the role of a "Reluctant Dragon," there's one thing about Hurricane Connie . . . she surely is the big topic of conversation almost everywhere.

Weather forecasters and hurricane-hunters all along the Eastern Seaboard have been watching her closely for several days, and every means known to weather science is being utilized to determine what she will do and which way she might choose to go.

Yesterday in the Cumberland area, where temperatures remained low for the third day, compared to the long three-week heat wave, weather observers played their part in the game of "watching the weather."

Robert R. Golden, official weather observer here, noted that the barometer last evening was falling slowly, humidity was rising slowly, and winds had increased from about eight miles per hour to from eight to twelve miles per hour. This change could not be directly attributed to Connie, but a storm so big, brewing off the East Coast, was considered something of a factor.

There seems to be general agreement that a hurricane is "quite a blow" and something to be concerned about, but accurate and complete knowledge is more or less vague.

According to Weather Bureau, Air Force, Navy and Army data, hurricanes are large revolving storms accompanied by violent destructive winds, heavy rains, and high waves and tides.

Hurricanes originate in tropical areas and usually move from low to higher latitudes with increasing speed, size and intensity.

The winds whirl counterclockwise in the Northern Hemisphere within the storm. The highest speeds generated are in a circular band beginning at the edge of the "eye" and extending out an average of 20 to 30 miles or more. In this area velocities may reach 150 miles per hour with sudden gusts of much greater speeds.

At the center of all hurricanes there is a small cloudless core from five to 20 miles across. This core is called the "eye," since the sky over it is sometimes clear or only partly cloudy and the winds are usually very light.

The area of destructive winds along the path of a hurricane may be from 20 to 500 miles wide.

At 5 p. m. yesterday, the Miami Weather Bureau advised that Connie has drifted to the west northwest during the previous six hours and was located 200 miles southeast of Myrtle Beach, S. C. Maximum winds were estimated at 125 miles per hour over a small area near the center with hurricane winds outward to 100 miles to the north and east and 50 miles to the southwest.

Gales extended out 300 miles in the northeastern semicircle and 15 miles in the southwestern semicircle. Thus the greater part of the storm was on the side next the East Coast of the United States.

However, a slow movement was noted toward the northwest, and the Bureau ventured a prediction that for the next six to 12 hours (after 5 p. m.) there would be no marked change in weather conditions along the coast.

It was further noted that with the approach of a trough from the Middle Great Lakes region, a gradual but probably slowly accelerating movement towards the north northwest or the north could be expected early this morning.

Increasing high tides along the Middle Atlantic Coast north of Charleston, S. C., and eventually hurricane winds from Myrtle Beach, S. C., northward to the Virginia Capes, seemed the most accurate possibility.

Hurricane warnings are now displayed from Myrtle Beach to the Virginia capes and northeast storm warnings elsewhere from Savannah, Ga., to Block Island, with a hurricane alert northward to Cape Ann, Mass.

In the meantime, rough and tumble flights by hurricane tracking planes provide a close watch on Miss Connie. A single Air Force or Navy "hurricane hunter" plane may spend five hours or more exploring swirling gales spreading over 450 miles over the ocean and extending more than 50,000 feet high.

As soon as one plane emerges from the hurricane, another plunges into the storm. The pilots persist through blinding rain and jolting turbulence until they fly into the calm "eye" in the center.

Within the "eye" they determine their position. The center of the whirling mass usually can be pinpointed within a range of one to four miles.

Each plane thus radios this location to shore stations and the information is transmitted to Weather Bureau forecasters and other authorities all along the coast.

The planes plow up and down, in and out of the storm, in and out of the eye, charting wind speeds, barometric pressure, wave conditions, the size of the storm and other information.

Thus, Hurricane Connie has constant visitors. Thus she is watched. Her temperature, her temperament and her eccentricities are carefully charted and recorded.

In the meantime, weather from all other areas is being checked ashore, and an effort is being made to determine how one phase of

A Hurricane Is A Disaster; Here's What You Can Do

When a hurricane strikes, whether her name is Connie or something else, the toll of life, limb and property damage that nature wreaks, can be lessened by the exercise of a few precautions.

Here are some rules to follow:

Stay off the street. Serious injury—often fatalities—result from falling glass, signs and building cornices.

Don't touch wires, Downed power lines are a grave menace. Instruct children to stay away from all kinds of wires.

Movable awnings should be raised and secured, or if possible, removed entirely.

Shutters should be secured as quickly as possible. Delay may make impossible any chance to get them in proper position, thus resulting in damage.

Garage doors and other large doors should be closed and securely braced.

Loose material and movable objects, such as boards, garbage cans, porch furniture, wood piles and the like, should be placed where there is no danger of being

Weather

Cool was the word once again and brisk breezes with occasionally sunny skies hovered about the Cumberland area. The high thermometer reading was 82, the low was 64 degrees. At 7:30 the mercury measured 75. At 6 p. m., however, the humidity was a relatively high 69 per cent, indicating possible rain. Forecast for today is cloudy skies with showers, possibly continuing all day.

Begins Bicentennial

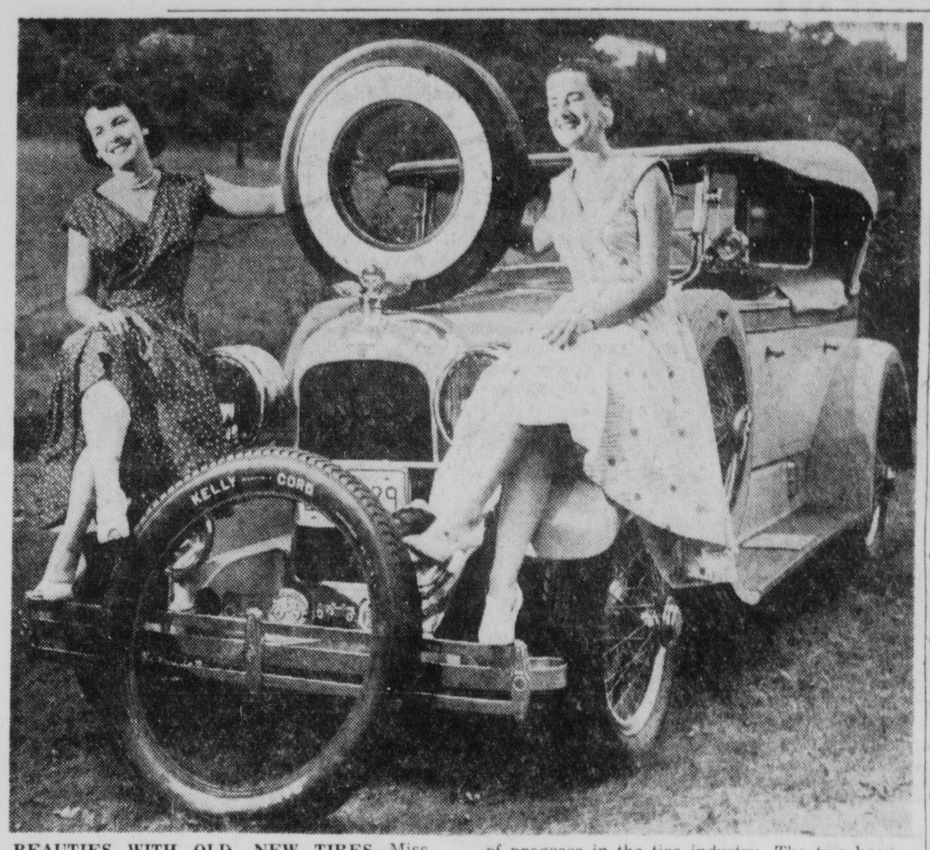

Employes of the big tire factory here are unofficially beginning this city's Bicentennial celebration. Preparations have been underway for weeks. The gala decorations at the Kelly-Springfield plant are surrounded by the city's own colorful decorations.

E. S. Burke, president of Kelly-Springfield, in a congratulatory message to employes said: "Teamwork and dedicated spirit led up to our present position of success in the tire industry. The fighting spirit of production line workers, salesmen, scientists, even floor sweepers, the men and women who make Kelly-Springfield, who are the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, spells the difference in this and just any tire factory."

Pledges Continued Effort

Calling on all employes to join in the anniversary celebration, Burke pledged continued effort on the part of management to do everything in its power to make Kelly-Springfield a better company for which to work and the city of Cumberland a better community in which to live.

The Cumberland plant has been in operation since 1920. It is located on a bend of the Potomac river at the edge of this historic city. Establishment of the modern tire plant marked beginning of diversified large industry in the old "Gateway to the West."

BEAUTIES WITH OLD, NEW TIRES—Miss Barbara Campbell, left, Cumberland's entry in the current Miss Maryland contest, and Miss Earlene Grim, both clerical workers at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant, lend a spark of beauty to a demonstration of 35 years of progress in the tire industry. Proclamation Draws Notice To Kelly Days

The Mayor and Council, in observance of the 35th anniversary of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant in Cumberland, this week passed a proclamation drawing the public's attention to the event.

The proclamation is as follows:

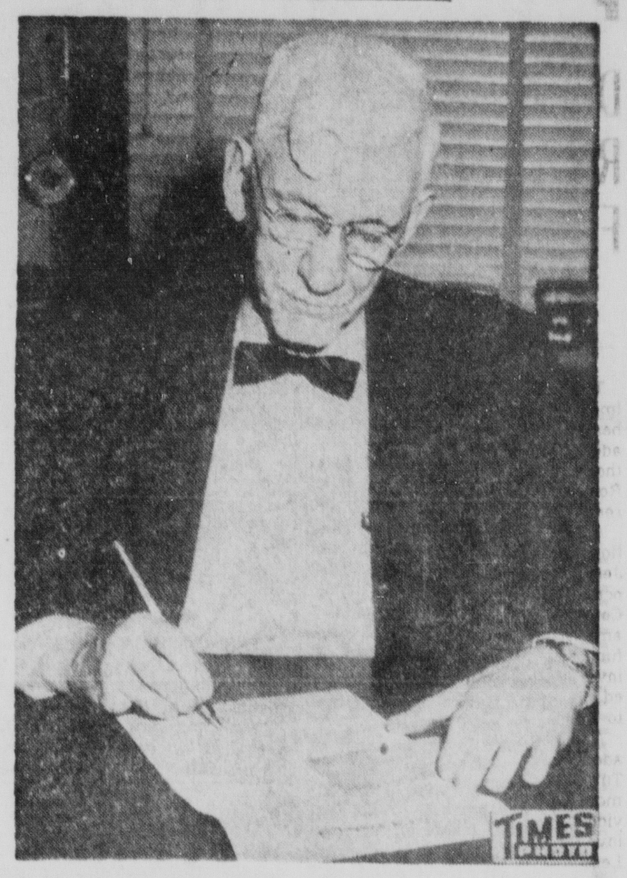

"WHEREAS the large growth of the City of Cumberland over the past thirty-five years has depended largely on the growth and expansion of its business enterprises; and

"WHEREAS, the cooperative efforts of our business ventures and their employees have contributed greatly to the cultural, economic and social life and progress of our city; and

"WHEREAS, the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company and its employees are celebrating the firm's 35th anniversary in the City of Cumberland; and

"WHEREAS, it is fitting in this, our Bicentennial Year, that we give due consideration to the great progress of our city through recognition of the business enterprises and the initiative, ingenuity and cooperation of both management and employees.

"NOW, THEREFORE, I, Roy W. Eves, Mayor of the City of Cumberland, Maryland, do hereby proclaim August 11th and 12th, 1955, "KELLY-SPRINGFIELD DAYS" in the City of Cumberland, and call upon all citizens to give recognition to the outstanding accomplishments of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company and its employees and that such recognition shall be extended all of the industries and businesses and employees of our city.

PROCLAMATION SIGNED — Mayor Roy W. Eves is shown as he signs the proclamation for Kelly-Springfield Days. He is using the same pen that Hugh A. McMullen, president, and George G. Young, secretary, of the Cumberland Development Company, used when they signed the contract for Kelly-Springfield to locate here. That was November 4, 1916.

The most unpopular letter in the alphabet these days is "H." In the weather report it stands for "hot" and "humid."

November 4, 1916 Proved To Be Momentous Meeting

The minutes of the most interesting meeting, of the Cumberland Development Company one month later after organizing, tells of the move to sign the contract.

The record is as follows:

"The proposed contract was submitted to the meeting and each director present stated that he had read said contract and was fully familiar with its contents.

"Mr. Scheuer stated that the only question which had not definitely been agreed upon was the question of the payment of the last two installments (each of $250,000) of the $750,000, which was to be paid to this company in consideration of the building of this company's plant at Cumberland. Mr. Scheuer further stated that he expects to be in Cumberland on Saturday, November 4, 1916, to discuss with the Cumberland Development Company the question of the payment of the said last two installments."

Hornless Dorset Sheep Produces In Carolinas

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP) — A new breed of hornless Dorset sheep has been developed by Prof. Lemuel Goode, North Carolina Experiment Station scientist.

With his horns, a Dorset is a picturesque animal with great spiraling horns.

The Dorset has great commercial possibilities in the South, Goode says, but never has been popular with Southern sheepmen because its horns make it difficult to manage.

WHAT CUMBERLAND MAKES.....MAKES CUMBERLAND!

"Kelly"...you've done a great job!

It is difficult to conceive of Cumberland without industry. Yet, without industry, Cumberland, to day, would be little more than it was 200 years ago — a trading post on the banks of the Potomac.

Trade and commerce gave Cumberland its breath. Industry supplied its life blood. The traders of the 18th century built the foundation. The industrialists of the 20th century completed the structure.

Among these were the men who 35 years ago brought the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company to Cumberland. They were men of enterprise, men who could create, plan and build. They built well. During the past 35 years, the industry has contributed materially to the economic stability of the Cumberland area and has spread its name throughout the globe.

Throughout the area there is a widespread feeling of pride in the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company and a deep appreciation for the many contributions the Company has made to the progress and welfare of the area. The Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, therefore, is pleased to express this appreciation on behalf of the area and to pay its tribute to a good neighbor, a good employer and a good corporate citizen.

The Cumberland area salutes the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company — its management and its workers — good citizens all, who exemplify the spirit of free enterprise and who, working together, prove that what Cumberland makes, makes Cumberland.

Mr. Scheuer further stated that he expects to be in Cumberland on Saturday, November 4, 1916, to discuss with the Cumberland Development Company the question of the payment of the said last two installments."

(The minutes continue to have the contract read into the minutes. At the conclusion, the record says: "The contract was then duly entered into by and between the president and secretary of the Cumberland Development Company and A. L. Scheuer of the tire company.")

Hornless Dorset Sheep Produces In Carolinas

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP) — A new breed of hornless Dorset sheep has been developed by Prof. Lemuel Goode, North Carolina Experiment Station scientist.

With his horns, a Dorset is a picturesque animal with great spiraling horns.

The Dorset has great commercial possibilities in the South, Goode says, but never has been popular with Southern sheepmen because its horns make it difficult to manage.

WHAT CUMBERLAND MAKES.....MAKES CUMBERLAND!

"Kelly"...you've done a great job!

It is difficult to conceive of Cumberland without industry. Yet, without industry, Cumberland, to day, would be little more than it was 200 years ago — a trading post on the banks of the Potomac.

Trade and commerce gave Cumberland its breath. Industry supplied its life blood. The traders of the 18th century built the foundation. The industrialists of the 20th century completed the structure.

Among these were the men who 35 years ago brought the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company to Cumberland. They were men of enterprise, men who could create, plan and build. They built well. During the past 35 years, the industry has contributed materially to the economic stability of the Cumberland area and has spread its name throughout the globe.

Throughout the area there is a widespread feeling of pride in the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company and a deep appreciation for the many contributions the Company has made to the progress and welfare of the area. The Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, therefore, is pleased to express this appreciation on behalf of the area and to pay its tribute to a good neighbor, a good employer and a good corporate citizen.

The Cumberland area salutes the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company — its management and its workers — good citizens all, who exemplify the spirit of free enterprise and who, working together, prove that what Cumberland makes, makes Cumberland.

Cumberland-Made Kelly Springfield Tires Distributed In 55 Countries Of World

Firm In Export Business Since Its Inception

Linguist Employed As Translator For Many-Tongued Orders

While Kelly-Springfield tires have been synonymous with quality in the United States, they have since the inception of the company held that rating on a world wide basis.

From the peaks of the Andes to the black jungles of the Belgian Congo, from the sands of the Saharra to the tundra of Iceland, Kelly is a household word.

Today, Kelly-Springfield Tire Company has active distributorships in 55 of the world's countries.

In fact, its export business is so vast, the company has on its staff a translator of the French, Portugese and Spanish languages, Alvino Gonzales.

A. A. Verner is the manager of export who has the uneviable job of selling Kelly Tires in foreign countries and must know the tire business in any language.

Since its organization in 1894 when Kelly-Springfield made carriage tires, the company has been in the export business.

For example, the presidents of France used the solid tires of Kelly on their carriages, and Kelly-Springfield was a name well known in Buckingham Palace

When pneumatic tires were made, the crowned heads of Europe had their Mercedes-Benz and Rolls-Royce limousines equipped with Kelly-Springfields.

Today, you can see Kelly-Springfields on everything from carts drawn by teams of 12 oxen in remote sections of Rhodesia in Africa, to the the latest model Diesel trucks in this country.

Kelly-Springfields can be seen on trucks for wild game hunting parties in the jungles of Africa; on trucks carrying the necessities of life to the remote hinterlands of Iran and Iraq.

Employes of the export and shipping departments at the Cumberland plant familiarly include in their day-to-day conversations the names of such far off, entracing spots in Syria, Madagascar, Sweden, Brazil, Chile, Holland, Greece, Siam,—to mention a few.

Kelly-Springfield, like several other local industries with export businesses, has done much to add an international flavor to the community life of Cumberland.

Cumberland Post Office and railroad personnel know Kelly's wide coverage of the earth. They daily deal with mailing slips addressed to the many far-off distributors.

Much of Kelly's crude rubber comes from Singapore and the Malay States and many of the tires produced here with this Far East latex wind up back in those spots.

Verner spends much time traveling from place to place, and in return can bring back to this city news of the world obtained first hand.

Several Cumberland people have wound up with intriguing foreign assignments with Kelly-Springfield. Among them is John White, field representative in Central and South America.

Opening Day Had 10,000 Viewing Plant

Looking into the files of the Times and Alleganian Company's papers, one can find a most vivid account of a proud populace viewing one of its major industries.

The account in the April 24, 1921, Cumberland Daily News was as follows:

"Cumberland passed inspection on the world's most modernly equipped tire-making industry Saturday when approximately 10,000 residents traversed the mammoth plant of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company as guests of the officials. With the formal inspection of the new buildings and the machinery which bring to this city and industry and plant second to none in the world, the gates of the enclosure were closed and visitors in the future will be admitted only by special passes.

"At 9 o'clock the gates were thrown open and the first of a continual stream of visitors were assembled in the garage building where each group gathered under the direction of a trained guide who escorted the party through the buildings and into every department, all of which were in operation turning out tires. Many finished products made during the day were placed in the stock rooms and even the operation of storing tires was shown and explained as the finishing process of many varied operations necessary in turning out the p.oduct.

"Throughout the day parties of visitors passed through the various departments and witnessed each and every operation. The time required for the trip through the many departments included in the large buildings consumed two hours and throughout the journey the visitors were held attentive by the explanation and the workings of the making of Kelly tires.

"During the afternoon the rush was small compared to the afternoon throngs which crowded the special buses and treaded the highways leading to the plant. More than 2,000 by actual count had made the tour during the forenoon inspection trips, but a veritable rush of tourists was on hand following the noon hour and guides were kept busy escorting new parties and explaining the work of the machinery . . ."

Appropriately, Kelly is opening its doors to the families of its employes on the occasion of its 35 years in Cumberland.

FIRST KELLY FACTORY — This two-story frame building in Springfield, Ohio, formerly used as a blacksmith's shop, was the scene of the manufacture of the first Kelly pneumatic tire. The boom in automobiles began after Kelly-Springfield Tire Company was organized in 1894 and the first pneumatic tire came off the Kelly molds around the turn of the century. Before the big expansion in Cumberland, Kelly-Springfield had plants in Akron, Wooster, Ohio, and Buffalo, N. Y.

Kelly-Springfield, Cumberland Growing Up Together

Since 1916, Cumberland and Kelly-Springfield Tire Company have grown together.

Ground was broken in 1917 when the population of Cumberland was a near 27,000. War conditions brought construction to a standstill and it was not until late in 1920 that the plant was ready to go.

A spectator could stand on Rose Hill in 1919 and 1920 and witness the growth of an industrial plant that has been an important factor of Cumberland's economic development and population increase.

In April of 1920 the framework of the plant rase up out of a field along the Potomac River that had previously been used for farm crops.

The general contractor was Hunkin-Cokey of Cleveland and construction workers from all over the east hit this "boom" town as it is known in the building trades.

Ten million bricks were used in the construction of the original plant along with 8,500 tons of steel.

Ten million feet of lumber and 100,000 cubic yards of concrete went into the buildings.

Materials used would have filled 5,672 railroad cars or a train 50 miles long!

It was an industrial facility unrivaled in the world in 1920. Still one of the most modern tire factories in the world, millions of Kelly-Springfield tires have been built by skilled employes from the Cumberland area.

From the economic standpoint, the greatest dreams of the city 35 years ago were accumulated in these facts. . . This plant had the potential of pouring a $750,000 payroll into the city.

But there are many in Cumberland area who have seen this company rise economically to the point where they now can witness the firm's payroll dumping $11,000,000 annually into this section!

Most of the employes at Kelly-Springfield are mostly native-born Americans of English, Scotch, Irish and Welsh descent. They spring from the stock that made Cumberland the Gateway to the West 200 years ago.

The birth of the Cumberland plant and the rapid growth of the automobile coincided, — to the mutual benefit of the company, the buyers and the citizens of this section.

Little did the pioneers who guided Kelly-Springfield to Cumberland realize that the payroll would increase nearly 11 times while the population went up 25 percent.

Those who know ratio and proportion in algebra, know that the Kelly ratio is in the favor of the economic development of the Queen City of the Alleghenies.

Kelly Advertises Nationally

Early in the history of Kelly-Springfield Tire Company its officials found there was business truth in the adage "advertising is the best policy."

One only has to pick up copies of old National Geographics, Saturday Evening Posts, etc., and find the famous "Kant-Slip" tire advertised so that the world could know it.

The name of Cumberland went, in this medium, into the homes of thousands of families in many countries.

Today, national and local advertising still is a paying medium for Kelly-Springfield Tire Company. Its ads still appear in the best magazines and newspapers of the United States and many other nations.

QUEEN CITY BREWING COMPANY CUMBERLAND, MARYLAND

Kelly's Plant Built On Bottom Land

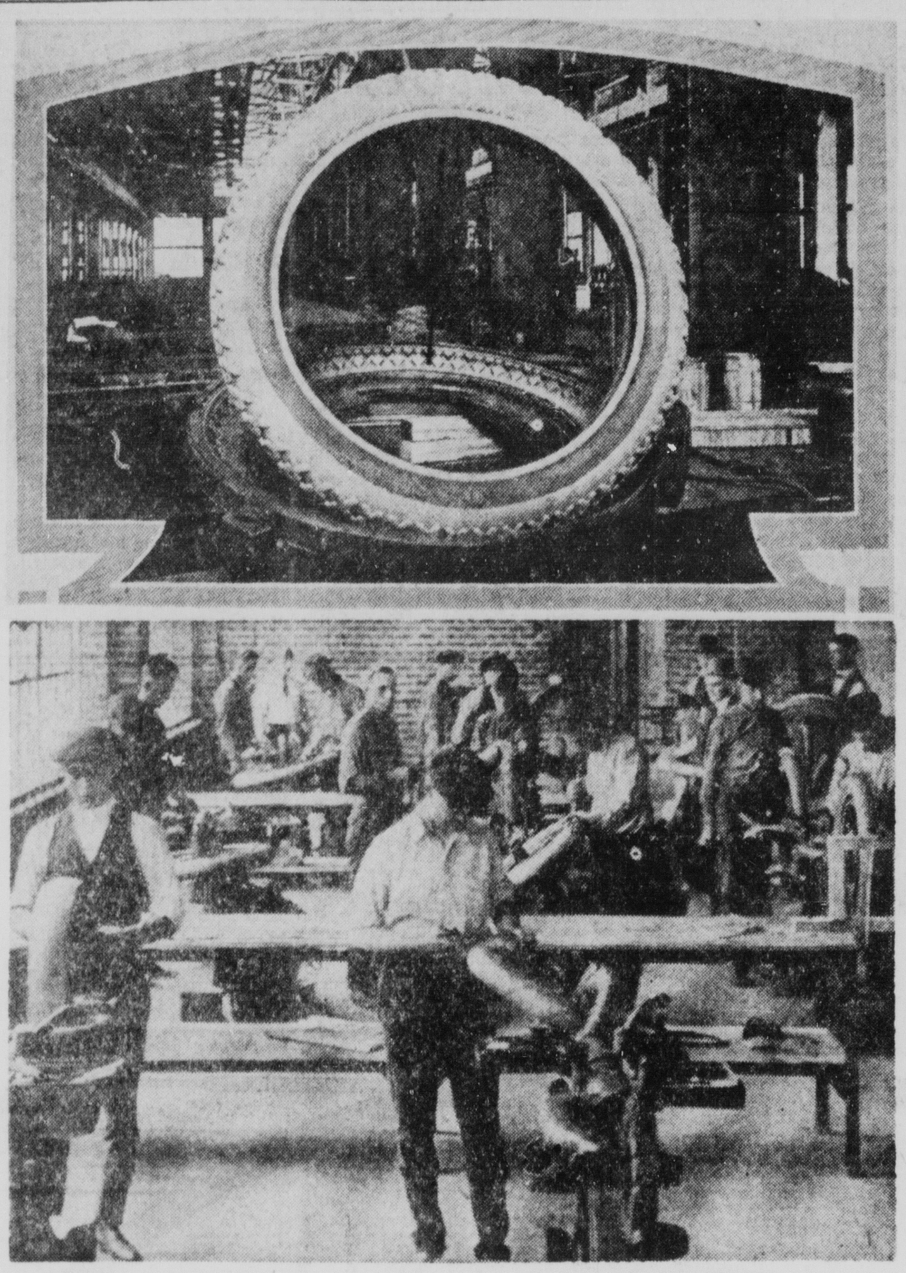

The land on which the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company is built was once three pieces o. farm land along side the Potomac River.

The Cumberland Development Company purchased the 74 acres needed from John Bopp, Frederick Miltenberger and the Johnson Realty Corporation.

The company raised enough money to purchase the land and donate it to the company.

Two firms of engineers skilled in the work of selecting industrial sites and after months of investigation and gradual elimination, reports were made which led the company to Cumberland.

The location is by available water, has connections with two major railroads, is close to the eastern markets, and ample coal is available.

Overheard Conversation Placed City In Search For Site-Seeking Company

For it was Phillip W. Blake, secretary of the local business men's organization, who was the man who started the move to get Kelly-Springfield Tire Company here.

Returning to Cumberland on a B&O train, Blake overheard a conversation among some business men to the effect that a big rubber concern was looking for a suitable location for a plant.

In much the manner of Albert W. Hargreaves, director of industrial development for the local chamber who had much to do with Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company locating here, Blake began a routine contact of the rubber companies of this country.

He told them this city was looking for a plant. Blake received only one reply—that from Kelly-Springfield Tire Company of Springfield, Ohio.

He set the wheels rolling, and for a number of months the local chamber officials, B&O officers, and others conducted a series of conferences in New York City with Kelly people.

Finally an agreement was reached when C. A. Brown, efficiency expert for Kelly surveyed Cumberland and the locations available here.

Brown made a favorable report to Kelly and the company hired the Alexander Hamilton Institute to make surveys of different locations here.

George C. Smith was the institute expert sent here, and as a result of his findings Cumberland won out over 41 other cities as the new location of Kelly.

There was a combined effort made by the Mayor and Council, the Board of Allegany County Commissioners, the railroads in inducing Kelly.

All pulled together, citizens and public officials, even the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad which moved its tracks from the center side to the side of the river. Kelly Boulevard was constructed.

The first building to be erected was the machine shop in 1917. But World War I intervened and there was no construction until the following year when additional machine shops and other shops were built.

Secret Pal Start Remains Secret

KANSAS CITY—(INS)—After 40 years it's still a mystery how the Secret Pal movement started. But one out of three American women interviewed in a survey either has been or is now a member of some kind of secret pal club.

The only activity of members is to shower down unsigned gifts and cards on their fellow Peanut Sisters, Silent Messengers or Phantom Friends.

Known by many names in many towns, all are variations of secret pal clubs that today enjoy greater popularity than at any time in their history. Mrs. Jeannette Lee, who recently completed a study of the movement, found that two out of three women interviewed were acquainted with the custom.

The clubs are usually within church, civic or social organizations, said Mrs. Lee, who is design director of Hallmark Cards. Their main purpose is to remember important personal and seasonal occasions in the life of the fellow member who becomes a secret pal.

Club members draw names early in the year and the exchange of neighborly good deeds, gifts and cards continues through the next 12 months, but members never disclose, until an 'unmasking" party at the end of the club season, whose secret pal they are.

Overheard Conversation Placed City In Search For Site-Seeking Company

Cumberland has a lot to owe to a secretary of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce.

For it was Phillip W. Blake, secretary of the local business men's organization, who was the man who started the move to get Kelly-Springfield Tire Company here.

Returning to Cumberland on a B&O train, Blake overheard a conversation among some business men to the effect that a big rubber concern was looking for a suitable location for a plant.

In much the manner of Albert W. Hargreaves, director of industrial development for the local chamber who had much to do with Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company locating here, Blake began a routine contact of the rubber companies of this country.

He told them this city was looking for a plant. Blake received only one reply—that from Kelly-Springfield Tire Company of Springfield, Ohio.

He set the wheels rolling, and for a number of months the local chamber officials, B&O officers, and others conducted a series of conferences in New York City with Kelly people.

Finally an agreement was reached when C. A. Brown, efficiency expert for Kelly surveyed Cumberland and the locations available here.

Brown made a favorable report to Kelly and the company hired the Alexander Hamilton Institute to make surveys of different locations here.

George C. Smith was the institute expert sent here, and as a result of his findings Cumberland won out over 41 other cities as the new location of Kelly.

There was a combined effort made by the Mayor and Council, the Board of Allegany County Commissioners, the railroads in inducing Kelly.

All pulled together, citizens and public officials, even the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad which moved its tracks from the center side to the side of the river. Kelly Boulevard was constructed.

The first building to be erected was the machine shop in 1917. But World War I intervened and there was no construction until the following year when additional machine shops and other shops were built.

After 1919 more construction followed, and with the main factory buildings going up in 1920.

Secret Pal Start Remains Secret

KANSAS CITY—(INS)—After 40 years it's still a mystery how the Secret Pal movement started. But one out of three American women interviewed in a survey either has been or is now a member of some kind of secret pal club.

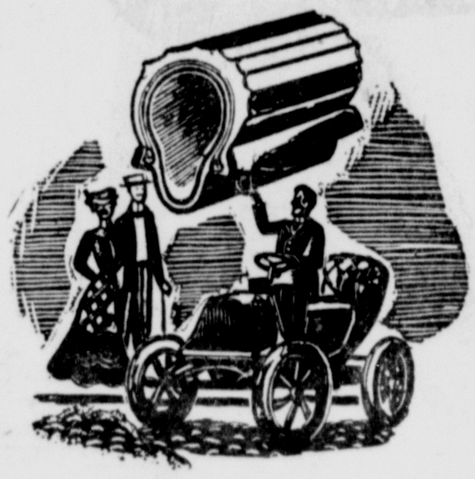

The only activity of members is to shower down unsigned gifts and cards on their fellow Peanut Sisters, Silent Messengers or Phantom Friends.

Known by many names in many towns, all are variations of secret pal clubs that today enjoy greater popularity than at any time in their history. Mrs. Jeannette Lee, who recently completed a study of the movement, found that two out of three women interviewed were acquainted with the custom.

The clubs are usually within church, civic or social organizations, said Mrs. Lee, who is design director of Hallmark Cards. Their main purpose is to remember important personal and seasonal occasions in the life of the fellow member who becomes a secret pal.

Club members draw names early in the year and the exchange of neighborly good deeds, gifts and cards continues through the next 12 months, but members never disclose, until an "unmasking" party at the end of the club season, whose secret pal they are.

The European cuckoo lays its eggs in other birds' nests and leaves them to be hatched by other birds.

Industry Procurement Not New Here

Selling industry on the advantages of locating in Cumberland is no new thing for residents of this city. They are reminded today of the 35th anniversary celebration of Kelly-Springfield Tire Company in the Queen City.

The leading citizens of this community were well-acquainted with the geographical, water, coal and transportation factors of this area and a progressive community sense among its peoples.

Cumberland had been the site of the transportation industry for many years, with the National Highway being the first road to the west; the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad reaching here on November 1, 1842.

It had been the western terminus of the Potomac Navigation Company that floated boats to Washington, and also the western terminus of the C&O Canal that operated for three-quarters of a century between here and Georgetown.

The mines of this section produced the finest bituminous coal that could be found.

Thus the stage was set in the Queen City, in 1916 when it was first learned that Kelly-Springfield Tire Company had advanced to the point where its demand for tires necessitated a new modern plant.

By chance, a secretary of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, Philip W. Blake, overheard a conversation between two men in the tire industry while riding on a B&O passenger train to this city.

Not knowing what company they represented, the leading citizens of this city were informed of the conversation and a nation-wide search was instituted.

Letters were sent to 200 different concerns selling them the advantages of locating in Cumberland.

As it is today in the highly competitive game of attracting industry, there was only one response, Kelly-Springfield of Akron and Wooster, Ohio, and Buffalo, N. Y.

Immediately the city's leaders swung into action.

The Cumberland Development Company was quickly formed as the agency to carry on the negotiations with the company.

Some idea of the spirit that prevailed at the time can be gleaned from the Evening Times of September 10, 1916, in the article announcing that an agreement had been reached:

"CUMBERLAND CAN DO IT"

"$750,000 is a lot of money to raise, but Cumberland can raise it. In view of what it means for the future of this community, it is believed by many leading citizens that there will be little difficulty in this matter because the citizens will speedily realize that individually and as a community, all will profit far more by this industry than any help required of them will cost in dollars and cents. It has been plain from the beginning of this tire plant agitation, that the citizens want it, and are willing to support any reasonable proposition that may be submitted to bring this industry here.

"The securing of this industry will be of great benefit not only to Cumberland but to all of Allegany County and the entire Cumberland territory. . . . There is much anxiety for this tire plant all over Allegany County and every citizen of this territory will be requested to encourage the proposition to a final realization."

The leaders in the drive organized their committees. A. P. Gross was chairman of the citizens committee and Arthur Steinweg its secretary. D. P. Miller was chairman of the real estate committee and Peter G. Cowden, a member of that committee.

By September 18, 1916 there had been $550.000 of the goal raised.

By October 4, the goal had been passed, and the Cumberland Development Company was ready for its first organizational meeting.

The company was organized on October 7, 1916, and less than one month later its members had completed negotiations with Kelly-Springfield, had the contract signed, and raised $750,000 to attract the factory here.

An amazing achievement considering Cumberland's population was only about 25,000 at the time and uneasy conditions prevailed in the United States in those days immediately before this nation's entry into World War I.

The contract signing and money raising weren't the only things these civic leaders accomplished.

They had a 100 and one matters to be ironed out before Kelly-Springfield would accept the location on the John Bopp-Fred Miltenberger-Johnson Realty Company property on the West Side of Cumberland.

To get into the organizational end of the development company, the men who had to take care of these many chores, one has only to look at the makeup of the industry-seeking body.

At the first meeting on October 7, 1916, Hugh A. McMullen was elected president; John Keating, Merwin McKaig and Henry Shriver, vice presidents, George G. Young, secretary; Charles G. Holzshu, treasurer.

The executive committee was comprised of W. L. Sperry, D. Lindley Sloan and Mayor Thomas W. Koon. H. E. Weber, Tasker G. Lowndes, and the committee on bylaws was comprised of Benjamin Richmond, James A. McHenry and Albert A. Doub Sr.

The directors were Daniel Annan, James Clark, Thomas B. Finan Sr., Thomas Foster, George F. Gephart, Henry J. Glick, Abraham P. Gross, Judge Robert R. Henderson, John G. Lynn, Merwin McKaig, Susman Rosenbaum, John Schwarzenbach, Louis Weber, George Wellington, and the officers and committeemen.

They obtained a change in the right-of-way of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad so that it would run beside the river.

The Mayor and Council exempted the company from taxes for a period of ten years.

The city agreed to extend its water, sewage, street lights and provide fire and police protection.

The County Commissioners agreed to give the company ten years of irrevocable tax exemptions.

The deal wasn't all one way, however. The development company leaders were successful in having Kelly-Springfield agree that if the firm decided to relocate or go out of business within ten years, it had to refund $35,000 a year for every year less than the ten years that it did not work.

There were agreements on the number of employes that the firm would have within two years after production started.

If the firm moved, it would have to surrender all its property to the development company.

Countless numbers of conferences were held, and much work was done by those concerned, strictly on their own time.

But these key men of the community had all organizations behind them,—they had the unflinching support of the banking institutions.

The Mayor and Council went ahead with arranging the important means of taxation to finance the new street and utilities to the plant site.

In fact there were 42 other cities actively bidding for the site of Kelly-Springfield.

The numbers failed to deter this local industrial development group. They went ahead and in a short time accomplished a remarkable task.

Their foresight and hard work has paid off for the City of Cumberland and the residents of this tri-state area.

On its tenth anniversary the company announced that Kelly-Springfield paid out in the form of wages and purchases from local merchants the enormous sum of $40,000,000.

Now at the 35th anniversary, company officials reveal that during the past decade there has been $100,000,000 paid out in wages.

Those figures alone are sufficient proof of the good job of industrial procurement done by the leaders of the Cumberland Development Company.

Among the other benefits realized in connection with Kelly-Springfield coming here was the building of modern homes in the West Side of Cumberland.

The development carried out by the local company can be viewed in the neat, well designed homes on Gephart Drive, Greene Street, and Fayette Street in the Dingle section. The architecture has survived the test of time and retains a modern look.

For on July 25, 1918, they set their sights on another industry,—American Cellulose and Chemical Manufacturing Company, Ltd.

As before, the civic leaders banded together and formed the Cumberland Industrial Corporation on July 25, 1918.

The original directors of this industry procurement group were W. L. Sperry, Robert R. Henderson, Merwin McKaig, H. E. Weber, Walter Muncaster, Thomas B. Lashley, Tasker G. Lowndes, and George G. Young.

Cumberland owes much to these men who succeeded in attracting major industries here.

KELLY-SPRINGFIELD COMPANY FORMALLY ACCEPTS CUMBERLAND'S OFFER AND WILL LOCATE THE 3000-MAN FACTORY IN THIS CITY UPON THE GUARANTEE OF $750,000 AND A FREE SITE.

CAMPAIGN TO RAISE MONEY WILL NOW BEGIN

IT IS UP TO YOU AND EVERY OTHER CITIZEN

These headlines told the tri-state area that officials of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company had signed an agreement to locate here. The final contract was signed two months later on November 4, 1916, by the Cumberland Development Company, the industrial promotion unit formed to raise the $750,000. The importance of the move to this community can well be noted by observing this front page of the September 10, 1916, Cumberland Evening Times.

Kelly Keeps Pace With The Times

Someone has remarked frequently that there are two distinguishing features about the Kelly-Springfield Tire Co. One of them is that nobody named Kelly is connected with the management of the company, and the other is that the tires are not made in Springfield, but in a large, modern plant in Cumberland, Maryland.

This is true; but it was not always so.

Our story begins in the little city of Springfield, Ohio. It is the winter of 1893-94. Our Buckeye friends have read about Charles Duryea's automobile, but most of them have never actually seen one.

Arthur W. Grant, the inventor, and Edwin S. Kelly, his financial backer, have just shaken hands on their partnership arranged to develop a solid rubber tire for carriage wheels.

Early in 1894 we find the concrete form of that partnership in the creation of the Rubber Tire Wheel Company of Springfield, Ohio. And soon the classiest rigs in town are seen pulling up in front of the rickety little blacksmith shop where the first Kelly Tires are being made by hand at the rate of one per day.

By 1897 production of Kelly-Springfield Tires has been stepped up to the point where 45,000 sets are found in use in America and abroad. Three Chief Executives of three great nations are riding on Kellys. The name of the company becomes the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company.

Although many of the pioneer automobile builders pinned their faith to the more substantial solid tires, we now find that the pneumatic tire is coming into its own.

Meanwhile, a new problem is taxing the ingenuity of tire manufacturers. The commercial motor truck is beginning to replace the horsedrawn dray. While Kelly-Springfield has been successful in making small solid rubber tires for horse-drawn vehicles and pneumatics for the early pleasure car, the making of a practical truck tire presents much tougher problems.

One of the first heavy vehicles to be fitted with Kellys is a fire engine. The tires are four inches in diameter and made along the internal wire design under the Grant pattern.

Kelly has a new salesman—or "saleswoman" we should say. She's the first Kelly advertising girl, the famous Lotta Miles.

Together the Kelly Kant Slip for passenger cars and the Kelly Block for trucks are building a reputation in the automotive field to match the tradition of dependability established by Kelly carriage tires.

Time motors on. European war clouds drift across the Atlantic as U-Boats begin their indiscriminate sinking. There is trouble on the Mexican Border as Pancho Villa raids a town on the American side. General Pershing is sent on a punitive expedition to catch the bandit. As coincidence will have it, the general's car is equipped with — yes, Kellys.

Now it's 1917; we're in the war. Thousands of French camions and British lorries are moving soldiers and equipment up to the front. And Kelly Katerpillar truck tires, successors to the famous Kelly Blocks, are making a service record for toughness and dependability, a record thoroughly established in the minds of thousands of returning soldiers.

A survey of the commercial car field shows that more than half the trucks in America are rolling on Kellys. Most of these tires are rugged Kelly Katerpillars. A few are still Kelly Blocks found on veteran chain-drive trucks.

There's plenty of proof to back up the claims made in the ads about the dependability of Kellys. On March 13, 1925, Cannon Ball Baker sends a wire from Los Angeles to the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company as follows:

> "Kelly-Springfield balloon tire equipped Rickenbacker Six smashes three records in one continuous run El Paso to Los Angeles, 21 hours 23 minutes total elapsed time. Miles 908.5. Average 42.48. Best previous automobile record 24 hours 21 minutes. Nail puncture only tire trouble. Kellys gave wonderful traction on all kinds of roads."

Balloon tires are here to stay. And in 1928 we find our ageless girl friend, Lotta Miles, still on the job—this time in a beret smiling through the premium-priced Kelly "Registered" Balloon, the "smart set" of tires for wire motorists.

Everybody is prosperous. Fortunes are being made over night in Wall Street. It's the fabulous year of 1929. Then something gives way. Stocks and bonds crash. Factories close. Bread lines form. DEPRESSION!

Prices nose dive and so do profits. In 1932, for the first time, motor vehicle registrations show a decline from the year before. Tire renewals are at a low ebb and price is more sought than quality. Further casualties occur among the ranks of remaining tire manufacturers. Out of an all-time total of nearly five hundred tire makers, less than thirty still survive. Fortunately, the tradition of Kelly quality has been so entrenched that it still prevails with Kelly craftsmen and with the public.

Kelly development men tackle mileage problems. They make new compounds—again and again—each tougher than the last. Finally, they produce a tread rubber that is head and shoulders above any they've previously used. It is denser, tougher and longer-wearing. Laboratory and road tests prove this product so superior they give it a distinctive name—Armorubber.

Long distance inter-city hauling by motor truck has developed into a major factor in our national transportation network. And Kellys are playing an important part in cutting hauling costs.

By 1941, Kelly is hitting its stride again in sales. Aggressive, enthusiastic dealers are distributing a steadily increasing volume of tires. Many large truck fleet operators who had learned to cut their costs with Kelly Kats in the early Twenties are discovering worthwhile economies in the use of Kelly Pneumatics in the early Forties.

When Jap planes swooped like vultures from the sky on the United States fleet at Pearl Harbor on that infamous Sunday in 1941, they plunked Kelly-Springfield employees on a hot griddle. The government reduced passenger and truck tire production to a trickle and the Cumberland plant came to a virtual standstill.

Undaunted, Kelly-Springfield management had two immediate objectives. They wanted to provide continuing employment for Kelly-Springfield's faithful employees and lick the axis. The answer to both problems was found in bullets and shells to be hurled at the enemy from allied guns.

Out came familiar rubber machinery and in went efficient mass production lines for the death-dealing instruments of war. It's a long jump from tires to bullets——but Kelly made it, then back to tires in 1943 as need for this product began to outstrip need for bullets. A Kelly man had to be fast on his feet in those days.

As you have noted, Kelly carriage tires had become widely known in many parts of the world and had already won a high quality reputation before the turn of the century. As the automobile and motor truck came into general use, Kelly solid tires and pneumatics continued to grow in popularity. Their reputation for dependable performance was literally world-wide. From Bogota to Baghdad and from Norway to Thailand, Kelly Tires carried Kings and cargoes dependably and economically as well.

The Kelly-Springfield Tire Company and the City of Cumberland have enjoyed thirty-five years of mutual benefit. The company has benefited from the up-and-coming business attitude of the city, the excellence of its labor force and cooperation of city government and civic leaders. The city has benefited from having a good industrial citizen in its midst, income from worker's wages and stimulation of industrial activity.

Employees of the Kelly plant at Cumberland are mostly native-born Americans of English, Scotch, Irish and Welsh descent. A hardy lot, their roots go back into the rich historical past of the city. They spring from the stock that opened the "Gateway to the West" for pioneers plunging off into the vast wilderness. They form a good team for the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company which itself has a rich tradition in industry, being a pioneer in the early days of the tire industry.

Production And Sales Planning Meetings Pay Off

Workers Have Benefits

Kelly-Springfield workers has a benefit program that is one of the best in the nation, according to company officials.

It includes pension, free life insurance, medical and hospital benefits, paid holidays and vacations and good working conditions.

More than 20 per of the employes have been with the firm for over 20 years and well over 50 per cent have between five and ten years of service.

The precipitation around Mount Olympus in northwest Washington State attains an annual total of from 200 to 250 inches.

Department Heads Hold Round-Table Sessions

Production and sales planning, these are the two big factors in Kelly-Springfield Tire Company maintaining its position as a steady economic factor in Cumberland's life, and keeping its well earned name in the front of the world's tire business.

The "Tiffany of the Tire Business" is the synonym that Kelly has kept over the years, beginning from the time President Taft rode on Kelly solid tires on his carriage in 1909 to this day when the custom cars of the nation glide on Cumberland-made cushions.

To properly serve its customers, Kelly makes at Cumberland 600 different sizes and types of tires.

It is impossible to produce all of them at the same time, but by careful planning requirements are met by scheduling 150 sizes and types daily.

Exacting controls on width, angles, temperatures, contours and weights are observed at all times.

In fact, there are 110 different operations in making a Kelly-Springfield tire, and specifications are met to the Nth degree at each stage.

There is a lot behind the success of Kelly's management in sales and manufacturing organizations.

The slogan of the firm's president, E. S. Burke, an office clerk 24 years previous to his taking over the reins of local plant, is that many heads are better than one.

As a result management teams have been set up for sales and production. Myriad problems face these groups of department heads and officials when they sit down at the conference table to "hash things out."

A typical sales conference will find the comptroller, credit department manager, home office staff manager, vice presidents, advertising manager, secretary-treasurer, and merchandising distribution manager.

Sitting down for a factory-level talk will be the chief engineer, development manager, personnel manager, efficiency department manager, plant superintendent, the president, comptroller, production control manager, and the every present secretary-treasurer.

There is intense competition in the rubber industry, and Kelly has forged ahead with its time-tested formulae.

Kelly Names Established In This Area

The names of men who were running Kelly-Springfield Tire Company back on its tenth anniversary have become established as Cumberland families.

William H. Lalley was president; Louis Mueller, vice president and manufacturing manager; H. E. W. Smith, general superintendent; Henry Brett, developing manager; J. E. McCarty, chief chemist; M. J. Roe, mechanical superintendent; L. B. Gordon, assistant mechanical engineer; L. A. DelaGrange, production manager; R. E. Nurray, purchasing agent; Leo H. Ley, traffic manager; Albert Carlson, office manager; R. F. Potter, manager of the distribution department; M. D. Tenney, chief adjuster, and Norman Wallace, planning department manager.

Those were the officers on October 27, 1931.

Many changes, brought about by the passing of time, have occurred since that time. But the nucleus is still the same — Cumberland men and women.

Video Swing

LONDON—(INS)—Television is steadily taking fans from radio in Britain. Three million fewer people listened to British Broadcasting Corporation's sound programs in the last quarter compared with the same period of 1954 according to the latest audience research figures.

British Conduct Laundry Confab

LONDON—(INS)—That missing button, that over-starched collar, that hole in the tablecloth—three tragedies and others were hurled at laundry proprietors by British housewives at a recent "customers' conference" in London.

"Would you wear a shirt like this?" asked Mrs. E. Taylor, flourishing a shirt with a creased collar and front. Other wives produced garments which shrank, greyish sheets and towels and tablecloths with rips in them.

But Arthur Oliver of Portsmouth, a laundry executive, had the last word. He said a recent check of ten thousand laundry bundles a week disclosed that one out of every seven laundry lists drawn up by housewives contained inaccuracies.

Guided Missiles Wear Watches

NEW YORK—(INS)—Few people think of it this way, but every guided missile wears a wristwatch.

The ordinary every day timing device worn by millions of citizens has actually become a major part of national defense.

Ever since World War II, and with the great development of automation in the manufacture of modern armaments, the use of timing devices in all essential explosives has placed the clock and the wrist watch in a high priority level of American defense.

The Bulova Watch Company in Jackson Heights, Long Island, is now actually manufacturing two classified items for national defense as against every wristwatch the company makes and sells.

The timing device in a shell is a mechanism which holds back the firing pin until the desired second for explosion. Even the A-bomb goes off when it's told to and what tells it to go off is an ultra-secret timing device. But no matter how fancy the names for these parts may be, all of them are essentially watches.

The recent controversy concerning the protection of the American watchmaking industry is largely centered around this one fact. When Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson said recently that the entire "horological industry is essential to the mobilization base," that is what he meant, for in the national defense picture the protection of the skill of watchmaking in this country has become highly critical.

Ten years ago there were 9,000 watchmakers in America. Today, with the Swiss having captured 83 per cent of the American market, there are only 4,000 skilled precision watchmakers left.

Godfrey's Meet

ABERDEEN, Wash. — (INS) — A milk truck and an automobile brushed fenders on a residential street in Aberdeen. The drivers, strangers, got out to exchange names. Simultaneously, each man said: "My name is Godfrey." The milk truck was driven by Waldo K. Godfrey of Hoquiam, Wash. The automobile driver was Herbert Godfrey of Aberdeen. They were not related.

Thank You, Kelly....

Many things are important in making a community a good place in which to live and work. Certainly, one of the truly important facets of any community is its industrial life.

Industry puts food upon our tables . . . business into our stores . . . and helps bring happiness to all. Whether or not we are directly connected with it industry means much in each of our daily lives.

It is with a great deal of pleasure that the George's Creek Fuel Company takes this opportunity to extend congratulations to the KELLY SPRINGFIELD TIRE COMPANY on this its 35th anniversary in Cumberland.

It is industry such as KELLY of which we can be proud . . . the kind of industry that we need and respect.

Thank you, KELLY, for 35 years of service not only to yourselves but to the Cumberland area and its citizens. May the future bring you even greater prosperity than have the 35 years past.

Production And Sales Planning Meetings Pay Off

Workers Have Benefits

Kelly-Springfield workers has a benefit program that is one of the best in the nation, according to company officials.

It includes pension, free life insurance, medical and hospital benefits, paid holidays and vacations and good working conditions.

More than 20 per of the employes have been with the firm for over 20 years and well over 50 per cent have between five and ten years of service.

The precipitation around Mount Olympus in northwest Washington State attains an annual total of from 200 to 250 inches.

Congratulations To The Kelly-Springfield Tire Company On Their Thirty-Fifth Birthday, And Our Best Wishes For Continuing Success And Prosperity In Cumberland.

Production and sales planning, these are the two big factors in Kelly-Springfield Tire Company maintaining its position as a steady economic factor in Cumberland's life, and keeping its well earned name in the front of the world's tire business.

The "Tiffany of the Tire Business" is the synonym that Kelly has kept over the years, beginning from the time President Taft rode on Kelly solid tires on his carriage in 1909 to this day when the custom cars of the nation glide on Cumberland-made cushions.

To properly serve its customers, Kelly makes at Cumberland 600 different sizes and types of tires.

It is impossible to produce all of them at the same time, but by careful planning requirements are met by scheduling 150 sizes and types daily.

Each piece of machinery and each worker's training instructions are designed to maintained uniform workmanship and rigid quality control.

Exacting controls on width, angles, temperatures, contours and weights are observed at all times.

In fact, there are 110 different operations in making a Kelly-Springfield tire, and specifications are met to the Nth degree at each stage.

There is a lot behind the success of Kelly's management in sales and manufacturing organizations.

The slogan of the firm's president, E. S. Burke, an office clerk 24 years previous to his taking over the reins of local plant, is that many heads are better than one.

As a result management teams have been set up for sales and production. Myriad problems face these groups of department heads and officials when they sit down at the conference table to "hash things out."

A typical sales conference will find the comptroller, credit department manager, home office staff manager, vice presidents, advertising manager, secretary-treasurer, and merchandising distribution manager.

Sitting down for a factory-level talk will be the chief engineer, development manager, personnel manager, efficiency department manager, plant superintendent, the president, comptroller, production control manager, and the every present secretary-treasurer.

There is intense competition in the rubber industry, and Kelly has forged ahead with its time-tested formulae.

British Conduct Laundry Confab

LONDON—(INS)—That missing button, that over-starched collar, that hole in the tablecloth—three tragedies and others were hurled at laundry proprietors by British housewives at a recent "customers' conference" in London.

"Would you wear a shirt like this?" asked Mrs. E. Taylor, flourishing a shirt with a creased collar and front. Other wives produced garments which shrank, greyish sheets and towels and tablecloths with rips in them.

But Arthur Oliver of Portsmouth, a laundry executive, had the last word. He said a recent check of ten thousand laundry bundles a week disclosed that one out of every seven laundry lists drawn up by housewives contained inaccuracies.

Guided Missiles Wear Watches

NEW YORK—(INS)—Few people think of it this way, but every guided missile wears a wristwatch.

The ordinary every day timing device worn by millions of citizens has actually become a major part of national defense.

Ever since World War II, and with the great development of automation in the manufacture of modern armaments, the use of timing devices in all essential explosives has placed the clock and the wrist watch in a high priority level of American defense.

The Bulova Watch Company in Jackson Heights, Long Island, is now actually manufacturing two classified items for national defense as against every wristwatch the company makes and sells.

The timing device in a shell is a mechanism which holds back the firing pin until the desired second for explosion. Even the A-bomb goes off when it's told to and what tells it to go off is an ultra-secret timing device. But no matter how fancy the names for these parts may be, all of them are essentially watches.

The recent controversy concerning the protection of the American watchmaking industry is largely centered around this one fact. When Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson said recently that the entire "horological industry is essential to the mobilization base," that is what he meant, for in the national defense picture the protection of the skill of watchmaking in this country has become highly critical.

Ten years ago there were 9,000 watchmakers in America. Today, with the Swiss having captured 83 per cent of the American market, there are only 4,000 skilled precision watchmakers left.

Godfrey's Meet

Simultaneously, each man said: "My name is Godfrey." The milk truck was driven by Waldo K. Godfrey of Hoquiam, Wash. The automobile driver was Herbert Godfrey of Aberdeen. They were not related.

Kelly Names Established In This Area

The names of men who were running Kelly-Springfield Tire Company back on its tenth anniversary have become established as Cumberland families.

William H. Lalley was president; Louis Mueller, vice president and manufacturing manager; H. E. W. Smith, general superintendent; Henry Brett, developing manager; J. E. McCarty, chief chemist; M. J. Roe, mechanical superintendent; L. B. Gordon, assistant mechanical engineer; L. A. DelaGrange, production manager; R. E. Nurray, purchasing agent; Leo H. Ley, traffic manager; Albert Carlson, office manager; R. F. Potter, manager of the distribution department; M. D. Tenney, chief adjuster, and Norman Wallace, planning department manager.

Those were the officers on October 27, 1931.

Many changes, brought about by the passing of time, have occurred since that time. But the nucleus is still the same — Cumberland men and women.

Kelly-Springfield Quickly Girded For World War II

Plant Made Machine Gun Ammunition

Eight-Inch Shells Also Produced For U. S. Armed Forces

Kelly-Springfield, like so many peacetime industries, girded itself for battle when World War II and the threat of international domination by the Axis loomed on the horizon.

Many a battle in which American men and their allies fought were with the help of Kelly products.

The government in 1941 had reduced passenger and truck tire output, the backbone of the local industry, to a standstill.

Kelly forged ahead and through its management setup 50 calibre machine gun bullet and eight-inch shell lines.

As in the past, Kelly made its appearance in countries throughout the world — although in a much different role.

Sunday, December 7, 1941, marked the transition of the production-line know how of Kelly from tires to bullets—and history proves the efficiency of both lines of endeavor.

Millions of machine gun bullets were sent out from Kelly to the armed forces of the United States, at a time when quantity and quality was the watchword of a peaceful country caught trusting its world neighbors.

Then only two years later, the versatile plant began its big jump back to tires when the supply had caught up with the demand.

Tires were sorely needed by both the citizens of this rationed nation and by the ever-advancing armies.

Out came familiar rubber machinery, in came the precious supplies of latex and the product of ever-adaptable United States, synthetic rubber produced in plants quickly constructed.

American ingenuity, which the world became conscious of in World War II, was again demonstrated at the Cumberland Plant of Kelly-Springfield Tire Company.

Kelly again went to battle in Korea as Cumberland-made tires carried the vehicles of the United Nations over rough terrains.

Tribes near Africa's Lake Kyoga just north of the Equator eat roasted locusts. Termites are another favorite food.

Pershing Car Has Kelly Tires

A Kelly-Springfield Tire Company staff member, visiting at Aberdeen Proving Grounds, brought back an interesting piece of information this week that attests to the widespread use of Kelly-Springfield Tires.

William G. Barder, a captain in the reserve and coordinator of Allegany County Civil Defense, toured the U. S. Army Ordnance Museum at Aberdeen.

One of the items displayed is the staff car used by Gen. John J. Pershing during World War I.

This auto is still completely equipped with Kelly-Springfield tires just as it was when he used it overseas.

Many vehicles, including the solid tire trucks of the first World War, used Kelly tires. World War II and Korean War also saw Kelly go back into action.

The wide acceptance of the local product today is brought to mind by an interesting photo in the company's April 1921 Kant Slip, the monthly magazine.

It shows an open phaneton automobile with Ex-President Woodrow Wilson, President Warren G. Harding, "Uncle Joe" Cannon, speaker of the House, and Sen. Philander C. Knox, seated in it.

Drugs Get Shakes In Special Cells

BUFFALO, N. Y. — (INS)—A tiny-tracked railroad is giving drugs the shakes in special padded cells at a pharmaceutical manufacturing plant in Buffalo.

Scientific D.T.'s are induced by a new machine to put drugs and chemicals in solution. A steel lead-weighted car, with interior foam rubber tracks, accommodates glass flasks and tubes holding an average load of ten pounds. It travels back and forth at high speed over a one-and-a-half inch track.

The shaker, even on its minute trackage, will travel some 720 miles in a year—or almost the distance between New York and Detroit. It duplicates the continuous shaking of some ten lab technicians.

Minutes Saved Of First Development Unit Meeting

A good insight into the formation of the company that succeeded in raising $750,000 and attracted Kelly-Springfield Tire Company to Cumberland can be gleaned in the minutes of the Cumberland Development Company.

The organizational meeting of the group was held October 7, 1916 in the City Hall council chambers.

Here are the minutes from that meeting:

Meeting called to order at 3:10 p. m. on Saturday, October 7, 1916, by W. L. Sperry, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and George G. Young, temporary secretary. The following directors were present:

On motion made by H. E. Weber and seconded by Mr. Shriver, W. L. Sperry was elected as temporary chairman and George G. Young, temporary secretary.

On motion the chairman was directed to appoint a committee of five to present names for the permanent officers of the Cumberland Development Company.

The following were appointed on said committee: Messrs. Shriver, H. E. Weber, Llowndes, McHenry and Koon.

The nominating committee named the following:

President, H. A. McMullen; vice presidents, Keating, McKaig and Shriver; secretary, Young; treasurer, Charles G. Holzshu; executive committee, Sperry, H. E. Weber, Llowndes, Sloan and Koon, and committee on by-laws, Richmond, McHenry and Doub.

Mr. McMullen declined the office of president after expressing his deep appreciation for the honor, and nominated John Keating in his place, seconded by Mr. Annan. H. E. Weber was placed in nomination by Mr. Richmond, seconded by Mr. Shriver. Mr. Weber in a few remarks declined the nomination and Mr. Merwin McKaig was then placed in nomination by Mayor Koon. Before a vote was taken, Mr. McMullen agreed to accept the nomination for president, with the understanding that he only devote as much of his time as he could spare to the development company. On motion all those recommended by committee for different officers were unanimously elected.

On motion, the executive committee was authorized to arrange all matters in connection with the contract between the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company and the development company, including where the representatives of the tire company were to meet the executive committee, but to suggest Cumberland. Motion carried. The meeting adjourned.

(One month later the development company had a signed contract with Kelly-Springfield Tire Company).

35-Year-Old Kelly Plant Is Still Modern Tire Factory

Strong Base Construction Allows Further Expansion

Continual Progressive Manufacture Of Product Has No Back-Tracking

The basic design of the Cumberland plant of Kelly-Springfield Tire Company was so well-conceived that after 35 years it still remains one of the most modern tire factories in the country.

The factory building is two stories high with a mezzanine and basement and consists of a main structure 760 fet long by 120 feet wide, to which are joined five wings, each 430 feet by 60 feet.

This building contains modern rubber machinery of the largest size with an elaborate overhead assembly of electric travel cranes. At both ends of each wing are stair towers, with toilet rooms and high speed heavy duty elevators.

The arrangements is such that the movement of the product is continuously progressive from the time the raw material is received until the tires are ready for shipment.

There is no back haul or re-handle of materials in course of the manufacture.

The plant was built with extra heavy foundations and walls so that additional stories can be added. Even the piping and wiring have been arranged with this in mind.

The floor is a two by ten-inch yellow pine on edge, covered with a one-inch maple flooring.

The manufacturing departments have all been designed to obtain a maximum of daylight, and the milling, calendering and vulcanizing sections have been built with monitors and saw tooth roofs for this purpose.

The plant is heated entirely from waste steam from the turbines in the power house.

Next to the main factory building, the power house is the most important unit of the group. It is equipped with six 750-horsepower boilers capable of developing from 9,000 to 12,000 horsepower.

The circulating pumps are capable of pumping 30,000,000 gallons of water a day.

The electric current is carried into the main factory distributing stations by large copper bars through tunnels, and then through lead cables to the various substations.

There is a complete fire alarm and watchmen's system in the factory, with several alarm boxes in each building.

In the pump house is a most complete assortment of standard and special pumps—from a 500-gallon to a 6,000,000-gallon compound pump, together with accumulators, air compressors and tanks.

Water is taken from the river through seven-foot tunnels and led into a pit in the pump house below the level of the river bed.

The water intake house on the bank of the river contains four screens, each 30 feet long, through which the water is screened before being allow to flow into the pump house.

The machine shop or mechanical building, the first unit of the factory to be built, is a U-shaped structure consisting of two wings, each 160 feet by 60 feet, and contains modern machine, blacksmith and carpenter shops, as well as a large number of boring mills for the manufacture of molds and cores used in the building and vulcanizing of tires.

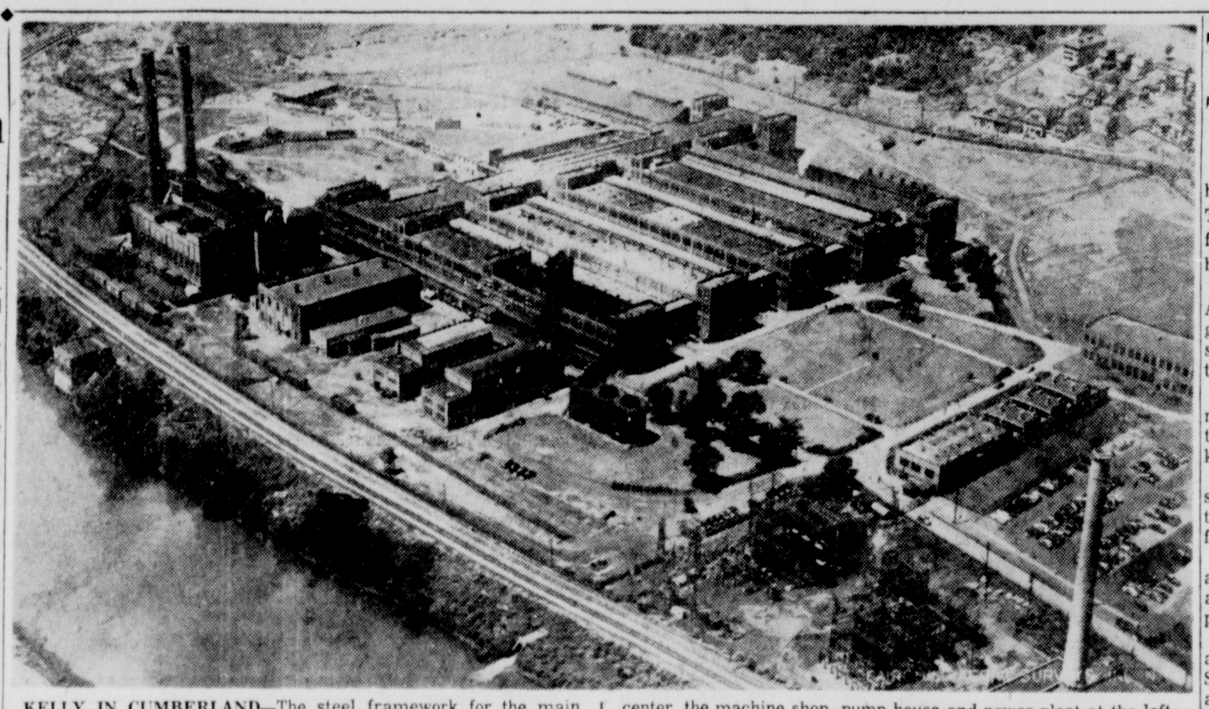

The importance of chemical and mechanical development in the tire industry is very great, and the most consideration was given to the construction, layout and equipment of its laboratory building.

This building is about 300 feet long and is a complete tire factory in itself, having its own rubber mills, fabric calendering machines and vulcanizers, as well as much special experimental equipment of every conceivable character.

Besides the buildings mentioned, there is a two-story garage with storage space for 110 cars, a completely equipped hospital with registered nurses in attendance, and a physician and surgeon available.

The plant is protected by an automatic sprinkler system together with many fire hydrants and hose.

KELLY IN CUMBERLAND—The steel framework for the main section of the Cumberland plant rose up in 1920 from what was formerly a farmer's field along the Potomac River. The general contractor was the Hunkin-Conkey firm of Cleveland. Above is a recent aerial view of the plant, showing the five wings in the center, the machine shop, pump house and power plant at the left; the shipping department at right, and in the foreground the employment offices and entrance, and the garage. The factory is still one of the most modern tire plants in the world. There are 22 acres of floor space in it.

Tire Company Sees Transportation Eras

The horse and buggy was in its hey-day when the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, now world known for its auto tire production, had its beginning.

It was in Springfield, Ohio, that Arthur W. Grant and E. S. Kelly got together in 1894 to produce a solid tire that would be ideal for the horse-drawn vehicles of the 90s.

At that time came the birth and rapid growth of the automobile—the motorless buggy as it was known in those days.

Kelly and Grant had the foresight to get into the tire business that would provide pneumatic tires for the auto industry.

Thus at the birth of the auto age, and the quick demise of the horse and buggy ea, Kelly became a pioneer in its line.

Today, with much auto history and development behind, Kelly-Springfield stands in the industry as still being a pioneer in new types of auto tires.

Early success brought Kelly and Grant to name their company Kelly-Springfield, after the one man who was its first president, and the town in which it was incepted.

For one year, the production of Kelly-Springfield was carried on in a two-story small frame blacksmith shop.

Today, Kelly's production hits many thousands each day.

Soon management was faced with a serious situation. Production had reached an all-time high of 20 tires a day and inventory was building up at an alarming pace.

The sales department was called in and implored to move the stockpile of inventory.

But that was the last time that this situation existed. Since that day, with the exception of national depression periods, Kelly has had its biggest problem with keeping up with its demand.

The early demand brought on the purchase of the Buckeye Rubber Company plant in Akron and later on plants at Wooster, Ohio, and Buffalo, N. Y.

Old Sawdust Still Burning

CAVE JUNCTION, Ore. (INS) — Coal seams that burn for years have a parallel in a smoking sawdust pile near Cave Junction in southern Oregon.

Spontaneous combustion resulting from pressure started the fire in the sawdust pile, which covers an acre and is 70 feet deep in several places. A crew pumped water on the pile all day, but it kept on burning beneath the surface.

Forestry and fire experts went to the scene and said the only practical thing to do was to cut a fire break around it and keep the fire under control.

The only other way to handle it, they said would be to bulldoze the sawdust out over square miles of land to uncover the fire.

Life In America Proves Short One For Stray Cat

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Longshoremen found a cat in a railroad freight car which had been sealed a month earlier far down in Mexico.

They named her Wetback, a term applied to Mexicans who cross the border without benefit of passport. She survived the many dangers of life on the waterfront and produced two litters of kittens.

Then, one day after her customary siesta, she wandered onto harbor drive. An American automobile killed her.

Detroiters Find Trip To Airport Longer

DETROIT (AP)—Some Detroit people have found that the trip to the airport is the longest part of the trip to New York. They say they can take an air taxi from Detroit City Airport, make a 90-mile trip to Cleveland, land at the Municipal airport there and catch the New York Plane.

Through airlines make their Detroit stops at the Willow Run Airport. The passenger says the 90-mile trip to Cleveland saves time.

The basic design of the Cumberland plant of Kelly-Springfield Tire Company was so well-conceived that after 35 years it still remains one of the most modern tire factories in the country.

The factory building is two stories high with a mezzanine and basement and consists of a main structure 760 fet long by 120 feet wide, to which are joined five wings, each 430 feet by 60 feet.

This building contains modern rubber machinery of the largest size with an elaborate overhead assembly of electric travel cranes. At both ends of each wing are stair towers, with toilet rooms and high speed heavy duty elevators.

The arrangements is such that the movement of the product is continuously progressive from the time the raw material is received until the tires are ready for shipment.

There is no back haul or re-handle of materials in course of the manufacture.

The plant was built with extra heavy foundations and walls so that additional stories can be added. Even the piping and wiring have been arranged with this in mind.

The floor is a two by ten-inch yellow pine on edge, covered with a one-inch maple flooring.

The manufacturing departments have all been designed to obtain a maximum of daylight, and the milling, calendering and vulcanizing sections have been built with monitors and saw tooth roofs for this purpose.

The plant is heated entirely from waste steam from the turbines in the power house.

Next to the main factory building, the power house is the most important unit of the group. It is equipped with six 750-horsepower boilers capable of developing from 9,000 to 12,000 horsepower.

In addition there are huge turbines, condensers, motor generator sets, pumps and other apparatus necessary for the efficient operation of the plant.

The circulating pumps are capable of pumping 30,000,000 gallons of water a day.

The electric current is carried into the main factory distributing stations by large copper bars through tunnels, and then through lead cables to the various substations.

There is a complete fire alarm and watchmen's system in the factory, with several alarm boxes in each building.

In the pump house is a most complete assortment of standard and special pumps—from a 500-gallon to a 6,000,000-gallon compound pump, together with accumulators, air compressors and tanks.

Water is taken from the river through seven-foot tunnels and led into a pit in the pump house below the level of the river bed.

The water intake house on the bank of the river contains four screens, each 30 feet long, through which the water is screened before being allow to flow into the pump house.

The machine shop or mechanical building, the first unit of the factory to be built, is a U-shaped structure consisting of two wings, each 160 feet by 60 feet, and contains modern machine, blacksmith and carpenter shops, as well as a large number of boring mills for the manufacture of molds and cores used in the building and vulcanizing of tires.

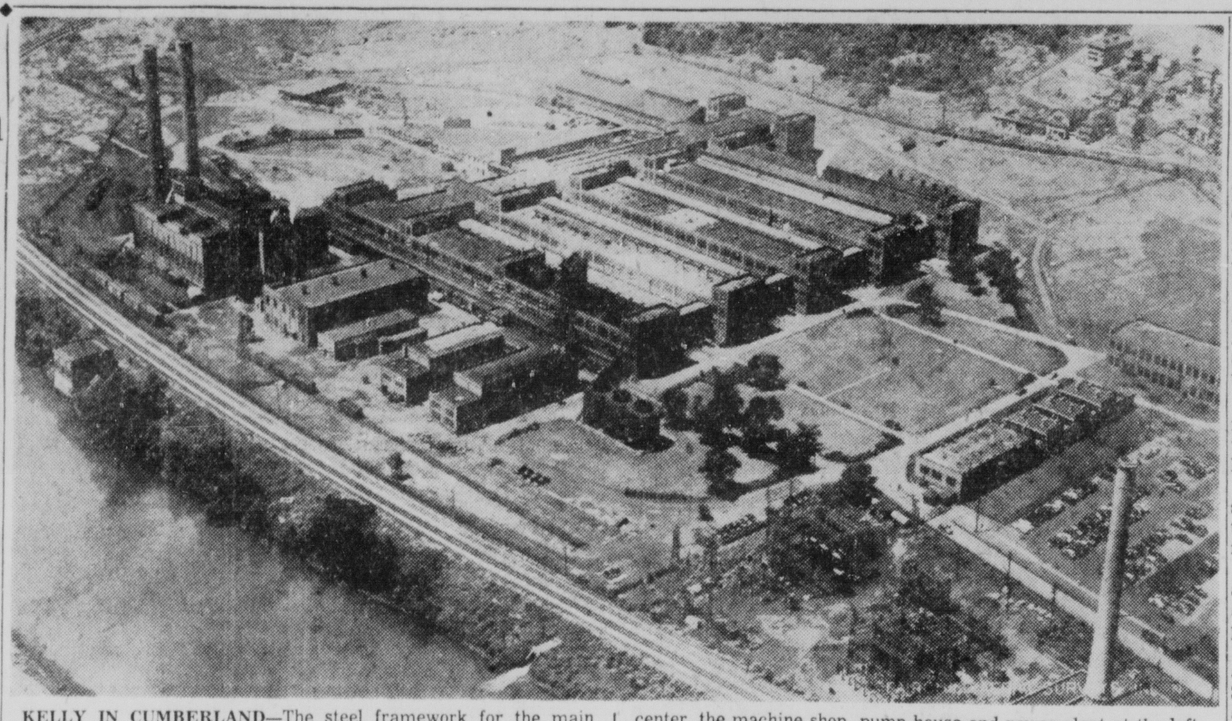

The importance of chemical and mechanical development in the tire industry is very great, and the most consideration was given to the construction, layout and equipment of its laboratory building.

This building is about 300 feet long and is a complete tire factory in itself, having its own rubber mills, fabric calendering machines and vulcanizers, as well as much special experimental equipment of every conceivable character.

Besides the buildings mentioned, there is a two-story garage with storage space for 110 cars, a completely equipped hospital with registered nurses in attendance, and a physician and surgeon available.

The plant is protected by an automatic sprinkler system together with many fire hydrants and hose.

The actual ground area covered by the buildings is 12 acres, while there are 22 acres of floor space, 19½ of which are devoted entirely to manufacturing.

KELLY IN CUMBERLAND—The steel framework for the main section of the Cumberland plant rose up in 1920 from what was formerly a farmer's field along the Potomac River. The general contractor was the Hunkin-Conkey firm of Cleveland. Above is a recent aerial view of the plant, showing the five wings in the center, the machine shop, pump house and power plant at the left; the shipping department at right, and in the foreground the employment offices and entrance, and the garage. The factory is still one of the most modern tire plants in the world. There are 22 acres of floor space in it.

Tire Company Sees Transportation Eras

The horse and buggy was in its hey-dey when the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, now world known for its auto tire production, had its beginning.

It was in Springfield, Ohio, that Arthur W. Grant and E. S. Kelly got together in 1894 to produce a solid tire that would be ideal for the horse-drawn vehicles of the 90s.

At that time came the birth and rapid growth of the automobile—the motorless buggy as it was known in those days.

Kelly and Grant had the foresight to get into the tire business that would provide pneumatic tires for the auto industry.

Thus at the birth of the auto age, and the quick demise of the horse and buggy ea, Kelly became a pioneer in its line.

Today, with much auto history and development behind, Kelly-Springfield stands in the industry as still being a pioneer in new types of auto tires.

Early success brought Kelly and Grant to name their company Kelly-Springfield, after the one man who was its first president, and the town in which it was incepted.

For one year, the production of Kelly-Springfield was carried on in a two-story small frame blacksmith shop.

Its total effort for one day was one tire.

Today, Kelly's production hits many thousands each day.

Soon management was faced with a serious situation. Production had reached an all-time high of 20 tires a day and inventory was building up at an alarming pace.

The sales department was called in and implored to move the stockpile of inventory.

But that was the last time that this situation existed. Since that day, with the exception of national depression periods, Kelly has had its biggest problem with keeping up with its demand.

The early demand brought on the purchase of the Buckeye Rubber Company plant in Akron and later on plants at Wooster, Ohio, and Buffalo, N. Y.

Old Sawdust Still Burning

CAVE JUNCTION, Ore. (INS) — Coal seams that burn for years have a parallel in a smoking sawdust pile near Cave Junction in southern Oregon.

Spontaneous combustion resulting from pressure started the fire in the sawdust pile, which covers an acre and is 70 feet deep in several places. A crew pumped water on the pile all day, but it kept on burning beneath the surface.

Forestry and fire experts went to the scene and said the only practical thing to do was to cut a fire break around it and keep the fire under control.

The only other way to handle it, they said would be to bulldoze the sawdust out over square miles of land to uncover the fire.

Life In America Proves Short One For Stray Cat

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Longshoremen found a cat in a railroad freight car which had been sealed a month earlier far down in Mexico.

They named her Wetback, a term applied to Mexicans who cross the border without benefit of passport. She survived the many dangers of life on the waterfront and produced two litters of kittens.

Then, one day after her customary siesta, she wandered onto harbor drive. An American automobile killed her.

Detroiters Find Trip To Airport Longer

DETROIT (AP)—Some Detroit people have found that the trip to the airport is the longest part of the trip to New York. They say they can take an air taxi from Detroit City Airport, make a 90-mile trip to Cleveland, land at the Municipal airport there and catch the New York Plane.

Through airlines make their Detroit stops at the Willow Run Airport. The passenger says the 90-mile trip to Cleveland saves time.

Souvenir Booklet Published By Kelly

A souvenir booklet has been published by Kelly-Springfield Tire Company to mark its 35th anniversary.

Included in the book are the history of the company, sketches of key Cumberland employes, information concerning the construction of the plant, and facts about this city.

There are also pages devoted to pictures in the plant, production techniques, planning programs, sidelights on the workers, and a story on a typical Cumberland worker,—Alvin T. Nave.

The booklet is dedicated to the memory of the founders of the company, Arthur W. Grant, the inventing genius, and Edwin S. Kelly, the business man.

Steno's Error Causes City 'Political Crisis'

SOUTH CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Grocer John Ray, a Republican, was peeved with the city's Democratic administration anyway. When a "no parking" sign appeared in front of his store, he boiled over — uprooted the sign and heaved it into an empty lot.

GOP Mayor Joseph W. Londeree said a stenographic error in the minutes of a council meeting put the sign in the wrong spot.

"That still doesn't justify Ray's taking the law into his own hands," he said. "There's no politics involved. I don't even know the gentleman."

Teamwork, Dedicated Spirit Leads To Present Position In Industry

What did Kelly think about Cumberland ten years and 35 years after locating here?

A good idea can be obtained by this statement made to the citizens of the Queen City on its tenth anniversary.

"During the World War (World War I), when many people were talking about the saturation point for automobiles, Kelly-Springfield foresaw the coming of the true motor age when more and more of this great country's people and commerce would move in swift comfort on pneumatic-tired wheels. We foresaw a day when greater distances traveled, faster speeds, greater loads, improved motor performance in every way would make terrific new demands on tires.

"Wishing to prepare our resources and marshal our skill for that we felt was sure to come, Kelly-Springfield set about disposing of its several old factories and choosing an ideal location for the home of fine tire craftsmanship. After examining the advantages of every city and section, we created our great new plant in Cumberland,—near the Eastern rubber markets close to the source of fine cottons, in the midst of the finest American workmanship and perfectly served by railroads.

"Ten years ago this great plant was opened dedicated to safety and long life in tires. The cornerstone principle of our plant is that no man may ever trust his life of his commerce to a Kelly-Springfield tire that is not the safest finest tire that can be made. These clean, well-ventilated buildings, modern tools, machines and methods, abundant natural light on every side foster and encourage fine workmanship. Our name on every tire is our pledge of quality to the world.

"The thousands of miles of grueling roads, winding through our front door through the Allegheny Mountains, provide an ideal proving ground for our tires in competition with all other tires made. The cars and trucks that make up our test fleets are heavily overloaded, they operate under continuous runs, and they enable at all times to detect the weaknesses in design or building for any make of tires. The yshow us how to increase, constantly the factors of safety and long life that we build into our tires.

"As a reward for our long working and proving for quality, as a result of our choosing this ideal home of fine craftsmanship, we have reasons to know that Kelly-Springfield tires truly represent quality among all tires made today."

Twenty five years later, during this 35th anniversary celebration, Edmund S. Burke, president, has issued this statement to the public.

"The Kelly-Springfield plant at Cumberland appears to the casual eye much the same as any other tire factory. It has form and line. It is made of steel, brick, wood and glass. It gives the impression of being efficient and utilitarian.

"But similarity ends with the cold and bloodless piles of steel and brick. Inside, there are men and women with a purpose in life who have withstood the sledgehammer blows of wars, depressions and financial difficulties to win a proud victory.

"The fighting spirit of production line workers, salesmen, scientists, even floor sweepers, the men and women who make Kelly-Springfield, who are the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, spells the difference in this and just any tire factory. Hands that guide machines and minds that overcome production problems are their weapons. Human beings, working toward a common goal, all faced with common fears, joys, sorrows and desires—they are the heart and pulse of a great company.

"Teamwork and dedicated spirit led us to our present position of success in the tire industry.

"That indefinable something, call it spirit, teamwork or what have you, has held our company together in good times and bad. The machines in our plant didn't do it, though we must have them. The brick walls and steel girders that form our factory buildings didn't snap us back from economic depressions and financial crisis.

"It was the united efforts of all of us in the Kelly family, pulling together as a team.

"The next 35 years will not be easy either. There are pitfalls ahead. But our future has been more firmly assured by building on a distinguished and solid foundation in the past.

"My sincerest congratulations to all who played a part in the Cumberland plant's first 35 years and our 61st year as an American business. With our thanks goes a pledge from management. We will continue to do everything in our power to make Kelly-Springfield a better company for which to work and the City of Cumberland a better place in which to live."

GO WORRY-FREE

"Today's greatest tire for safe, worry-free driving!" . . . "Enjoy the most worry-free driving you've ever known!" . . . "Now switch to tubeless tire safety — at no extra cost!" . . . month after month during 1955 more than 10,945,000 readers of national magazines such as the Saturday Evening Post, Collier's, Newsweek, Town Journal and Farm Journal will read these and similar hard-selling, colorful messages from the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, Cumberland, Maryland.

We whole-heartedly join the rest of Cumberland in raising our hats to the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company on the occasion of their 35th anniversary in Cumberland, August 11, 1955.

The sun never sets on the green and white Kelly oval around the world — and every Kelly tire sold means more wages in Cumberland, Maryland. In the last ten years alone, these wages have provided nearly $100,000,000.00 to this community and steady employment to 2,400 Cumberland area families.

Who received those wages? Well, it was Cumberland's corner grocers — our bakers — our shoe repair shops — our clothing stores — our motion picture theaters — our Community Chest — yes, and the banks, too!

Are we proud of Kelly? You bet!!!

During World War II, Kelly never ceased employing Cumberland people even though war restrictions cut off tire production. Converting their plant at the request of the Army Ordnance Department, Kelly, reconstituted as the Kelly Engineering Company, completely converted from Armorubber to armor-piercing bullets within six months. Even while America was blasting out victory with Kelly ammunition, availability of synthetic rubber and Uncle Sam's need for tires converted Kelly back to tire production with modernized facilities.

What about Kelly's and Cumberland's future? They're great! Tires for cars, trucks and farm implements will be in ever increasing demand. It is estimated that the automotive demands for rubber in America will increase almost 110% by 1975.

Cumberland's growth and stability is the product of the cooperative efforts of all of our business ventures — large or small. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should salute Kelly (the individuals and the organization) which has spent over half of its corporate life in our community, on this happy occasion, their thirty-fifth birthday!
